Vardell Hall, New Junior College For Women, To Open In September

Vardell Hall is a high school and a Junior College for women, offering college preparatory work at the secondary level and a two-fold course on the college level. Both a liberal arts and a terminal program is available to the college applicant. The new school and college will begin operation in September.

Founded on the previous campus of Flora Macdonald College, Red Springs, it is "a school dedicated to educating and developing the potentials of each individual young woman, socially, physically, morally and intellectually," reports R. H. Stokes, director of admissions and public relations.

The school is situated on a nationally famous 43-acre campus. The college plant consists of eight buildings, six of which are constructed in proximity to form one large natural brick structure, of which the main entrance is flanked with stately doric columns. The outstanding feature of the Vardell Campus is the famous eight-acre formal azalea gardens. Other facilities include a gym, playing fields, tennis and volleyball courts, pool and riding and picnic areas. The entire physical plant of the college is now being renovated.

"Vardell Hall's academic program is based on the belief that each student should be considered and instructed as an individual. A girl's course of study is determined by her interest and past academic work," Mr. Stokes said.

Students who need a maximum of help and guidance are assigned to faculty-conducted study hall, so help may be rendered as needed, it was stated.

Outstanding artists and lecturers will be invited regularly to appear on the campus and the art, music, drama, and voice departments will sponsor a series of exhibitions yearly.

Vardell Hall's varied extracurricular program supplements the activities of the community and nearby colleges. All students will belong to the Student Government Association. In addition, there will be a number of clubs for those with special interests in such fields as sports, drama, singing, dance, religion, science, social activities, etc. Students will publish a yearbook, a newspaper and a literary magazine. Formal and informal dances, banquets and the like will be held during the year.
