

TO MEET IN MONTGOMERY JULY 12

SADA Group Tours Upper Moore

Nearly 100 persons from Moore, Lee, Montgomery, Hoke and Richmond Counties took the SADA tour of upper Moore County Wednesday afternoon of last week and attended the supper and quarterly business meeting of the Sandhills Area Development Association held at Westmoore school.

Though conditions along some of the unpaved roads were very dry and dusty, the group appeared to enjoy the visits to various places of interest and found them informational.

From the courthouse to the "House in the Horseshoe," to the Babcock farm and its model herd of Black Angus cattle, through Glendon and past the Glendon Prophillite Co., to the Parkwood

Milling Co., the long caravan of cars led by Carthage and Robbins activities buses wended its way.

At the Parkwood plant, manufacturers of Wayne chick feeds with a capacity of 450 tons daily, Glenn Dickerson, manager, described the operation.

At Robbins, the visitors toured the Carolina Lace Corp. plant, and heard an explanatory talk by J. Sheldon Thomas, plant manager.

The next stop was Ben Owen's Old Plank Road pottery, where the group saw pottery handcrafted and fired as in pre-Revolutionary times.

At the Westmoore School, the group ate chicken and dumplings served by the Westmoore Home Demonstration club.

Neal Cadieu of Richmond County, president, called for reports by the SADA division chairmen—Al Folley of Moore, travel & recreation, who reported on the distribution of 100,000 brochures now under way, describing places of interest in the effort to detain the visitor "just a few days longer"; Earl Key of Montgomery for Mrs. D. W. Hurley, community development chairman, who reported "high interest and enthusiasm" for the growing community-club program; Norris L. Hodgkins, Jr., of Moore, speaking for Glenn Lee of Richmond, industrial chairman, expressing appreciation for the help of neighbor counties in a recent industrial survey which was instrumental in winning a new industry (Proctor-Sillex) for this area; and Clay Bruton of Montgomery, agricultural chairman, who said a brochure would soon be off the presses, and that programs are continuing in feeder pig sales, beef cattle, soil management and soil testing.

Reports from Ken Harmon of Lee, Austin Garrison of Montgomery, John Faison of Richmond, Neill McFadyen of Hoke and J. B. McLeod of Moore showed local cooperation in the four SADA activity fields.

Garrison's report included preparations for the next quarterly meeting, at which Montgomery County will be the host, July 12, offering an afternoon tour, with a program presented that night in

Farmers Reminded Of Federal Farm Child Labor Law

The Federal Wage and Hour Law prohibits employment of children under 16 years of age on farms during school hours.

This reminder came this week from State Labor Commissioner Frank Crane. It was directed particularly to farmers and commercial growers who are hiring workers for spring planting and harvesting, and to all persons interested in keeping the youngsters in school until the end of the spring term.

Commissioner Crane said that under the Federal Wage and Hour Law (Fair Labor Standards Act), children of any age may do farm work before or after school hours, on weekends, and on holidays.

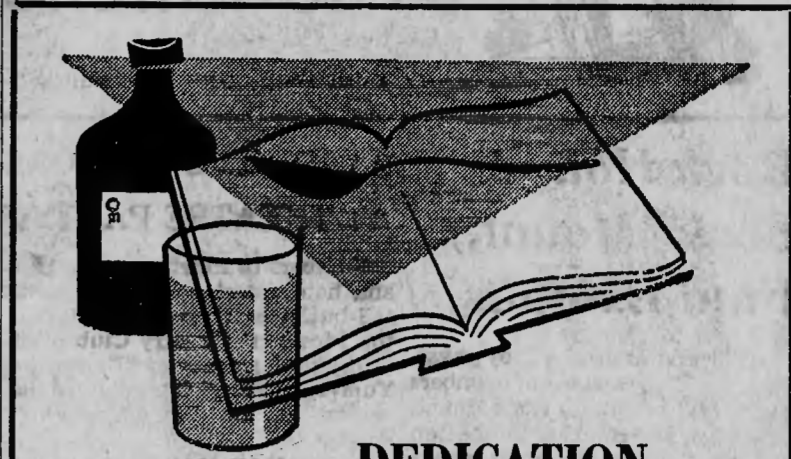

Crane also stated that farm children working exclusively for their parents or guardians are exempt from the Federal requirements.

The Federal statute is administered in North Carolina by the State Department of Labor, under a cooperative agreement between the State and the Wage and Hour Division of the U. S. Department of Labor.
