New History Handbook Of N. C. Is Available

"North Carolina Historyland," a handbook of historical highlights from the first English settlements on Roanoke Island to Jet Age military installations and the opening of the first State Legislative Building, has been published by the Travel Information Division, Department of Conservation and Development, and is available free on request to the Division offices in Raleigh. The 52-page booklet is illustrated with over 140 photographs. Compiled with the assistance of the State Department of Archives and History, the booklet identifies and describes dozens of historic sites and other historical points of interest throughout the State and lists sources of additional information on North Carolina history.

Spacemobile Lecture, Display Set For Two Local Schools Next March

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration and Langley Research Center have recently approved and scheduled a Spacemobile Lecture and Demonstration for both East and West Southern Pines Schools during March 1965. Starting time is 9:30 March 2, 1965 for East Southern Pines and 9:30 March 3, 1965 for West Southern Pines, according to Supt. J. W. Jenkins. Spacemobiles are specially designed trucks carrying equipment and materials utilized in space science lecture-demonstrations. They operate throughout the United States and overseas. Included in a Spacemobile's complement of equipment are mechanical and electronic devices with which the lecturer demonstrates basic scientific principles, and shows how these principles apply in the programs and projects for peaceful utilization and exploration of space. For example, the lecturer traces the origin and development of rockets, using models and demonstrating equipment. He explains how certain principles were recognized and stated as physical laws by Isaac Newton and others. He demonstrates the application of these principles to such current programs of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration as:

Mercury— orbiting a manned capsule, learning effects of space flight on man, and recovering both man and capsule safely.
Gemini— orbiting a two-man capsule, determining effects on man of space flights of about a week, and developing techniques for joining craft in orbit.

Apollo— landing of a three-man explorer team on the moon and returning safely to earth.
Ranger, Surveyor, and Prospector— spacecraft for unmanned exploration of the moon.
Mariner and Voyager— spacecraft for unmanned exploration of other planets.
Tiros, Nimbus, and Aerosweather satellite programs.

Echo, Rebound, Relay, Telstar, and Syncom— communication satellite programs.
OGO, OSO, and OAO— Abbreviations for Orbiting Geophysical, Solar, and Astronomical Observatories designed for study of the universe and of earth's space environment.

Cushman Reveals
New Amerotron
Scholarship Plan

R. M. Cushman, president of the Amerotron Division of Deering Milliken, Inc., announced this week the establishment of a scholarship plan for eligible hourly employees or eligible children of hourly employees for the fall of 1965. One scholarship may be granted each year for the North Carolina location and one for the South Carolina, Georgia locations. The scholarships will be in the amount of $800 per year for the recipient and $500 per year to the school attended. A scholarship recipient may attend any college or university in the South Carolina Foundation of Independent Colleges, Inc., or any independent college in North Carolina, also to be approved by the South Carolina Foundation of Independent Colleges, Inc. A committee appointed by the South Carolina Foundation of Independent Colleges will select the winners of the scholarships. Selection will be made on the basis of test scores, rank in high school class and other potentialities for success in college and post-college life. Deering Milliken, Inc., has its main offices in Spartanburg, S. C., to which Cushman, former executive vice-president of Amerotron, recently moved from Southern Pines. The Amerotron Division has a plant at Robbins, and executive offices and a warehouse at Aberdeen.

PORTRAIT OF PAST
The Pioneer Farmstead, just inside the Great Smoky Mountains National Park entrance near Cherokee, is open free year around. With Pioneer Museum at adjoining Park Visitor Center, it tells a story of frontier life in the Great Smokies in days gone by.
