Praise Due

Well, I've really found someone to praise this week. Charles McLaughlin, Student Council vice-president, representing the Sandhills Post of the American Legion as well as the high school, has once again brought fame to our town by winning an oratorical contest in one of the five divisions in the state.

To bring you up to date on the subject, Charlie, as he is known around school, attended and won a district contest in Aberdeen last Thursday, outspeaking a girl from Richmond County and a boy from Hoke County.

On Monday he presented his speech, on the United States Constitution, to various groups at school throughout the day, accepting both criticism and appraisal with equal poise and good sportsmanship. Then on Tuesday he went to Hobbs High School, at Newton Grove near Fayetteville. The location of the division contest was selected according to a centrally located high school.

At Hobbs High School Charlie proceeded to outspoke a girl from that high school, and boys from Jacksonville and St. Pauls, giving both his prepared speech and an extemporaneous speech on a subject assigned there, in a manner befitting an experienced speaker.

Charlie's next bout will be against the winners of the four other divisions, for state recognition. This will take place in Clayton, March 17. Charlie has attracted the attention of a great many people in the community, and with due cause.

Brigadoon Progress

The cast of "Brigadoon" is really putting forth extensive efforts. The glee club portion practices in class each day, preparing also for the Picquet Festival in April, and on Sundays and Tuesdays the adult portion meets with them for complete rehearsals. The operetta is barely two weeks away, so tickets for this fine performance should be on sale soon. The usual cast party is scheduled, following the last performance on March 21, in the Student Lounge.

Jukebox Back

Speaking of the Student Lounge, a welcome sight is once again on the far side of the room: the jukebox. Senior class president Ian Gouldsbrough wrote an apparently emphatic letter to the company in Hamlet, requesting prompt action; hence the jukebox one week later. Students hope to keep the privilege by treating it with due respect and abstinence when needed. Ian also reports that an order for ping pong paddles and nets is on its way, and should arrive in a relatively short time.

College Boards

This Saturday at 9 the college boards will be administered. The following Saturday, at 9 also, is the scheduled date for the merit tests. It is important to be on time.

College-Bound

Robbi Austin and Sandi Foshee will be attending N. C. Baptist Memorial Hospital in Winston-Salem; Peggy Snipes and Brenda Marshall, Southeastern Nursing School; and Johnny Foshee, Massey Tech. You must realize that many colleges do not notify students as to acceptance or refusal until spring, when I may be deluged with seniors, so until then there will be only a few college-bound students named here each week.

Powers To Head

School Group

C. E. Powers, Assistant Superintendent and Director of the Moore County Schools Guidance Services, became president of the School Counselor Association, a division of the North Carolina Personnel and Guidance Association, at the 37th annual convention in Durham, on February 28 and 29. He has served as vice president of the association for the past year.

A special feature of the convention this year was the panel discussion on "Bridging the Gap Between High School and College." Fredrick Lutz, counselor of Pinckney and Berkley High Schools, served on this panel. Two outstanding leaders in the profession, Dr. C. Harold McCully, U. S. office of Education, and Dr. Dugald S. Arbuckle, professor and director of counselor education, Boston University, were the featured speakers of the convention. The importance of the counselors' role in the future was made evident by the prediction that one-half of all children enrolled in the elementary schools today will be employed in jobs that do not now exist.

Counselors from Moore attending the convention in addition to Powers and Lutz were Mrs. Emma Womack, Mrs. Susan Barbour and Mrs. Ruth Jane Trivette.

The VA has paid nearly $230-million in dividends for 1964 to more than 4.7 million veterans and servicemen who hold participating GI insurance.

"BRIGADOON" REHEARSAL— Here's an overall view of the large cast that is busily rehearsing a production of "Brigadoon," the Broadway musical to be presented in Weaver Auditorium here Friday and Saturday, March 20 and 21. Rehearsals are taking place in the auditorium each Tuesday evening. Both adults and high school students are in the cast. (Humphrey photo)

Dr. Mansmann Of Pittsburgh To Speak At McCain

Dr. James A. Mansmann, of Pittsburgh, Pa., assistant professor at the Pittsburgh University Medical School and director of the Department of Allergy at St. Francis General Hospital, Pittsburgh, will give an illustrated lecture on "The Etiological Diagnosis of Bronchial Asthma" in the auditorium of the North Carolina Sanatorium, McCain, at 2 p. m. Friday. The lecture is open to the public.

Dr. Mansmann, with his wife and daughter, Barbara, are visiting Mrs. Mansmann's sister, Mrs. John Mock, at her home on Connecticut Ave. extension. They will be here for about a week.

Dr. Mansmann, a fellow of the Pittsburgh Academy of Medicine, is assistant editor of "Annals of Allergy," the official journal of the American College of Allergy.

Mrs. Mansmann and Mrs. Mock are daughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Walton who were Sandhills winter visitors many years ago. Mrs. Mock's late husband, "Johnny" Mock, one of the nation's outstanding hunting, fishing and outdoor writers, died several years ago.
