JULIUS BOROS

Boros Victory In National Open Pleases Sandhills

Not looking or playing much differently than when he won his first National Open Golf Tournament at Dallas, Texas, 11 years ago, Julius Boros delighted his many friends and acquaintances in the Sandhills with a smooth-swinging, steady victory over Arnold Palmer and Jacky Cupit in the 1963 National Open playoff over the windy, tricky course of The Country Club at Brookline, Mass., Sunday.

It boosted the year's winnings for Boros, who began his career as a pro at the Mid Pines Club here in 1949, by $16,000 to $59,630, placing him second only to Palmer in money won this season.

Boros shot a 70 at Brookline—one under par. Cupit was 73 and Palmer, sick with a stomach ailment, 76.

Since his second marriage in 1955, Boros has spent only a few weeks here each year. With a home in Florida, he still plays out of Mid Pines on the tournament—a connection that the

Mrs. Younts On Committee For Conservatory

Mrs. Jack Younts of Southern Pines is one of three members of a North Carolina Conservatory Committee appointed by Gov. Terry Sanford and announced yesterday.

Also appointed were Sydney M. Cone, Jr., of Greensboro, and Mrs. Carl T. Durham of Chapel Hill. All members were named for indefinite terms.

Mrs. Younts has been a member of an advisory committee of 16 who have been active in preliminary planning for a proposed Conservatory for the Performing Arts, toward which the General Assembly appropriated $325,000 for the coming biennium. A national foundation has been reported willing to put over $1 million into the project on a matching basis.

The conservatory would offer training in music, drama and ballet to talented young people of high school and college age. A site has not been chosen.

Mrs. Younts said yesterday she had not been informed what the exact function of the new committee will be.

NATURE KNOWS BEST—Moore County gardeners who struggle with land preparation, fertilizers, sprays and other techniques, not always successfully, to produce summer blossoms from sandy soil can look with amazement and envy on the flowers pictured here—hollyhocks rising from a tiny patch of barren ground beside the wall of Crucedale Cleaners in Aberdeen (left) and petunias "bustin' out all over" from cracks in the brick sidewalk in front of the Wallace Bros. Department Store and the Moore County News office in Carthage. Ten-year-old Linda Cruce, daughter of Al Cruce, Aberdeen businessman, shows how the hollyhocks she planted four years ago are flourishing with no attention whatever—spray, fertilizer or water—given to them. In right panel, B. C. Wallace poses with the broom he uses regularly to sweep sand back toward the building from the sidewalk to help the petunias maintain their precarious connection to the earth. When it's dry, he waters them lightly from the drip pan of the store's dairy display case. The flowers reseed themselves each year from the sidewalk sweepings.

Moral for gardeners—relax and let Nature do the work. Except, alas, it doesn't always work that way. (V. Nicholson photos)

Godwin of Gatesville and Allan A. Gwyn, Jr., of Reidsville.

The late W. A. Leland McKeithen of Pinehurst, later a superior court judge, served as president of the N. C. Bar Association in 1952-53. Moore county has not since provided an officer of the association.

Pine Falling On Wire Kills Power

Pulpwood cutters who felled a pine tree against a 110,000 volt electric transmission line in Richmond County, between the Bluet's Falls hydro generating station and the West End sub station, were responsible for a power interruption over a large area of Moore County Wednesday morning.

Starting at 10:35 a. m., the power was off for about 15 minutes in Southern Pines, Pinehurst, Aberdeen, Pinebluff, Carthage, Vass, Cameron and adjoining areas, said Ward Hill, manager of the local Carolina Power & Light Co. office. Some 8,000 customers were affected, he said.

After the trouble was located, power from the Cape Fear steam electric plant of CP&L was switched to the West End sub station, until the "high line" from Bluet's Falls could be repaired, Mr. Hill said.

Miss Butler Works Week As Pageette In Raleigh

Miss Jeanne Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Butler of Midland Road, spent last week in Raleigh, working as a "pageette" in the House of Representatives. Official Opening Of Mental Clinic Scheduled July 1

The new Moore County Mental Health Clinic, operating in advance of the official July 1 opening date, is finding that the demand for its services far exceeds expectations, according to Dr. Charles Phillips, chairman of the board of directors.

The clinic will open officially Monday, receiving patients on physicians' referrals, and beginning Monday, July 8, persons desiring to apply directly for the services.

The staff has been on duty for the past two weeks, establishing procedures and receiving as many patients as could be scheduled. Already appointments are being made two weeks in advance.

"We will probably have to make plans for expansion very soon," said Dr. Phillips, "possibly within two or three months if things go on as they have begun. A very great interest and need" (Continued on Page 8)

Several Methodist Churches In County Get New Ministers; Moore Native Here

The Rev. Arthur L. Thompson, assigned to the Southern Pines Methodist Church to replace the Rev. Robert C. Mooney, Jr., who was sent to Lumberton, preached at the local church Sunday and moved here with his family today from Hamlet.

The change was one of several made in Moore County by appointments of pastors announced Thursday at the annual North Carolina Methodist Conference, held in Greenville.

The Rev. Mr. Thompson, a native of the Cameron community in this county, comes from the First Methodist Church of Hamlet, where he has been for the past year.

He had previously served six years at Long Memorial Church, Roxboro, and before that for five years at Grace Church, Wilmington.

The pastor is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Thompson of the Crane's Creek Com-

Town Budget Approved, New Tax Rate Is $1.30

A town budget with a tax rate of $1.30 per $100 of property valuation, for the fiscal year starting July 1, was adopted by the town council in a four-hour special meeting held last Friday night.

The budget lists appropriations of $256,375 for the general fund, $90,027 for the water and sewer fund, and $97,632.50 for debt service, to pay principal and interest amounting to $31,059.50 in general fund obligations and $66,- 573 in water and sewer fund obligations.

Of the tax rate, $1.05 is designated for operating expenses of the town and 25 cents for debt service.

Town Manager F. F. Rainey, who prepared the budget, told the council that various revenue sources of the town are ample to balance the budget and continue to maintain a contingency reserve as has been the town's practice for several years.

The tax rate of $1.30 is reduced from a $1.75 rate in the fiscal year now closing. Responsible for the reduction is increased real and personal property valuations—which are taken from the county tax books—after the county completed a professional reappraisal of all real estate during the past year.

General fund appropriations, by departments, are listed on page 7, in the appropriation ordinance adopted by the council.

The allocation to the Fire Department, $20,417, has been increased because of the employment of two full-time professional firemen and the proposed purchase of a new small tank truck during the coming fiscal year.

Also up is the Police Department budget, $57,430, which allows for the addition of another officer to the force (appointment of a Negro policeman is expected) and the purchase and equipping of a new police car.

Pay Plan Adopted
An employee pay plan that had been discussed at the regular June meeting of the council earlier last week was adopted Friday night.

It provides for regular periodic incentive increases in pay for all town employees, within minimum and maximum limits set for various jobs and on condition the employee's work is satisfactory.

Before it was adopted the plan was amended to provide that, upon recommendation of the manager, an employee who has reached the highest pay listed for his job may be granted a further meritorious increase, if approved by the council.

The full council attended the Friday meeting: Mayor W. Morris Johnson, Mayor Pro Tem Norris L. Hodgkins, Jr., and Councilmen Felton J. Capel, C. A. McLaughlin and Fred B. Pollard.
