Board Studies Plot Plans For Area III School

Tentative plot plans for construction of the Area III high school were studied by the Moore County board of education meeting at Carthage Tuesday night, but no action was taken.

Discussing the 55-acre site and its possibilities, and answering questions, were architects T. T. Hayes, Jr., and W. C. Howell, of the Southern Pines firm of Hayes-Howell & Associates.

Representatives of both the Aberdeen and West End school committees were present to discuss the initial steps toward building their consolidated school, and were given copies of the plot plans.

Recommendations were heard for membership on the North Moore (Area II) high school committee. This school, to serve Robbins, Westmore and Highfalls districts, is under construction.

JENKINS

Mr. Jenkins came to Southern Pines in June of 1963, after having served four years as superintendent of schools at Morven. He had previously taught and been elementary school principal at Roanoke Rapids. He is a native of Shelby. He is a 1953 graduate of West Carolina College and has a master's degree from Appalachian. He is married and has two children.

At the recent annual meeting of the Moore County Tuberculosis Association, Dr. Sipple—who is associate radiologist at Moore Memorial Hospital in Pinehurst—was elected president, along with these other officers: Mrs. Franz Krebs, Pinehurst, first vice president; Henry A. Wilson, Southern Pines, second vice president; Mrs. J. F. Wiseman, Pinehurst, secretary; John Harney, Pinehurst, assistant secretary; Lewis Telford, Southern Pines, treasurer; and Jack Morgan, Vass, assistant treasurer.

Elected to the board of directors, in addition to Dr. Sipple, Mrs. Krebs, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Harney and Mr. Kelly were: Norman Caudle, immediate past president, and Norris L. Hodgkins, Jr., of Southern Pines; E. D. Raynor, Miss Mary Sweet and Mrs. Kenny Poe, of Carthage; Mrs. Mary Toerge and Mrs. S. E. Cureton, of Pinehurst; Lawrence McN. Johnson and Mrs. Henrietta Courtway, of Aberdeen; Mrs. John Tulloch of Pinebluff; Miss Lucille Eifort of West End; Richard Self of Robbins; and Mrs. H. C. McPherson of Cameron.

The 1963 seal sale, which extended into the early part of 1964 before all contributions were in, resulted in total gifts of $6,820.65.

As for the past several years, no community chairmen will be appointed, Dr. Sipple said. Seals will be sent out from the association's office in Pinehurst and all contributions may be returned to this office. Further details will be announced.

Dr. Sipple, with his wife and two children, lives in the Knollwood section of Southern Pines. He came to Moore Memorial Hospital in July, 1961, as an associate of Dr. Harold A. Peck, radiologist at the hospital.

A native of Iowa and a veteran of service in World War II, Dr. Sipple was graduated in medicine from the University of Maryland in 1951. He came to the Sandhills after several years in general practice in Virginia and service as resident radiologist at the University Hospital, Baltimore, Md.

Pilot's Building Being Expanded

The Pilot newspaper and printing offices are undergoing an expansion of the present building on Pennsylvania Ave., which will provide an additional 2,200 square feet of space.

Considerable remodeling of the existing building is also planned. Bert Perham of Southern Pines is contracting the work which is expected to be completed later in the fall. Austin and Faulk of Southern Pines are the architects. The addition will provide more adequate office space as well as larger accommodations for the newspaper and printing plants. The Pilot has operated at its present site since 1941. Since that time the original building has undergone two expansions.

MORGAN, SCOTT

(Continued from Page 1) Springs, county YDC president, who is also the newly-elected State YDC national committee-woman, said Scott will be introduced by H. Clifton Blue, his opponent in the Democratic campaign of last spring.

It is anticipated that Candidate Scott will arrive in Moore during the afternoon and will be taken about the county to visit as time permits, said Mrs. Blue.

Members of the Moore YDC executive committee will be his hosts at dinner, to be held at Howard Johnson's here at 6 pm. Any other interested persons will be welcome, on a dutch basis.

Dr. James Busy
Dr. Bill James of Hamlet, candidate for Congress from the 8th District, is expected to attend both the Tuesday and Thursday meetings. Dr. James has been in and out of Moore several times lately and is waging an intensive campaign throughout the district against GOP incumbent, Charles R. Jonas of Lincoln.

'Lady Bird Special'
Overshadowing local events next week will be the visit of Mrs. Lyndon's Johnson campaign train, the "Lady Bird Special," to the State, Tuesday and Wednesday, along with President Johnson's just-announced visit to Raleigh Tuesday night.

Moore Chairman Jackson said today that the Tuesday night meeting here will still take place, despite the arrival of the special train and of the President in Raleigh that night. He said that Moore County Democrats wanting to meet the special train had been asked to visit it at Charlotte where it is scheduled to arrive at 11:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Dr. James said this week he and his wife expect to board the Lady Bird Special at Salisbury Wednesday morning and ride with it to Charlotte which is a key area in the sprawling 8th District.

Vance-Aycock Dinner
Coming on Saturday night of next week, October 10, will be the annual Vance-Aycock Democratic fund-raising dinner, to be held at the George Vanderbilt Hotel in Asheville.

Moore County has a quota of 19 tickets, at $50 each for this dinner. Mr. Jackson said, asking that anyone interested in a ticket get in touch with him. He is cashier of the Carolina Bank at Vass.

Also on the committee are Clarence Whitefield of Durham, State Society president, and James S. Massenburg of Raleigh.

The campaign will open November 1 and run until January 1, 1965. The committee invites all interested persons to help. Further information can be obtained by calling 695-4801 or 695-5122.

Proposed new buildings at the camp include a lodge, to provide better recreational and dining facilities, and a new cabin unit to provide for more campers. Last summer, 104 handicapped children and adults were served at the camp, but over 100 applicants had to be refused because of lack of facilities.

A native of Edenton, Mr. Harney is a graduate of N. C. State and of the UNC Law School. He is a director of the Moore County Tuberculosis Association, co-director of the Young Churchmen of Emmanuel Episcopal Church here and a member of the Sandhills Kiwanis Club. He was married in April to the former Miss Alice Lineberger of Belmont.

SCHOOL BONDS

(Continued from Page 1) tem, $144,990.18; and Pinehurst system, $74,929.63. These amounts total, $833,603.38 for the county as a whole.

The State Board of Education must approve projects using bond funds.

Surplus Of Polio Clinic Donations Given To Groups

Checks totaling $5047.40 were distributed last week to 12 different organizations in Moore County deriving from surplus funds in the successful campaign held last spring to "Stop Polio," according to Robert S. Ewing, coordinating chairman of the program sponsored jointly by the County Commissioners and the Moore County Medical Society.

Delay in distribution of the surplus was caused by the delay in receiving payment for oral polio vaccine that was not used during the campaign. The surplus arose when voluntary contributions made by persons taking the vaccine far exceeded the cost of the program.

In accordance with the wishes of the county commissioners and at the suggestion of Dr. Emily Tufts who was president of the County Medical Society at the time, the surplus funds were distributed to organizations who manned the various clinics. The idea was to return to the communities that which had been collected over and above expenses, so that it might be used for some worthy cause in the communities.

In addition to a $1000 contribution to the Sandhills Veterans Association for one full nurse training scholarship, checks in the amount of $449.60, each, were distributed to the Vass Rescue Squad in Vass, the Carthage Jaycees, the Robbins Jaycees, the West End Lions Club, the Pinehurst Lions Club, the Eagle Springs Fire Department and the Moore County Health Department.

In two towns the task of operating the clinics was undertaken jointly by two organizations, and checks for $225 were given to the Sandhills Kiwanis Club and the business and Professional Woman's Club, for Southern Pines, and in Aberdeen, to the Aberdeen Jaycees, and the Aberdeen Junior Woman's Club.

During the successful campaign, $1,000 had already been distributed to the four Rescue Squads who transported supplies of the frozen vaccine and sugar cubes to the various clinics, so that a total of $6047.40 actually was the amount of surplus funds in the campaign.

Over 25,000 people from Moore County and the surrounding area participated and received all three doses during the three-day program, donating 25 cents, or whatever they wished, toward the cost.

"It was gratifying to see such a response," commented Ewing, "but had it not been for the excellent support and hard work of those civic organization members who voluntarily manned the clinics, and of the county health department nurses who held the 'make-up' clinics' each following Saturday, the program could very well have been a failure."

CAROLYN BLUE

Helping Mrs. Blue to win were her splendid record of party, club and community service, her personal charm and an enthusiastic group of Moore County supporters who worked in her behalf throughout the convention, recalling the spirit which helped Cliff Blue of Aberdeen win the presidency and Voit Gilmore of Southern Pines the post of national committeeman, in the State YDC, years ago.

As national committee-woman Mrs. Blue will be on the national policy-making and program-planning body for the YDC, an important segment and "working arm" of the Democratic party.

She will attend the national convention and have other meetings and duties on her agenda, which she will fit somehow into her busy life as wife and mother of three, with a full-time bookkeeping job and volunteer services in community causes, 4-H work, Scouting, church and school.

She expects to be on the "Lady Bird Special" next week as it carries the President's wife and party across the State—though this will not be so much for her YDC post as her volunteer post as co-manager (for women's work) of the 8th District campaign of Dr. Bill James of Hamlet.

Blonde, blue-eyed, energetic Mrs. Blue, who weighs 95 pounds and looks about half her 36 years, believes politics to be an important pursuit for every citizen.

"Good government is everyone's job, and under our democratic way of life it is up to everyone to be interested and to take part," she says. "You should get in at the precinct level, work hard at whatever chores are needed and help the candidates you think are most worthy."

She herself started as a precinct judge, then was elected to the precinct committee and about

GRADING, WATER

First Bids On College To Be Opened Oct. 8

Sandhills Community College will take its first construction step October 8 when bids will be received and opened in the college office here, for site grading, water and sewer lines and sewerage treatment facilities. Several bidders are now making estimates based upon architectural plans made available to them earlier this week.

The board of trustees is expected to award contracts as soon as bids can be studied. Contracts may be awarded on the basis of separate proposals, combined proposals, or alternates. Work will start immediately thereafter, said Dr. Raymond Stone, college president.

Site grading will consist of timber clearance where buildings will actually be placed, leveling of grounds and preparation of parking areas. The water line will be run from the Southern Pines water treatment plant to the building site on the road from Pinehurst to the Southern Pines-Pinehurst Airport. The sewerage treatment facility will be constructed at the rear of the college property well below the dam of the Southern Pines water reservoir. State health authorities have worked closely with local engineers to protect fully the water supply of the town as well as recreational areas downstream, Dr. Stone said.

Plans for construction of college buildings are in the final stage of preparation. Prospective builders are expected to receive architectural drawings before the end of October.

College officials are working with high school counselors in the area to acquaint students with the educational opportunities to be provided by the college. Applications from students are already being received, reports the college's local office which is in the One 96 N. W. Broad St. Building.

JANICE CAGLE

The winning beauty and runner-up were chosen from five finalists who answered questions propounded by O. D. Wallace, master of ceremonies. The other two finalists were Patricia Ray of Union Pines and Edna Saunders of West End. Queen Janice was also winner of the "Queen of the Sandhills" contest put on by the Pinehurst volunteer firemen at their annual dance last February. She received from the sponsoring Jaycees a $25 savings bond as prize, while her school received $50, the first runner-up received $15 and the second runner-up $10.

The other contestants were Maxine Allred and Linda Dunlap, of Westmoore High school; Gail Gschwind and Lea Caviness, Aberdeen; Faye Garner, Highfalls; Pamela Blue, Paula Underwood and Patsy McNeill, Union Pines; Cindy Cheek and Stephanie Pollock, Southern Pines; Janice McLean, West End; and Nancy Lea and Penny McCaskill, Pinehurst.

five years ago became precinct registrar. In the YDC, she served two terms as vice-president, and is now in her second term as president, while serving also as district chairman and a State vice-chairman. She finds her work with the "Teen-Dems" particularly rewarding—she is the advisor of this young group to which two of her own children belong.

At the convention headquarters at Raleigh, Mrs. Blue and her supporters waged an intensive but dignified and friendly campaign. Posters, banners, brochures and lapel tags proclaimed her candidacy. She received visits from many of the club memberships in her hotel suite on Friday, and that night visited caucuses which were held from 10 until midnight.

Heading her campaign at Raleigh were J. Elvin Jackson of Carthage, Moore Democratic chairman, past YDC president and state organizer, and State Senator Nominee Voit Gilmore. Among the Moore County delegation present and working for Mrs. Blue were Mr. and Mrs. H. Clifton Blue, John Harney, Howard R. Harrison, W. Lynn Martin, Woodrow McDonald, Watts Auman, Dr. Dick Ray, John Ray, Frank and Hubert McCaskill, Mr. and Mrs. Reese Monroe (Carolyn's sister and brother-in-law) and others.

Also assisting was "Dub" Graham of Charlotte, former State YDC president, Moore County native and lifelong friend of Carolyn and Harold Blue. "Dub," an outstanding young Mecklenburg attorney, made her nomination speech. From then on, the band wagon rolled for Blue.

"My friends were wonderful," said Carolyn this week. "I can't say enough in thanks for what they did. We all worked hard together and we won."

MEZZO-SOPRANO

Nell Rankin To Open Concerts Here, Oct. 10

An appearance of Nell Rankin, 32-year-old leading mezzo-soprano of New York's Metropolitan Opera, will open the 1964-65 concert series of the Sandhills Music Association, Saturday evening, October 10.

Miss Rankin will present a Weaver Auditorium recital to begin at 8:30 p. m. She has successfully sung in virtually all the great opera houses of the world and has been praised for her vocal technique, interpretative powers and exciting stage presence.

John A. McPhaul, president of the Music Association, this week reminded all persons who have not taken Association memberships or purchased season tickets that these are available daily at Barnum Realty & Insurance Co. Season tickets, for the five attractions ending March 29, admit holders at a cost considerably under individual concert tickets, he pointed out.

Memberships in the association, which come in several cost categories, entitle the holders to additional private concerts, one of which is expected to be by the Curtis String Quartet. Memberships and season tickets may be purchased together or separately.

Details of Miss Rankin's program will appear in next week's Pilot.

Johnson Changes Name Of Agency

William S. (Bill) Johnson of Southern Pines has announced a change in the name of his insurance agency from Causey Realty and Insurance Agency to W. S. Johnson Insurance Agency Inc.

Johnson and his wife have been operating the business under the former name since they purchased the fire and casualty insurance agency from J. E. Causey of Southern Pines, and C. H. Causey of Rockingham in 1962. Johnson has been in Southern Pines with the same business since he came from Raleigh in 1955.

The business will continue to have its office at 651 S.W. Broad Street.

5 Local People Elected To NCEA District Posts
