MRS. ROY H. ROBINSON, III

MISS MILLER AND AIR FORCE OFFICER WED IN MILITARY RITES IN COLORADO

Brig. Gen. L. W. Miller (US Army Retired) and Mrs. Miller of 365 Valley Road announce the marriage of their daughter, Suzanne, to 2/Lt. Roy H. Robinson, 111 at Lowry AFB, Colo., on November 7. The military wedding at the Air Base Chapel, was followed by a reception at the Officers Club.

Lieutenant Robinson, a 1963 graduate of The Citadel, is taking a special course for junior officers at Lowry, and expects to be ordered to Southeast Asia next March. He is the son of Comdr. and Mrs. Roy H. Robinson, Jr. of McLean, Va.

The bride attended the Southern Pines High School, St. Mary's Junior College at Raleigh, and the Washington (D. C.) School for Secretaries.

The couple is now residing at Aurora, Colo.

Local High School Graduate Receives Promotion Transfer

Carlton Kennedy, Jr. has received a promotion to manager, in the Acrilan Division of the Chemstrand Corporation, together with a transfer to the corporation's New York offices in the Empire State Building, it was learned here this week.

The son of Clerk of the Court C. C. Kennedy and Mrs. Kennedy of Carthage, Carlton, Jr. is a graduate of the Southern Pines High School, which he attended when his father was associated with the Citizens Bank & Trust Co. and the family lived here.

From here, Carlton went to Raleigh, graduating from N. C. State's School of Textiles. He is married to the former Barbara Page, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chan Page of Southern Pines, and the couple has a daughter, Page, five.

Mrs. Rose Entertains Legion Auxiliary Members At Buffet

Mrs. Allie B. Rose was hostess Friday night at her home on Orchard Road where the American Legion Auxiliary met for a delicious buffet supper. Her living-room was attractively decorated with many colorful articles appropriate to the Christmas holidays.

The business session followed, over which Miss Gussie Cameron, unit president, presided.

Mrs. L. L. Woolley, music chairman read the article on the hymn-of-the-month for the Auxiliary: "My Prayer" written by P. P. Bliss.

Assistant rehabilitation chairman Mrs. J. S. McLaughlin conducted the program, also reporting on the unit's Christmas project and participation in the Gift Shops at the Veterans' hospitals in the state.

At the joint meeting last month when the post and unit met for supper, L. L. Woolley, adjutant, conducted an impressive memorial service honoring Jerry Healy, Ben Steen and Captain A. R. McDaniel, who had been long-time members of Snadhill Post.

Sandhills Hunt Club Issues Invitation For Caroling On Horseback

The Sandhills Junior Hunt Club held a meeting Saturday at the home of the president, Maureen Hassenfelt.

There, beside a warm fire and with a background of Christmas music, the members planned future meetings.

One important item brought up was the request that young riders not use the Atkins Ring unless supervised by an adult.

On Saturday, December 21, the club will gather at 3 p. m. at the Atkins Ring to go Christmas caroling on horseback. Anyone who likes to sing and who has a horse to ride is invited to join the group. Basses and tenors are especially needed.

The club had a scavenger hunt last Sunday. Riders met at Mrs. Haskell Duncan's house near Craig's Corner. Some of the items the participants were required to find were: a 1960 license plate, a branch of mistletoe, and a ham sandwich. Riders went out in groups of three, with the following winning prizes:

First—Carol and Nancy O'Callaghan and Johanna Smith.

Second—Janet Fullenwider, Sandra Younts and Marilyn Gantt.

Third—Gwen Goff, Barbara Wadsworth and Barbara Ritchie.

Fourth—Maureen Hassenfelt and Janet Phillips.

Fifth—Milly Pottle and Madeline Kerns.

FLYING 99'r RECEIVES CITATION FOR GROUP FROM GOVERNOR AT KITTY HAWK

Returning home last Tuesday night from the Outer Banks, where she attended the 60th anniversary celebration of the first airplane flight of the Wright Brothers at Kitty Hawk, Page Shamburger brought with her a citation from North Carolina's Governor, Terry Sanford, who was chairman of the three-day observance.

As chairman of the Carolinas Chapter of the Ninety-Nines, national women's flying organization, Page served as Governor Sanford's co-chairman for the program, receiving the citation from him at Monday's banquet at which the keynote speaker was former N. C. Governor, now Secretary of Commerce, Luther Hodges.

The citation, said Page, will go to Oklahoma City, national headquarters for the 99's.

The Aberdeen girl, who pilots her own plane, was also at Kitty Hawk to cover the story for flying magazines for which she writes.

In spite of the intense cold and icy condition of the roads leading to the towering Kitty Hawk Monument, Page enjoyed her three-day visit finding of special interest the dedication of the first flight from the new airport, where a 3,000 foot concrete strip has been constructed, paralleling the line of the original Wright Brothers flight.

The first plane took off from there Tuesday morning at 10:35, the exact date and hour of the flight made 60 years ago by Wilbur and Orville Wright.

Another local 99'er, Mrs. Carl (Estelle) Bradshaw of Pinehurst, planned to fly to the coast with her husband for part of the memorial observance, but decided because of weather conditions, not to make the trip.

Gifts For Confederate Home Collected At UDC Meeting Saturday

The John Blue Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy met Saturday evening at the Howard Johnson's Golden Door Restaurant, with Mrs. C. S. Patch presiding.

Hostesses were Mrs. W. A. Blue, Mrs. D. I. Allred and Mrs. C. E. Pleasants of Aberdeen; Mrs. Colin G. Spencer and Mrs. W. W. Dalrymple of Carthage.

The room was a "golden bower," with Christmas decorations, lighted candles and centerpieces on the tables, with a background of greenery, all carrying out the holiday theme. Delicious refreshments were served as members and guests arrived.

At the Golden Door, hung a huge red stocking into which everyone arriving put a gift, these to be taken later to the confederate Home at Fayetteville for the women living there.

Twenty-seven members and two guests—Mrs. Bernard Harvey of Southern Pines and Miss Mabel King of Middleton, Ohio—were present.

Mrs. R. P. Brown, in charge of the program, gave a reading of "The Man Who Owned the Stable."

The meeting ended with the singing of Christmas carols.

Former Local Girl Now Is Part-time Model In Charlotte

Glamorous photos of a local girl, now married and living in Charlotte, appeared on Anne Parrish's page in Sunday's Charlotte Observer, and also in an ad for furs in Monday's Observer.

The girl is the former Linda Thompson, now Mrs. Wilbur Creed, who is doing part-time modeling in the Queen City and has a full-time job as buyer and manager in the cosmetics department of the Collins Company.

Her husband is with the Celanese Corporation in Charlotte.

Linda has also appeared several times on the Pat Lee show, on WPTV. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson of 240 West Illinois Avenue, she is a Southern Pines High School graduate and attended East Carolina College for two years.
