GYMKHANA REVIVAL GETS OFF TO A GOOD START SUNDAY IN TATE'S RING

Even the weather was on its best behaviour Sunday for the "revival" of the gymkhana—games on horseback—held in the ring at Tate's Stables off U. S. Highway 1 North.

Attendance was way up, among spectators, and the seven classes had a good entry of young riders from the Sandhills section and beyond.

The gymkhana was the first to be staged in this section for some time, and Mary Anne and Bill Garde, owners of Tate's Stable (she is the daughter of the late Lloyd M. Tate who directed many such events during his tenure as head of the Pinehurst Stables) hope to continue these games for young riders.

Judges for the games were Mr. and Mrs. William Weldon, jumper judges were Mrs. W. O. Moss and Lloyd P. Tate. Bill Garde was Western judge, ringmasters were "Red" Overton and Billy G. McKenzie.

Mrs. J. W. Smith, Jr. and Donald McKenzie served as stewards

MRS. JONAS HONORED, MRS. DAVIE IS SPEAKER AT LUNCHEON FASHION SHOW

Party politics and party factions were highlighted at the luncheon fashion show yesterday at the Mid Pines Club on Midland Road. Sponsored by the Republican Women of Moore County, the gala affair especially emphasized political party lines, with Mrs. Charles R. Jonas, wife of the 8th District's Republican Congressman as guest of honor. Wearing a deep sea-green wool suit, with large brimmed hat of beige straw, the gracious and charming Mrs. Jonas proved as knowledgeable of 1964 party apparel as she is of political party trends.

Seated to the right of Mrs. Guy Smith of Southern Pines, chairman of the luncheon, Mrs. Jonas shared honors with Mrs. Preston Davie of New York and Pinehurst, featured speaker. Others at the head table were Mrs. Robert Gavin of Sanford, wife of the Republican gubernatorial candidate; Mrs. Louis Rogers of Charlotte, North Carolina National Republican Committeewoman; Mrs. John E. Dixon, of Pinehurst commentator for the fashion show; Mrs. James K. Stone of Southern Pines, and Mrs. William Graham, Mrs. C. A. Kent and Mrs. James Harper, of Winston-Salem.

Mrs. Davie, long prominent in New York State and national Republican affairs, delighted the audience by asking to be considered a genuine North Carolinian as is her husband, a retired attorney. In her talk she stressed the importance of women's votes in local, state and national elections. A strong advocate of the "two party" system in our country, she credited North Carolina with being a leader in the two party trend in the South. Complimenting Mrs. Jonas and Mrs. Gavin for their interest and enthusiasm on behalf of their husbands' political careers, Mrs. Davie stressed that all Republican women realize the importance of peace and prosperity, the security of family, state and country, and the prestige of the nation. She urged that government structure and political ideals be stressed in educational systems. A forceful and witty speaker, Mrs. Davie was given a standing ovation at the close of her talk.

During the luncheon, spring and summer fashions for daytime and evening wear were shown by Mrs. Peter Katavolos, Mrs. Edward Taws, Mrs. Michael Pishko, Mrs. Jack Rees and Mrs. John Rettew. Wallace O'Neal, chairman

Local Legion Auxiliary Members Attend 12th District Meet Monday

The annual meeting of the 12th District of the American Legion Auxiliary was held in Ellerbe Monday at the First Baptist Church, with Mrs. Daisy Riddle of Carthage, District president, presiding.

Reports of the 15 units in the district were given by representatives from the auxiliaries, after which the group was addressed by Department president, Mrs. A. M. Scarborough of Greensboro. She was introduced by Mrs. E. L. Key of Ellerbe, Area president.

Mrs. Dan R. McNeill was nominated to succeed Mrs. Riddle as president of District 12, with Mrs. Robert N. Page, III, of Aberdeen as alternate. Their names will be presented for election at Department Convention in Durham in June.

Those attending the meeting from the local unit were Miss Gussie Cameron, local auxiliary president, Mrs. Eliza McDonald and Mrs. McNeill, Miss Cameron gave the report for the local unit.

of the Moore County Republicans, gallantly escorted the models to the steps of the midaisle ramp.

Costumes from Razook's and the Virginia Davis Landis Boutique, in Pinehurst, drew spirited applause from the 300 women there. Among the favored fashions were suits, one a white French wool tweed designed with a short jacket edged in red and navy and worn with a red blouse.

Floor length dinner gowns were admired, especially one of floral printed blue chiffon with graceful scarf treatment of the neckline, and a long dinner dress with yellow bodice and a skirt of harmonizing print.

A printed silk afternoon dress in muted shades of blue and purple and worn with a mink stole, and a dull green sleeveless frock worn with a cashmere sweater embroidered and trimmed with real jade from Hong Kong, were among the fashions especially noted.
