Gen. Stilwell, Back From Vietnam And Now At Ft. Bragg, Speaks To Kiwanis

BY LEONE HART KOSTER

Brigadier General Joseph W. Stilwell, Jr., deputy commanding general of the U. S. Army's John F. Kennedy Center for Special Warfare, Fort Bragg, was the featured speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Sandhills Kiwanis Club Wednesday and his topic was one of vital interest to the United States and the Free World—the war in Vietnam.

His message was a personal one, illustrated by slides he took in South Vietnam. He returned to Fort Bragg just a few weeks ago from Saigon where, from August, 1962, to July, 1964, he was the commanding general of the U. S. Army Support Group Vietnam, USARPAC, and special assistant to the Commander, Headquarters, U. S. Military Assistance Command. Just recently he was awarded the Army Distinguished Service Medal for his "eminently meritorious service" there, presented to him at Fort Bragg by General Hugh P. Harris, commanding general of the Continental Army Command, Fort Monroe, Va.

This award, with others he has received—the Legion of Merit, the Combat Infantry Badge, the Purple Heart with Three Oak Leaf Clusters, the Bronze Star with V-Device and Oak Leaf Cluster, Air Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster, the Soldiers Medal and numerous foreign decorations such as the Croix de Guerre with Palm and Star and the Order of the British Empire—attest to his outstanding service before and during World War II and in the Korean conflict.

The son of a distinguished officer, the late General Joseph W. Stilwell affectionately called "Vinegar Joe" by his contemporaries, the younger Joe lived at various places in the United States and the Far East as a result of his father's assignments. Soon after his graduation from the United States Military Academy, as a junior officer, he served with the 15th Infantry Regiment in Tientsin, China, in those days the "farthest from home" of any U. S. Army unit. This assignment paved the way for his duty during the second World War in the China-Burma-India area, and then with Advance Northern Combat Area Command in Burma.

Later duty assignments included service in Canada, Alaska, Japan and Europe, as well as commands at Fort Benning, Ga., Fort Campbell, Ky., Fort Bragg, Fort Devens, Mass., Fort Carson, Colo., with "time out for study periods" at tip military schools such as the Army and Navy Staff College and the Army War College. His military assignments and his specialized education, plus his experience in numerous foreign countries, have given him a unique background to understand and evaluate the problem of our Armed Forces today stationed in many countries of the free world.

In his talk to the members of the Sandhills Kiwanis Club and their guests General Stilwell was eloquent in his praise of the Americans serving in the jungles and rice paddies of a country that is the only bit of the Southeast Asia continent, not either neutral or dominated by the Communists. The pictures he had taken illustrated the type of terrain, the kind of villages, the sites of battles and the native troops of South Vietnam.

Especially graphic were the ones of the men, weapons, planes, helicopters and ships which the United States has there to support the defenders of the government of South Vietnam. There were some beautiful scenic shots of Saigon, called "the Paris of the Orient," and some very grim ones of downed helicopters and shattered villages. Though claiming to be just an amateur "shutterbug," General Stilwell made pictures more vivid than most war pictures done by professional photographers. In his running comment on the slides, he gave not only concise and definite information on the American participation in the war in Vietnam, but also some delightfully amusing comments. His sense of humor captivated his audience, just as it always has those with whom he served and friends who know him well.

Three Questioned In McMullen's Death Tried This Week For Larceny, Assault

Glimpses into the mystery surrounding the death of Arthur McMullen, Pinehurst bachelor, on August 16 were seen in misdemeanor cases against three defendants called in Moore County Recorder's Court Monday, at Carthage.

The three were those who had been jailed on suspicion and for interrogation into the death, which, judging from the condition of the body, officers said, could have resulted from a beating. All three were later released on bond and none had been formally charged in connection with the McMullen case.

However, when the trio came into court, it was on petty larceny charges, also for two of them, assault.

James D. Hartley, 41, of Linville a tall, quiet and scholarly-looking man who had been McMullen's companion at the time of his death, and for weeks previously, at McMullen's home on Linden Road, pleaded guilty to charges of larceny of items from the Fairway Motel on August 14. The stolen items were listed as two blankets, three plastic trash-baskets, one bedlamp and one glass coffeemaker.

Charged with the theft of sheets, towels, shirts and underwear belonging to McMullen, on August 15, also assault on Hartley, were Layton Prevatte, 24, then of near Hoffman but now giving Greensboro as his address, and David Hancock, 22, of West End. Prevatte and Hancock had visited both the Fairway Motel and Holiday Inn that weekend before returning to McMullen's home, Testimony revealed. There, early Sunday morning, several hours after Prevatte and Hancock had left, Hartley found McMullen dead, he had told investigating officers.

In court this week, Judge J. Vance Rowe sentenced Hartley to four months on the roads for the petty larceny, suspended for two years on payment of $100 fine and costs, and on strict good-behavior conditions.

Prevatte and Hancock, pleading not guilty, were both found guilty of petty larceny and also of assault and battery, and sentenced to 60 days on each count, or four months on the roads each; the sentences to be suspended on payment of $100 fine and one-half the costs each, on good-behavior conditions for two years. The sheriff was directed by the court to return the stolen items to their rightful owner or owners.

What further action that may be taken in connection with McMullen's death was not indicated by the sheriff's department.

Southern Pines Recorders Court

Twenty cases were heard in this week's Southern Pines Recorder's Court, a summary of which follows.

Traffic violators brought before the court were: James Hunter Ratcliff, Raeford, 48 in a 35 zone, $13 and costs; Elton Catoe, Riverton, N. J., 70 in a 60 zone, $10 and costs; Alvis Eugene Darrell, Carthage, failure to yield right of way, $10 and costs; Edith Short Batchelor, Carthage, driving drunk, request for jury trial granted by the court, case transferred to Superior Court.

Defendants choosing to walk to Howard Johnson's and back, in lieu of a fine, were: James Edward Ellis, Fayetteville, 60 in a 35 zone, walk in addition to a $10 fine and court costs; Clifford Edger Kennedy, Robbins, 50 in a 35 zone, costs; Johnny Jay Dowdy, Carthage, 50 in a 35 zone, costs; Joe Richard Wynn, Southern Pines, costs.

A warrant charged Hubert Stanback, Southern Pines, with discharging a gun in the city limits. The court ordered that his gun be destroyed and he given a 30-day conditional suspended sentence as well as pay $10 and costs. A similar charge was brought against Charlie Robinson, Southern Pines, for assault with a deadly weapon and discharging a gun in the city limits. Robinson was ordered to pay $10 and costs.

James (Pee Wee) Harrington, Southern Pines, was charged with dog slaughter. Defendant was ordered by the court to pay $85 to the owner of the dog and court costs. James Price McNeill, Southern Pines, assault on a female, two month sentence suspended on the condition that he not be convicted of a similar offense for an indefinite period of time and that he pay court costs. Jackie Elliott Sutherland, Southern Pines, affray, court costs only.

Found not guilty to assault on a female was Frank Wright of Southern Pines. Brought before the court also for assault on a female was Bobby Lee Luck, West End. Luck was given a six-month suspended sentence on the condition that he not be found in a place where alcoholic beverages are sold, except for grocery stores, for a period of four years. Also that he not be found on the premises of the Red Barn for a four-year period, and that he not be in the town of Southern Pines after the hour of 7 p.m. for the next year. Defendant was ordered to pay the costs of court.

Other cases heard were: James L. Dowdy, Southern Pines, public drunk, sentenced to three months, assigned to work in and around the county jail. Dowdy, who has been before the Southern Pines Recorder's Court 22

Shooting Case Plea Accepted

Mrs. Rachel Lee Westbrook, 50, of Aberdeen, charged with felonious assault in the August 6 pistol shooting of her husband, C. D. Westbrook, in Moore County Recorder's Court Monday, tendered a plea to a lesser charge, which the State accepted. The victim had received only superficial wounds.

On evidence that the defendant and her husband are "now on friendly terms and are in process of settling their differences," also on word from Solicitor Lamont Brown that Westbrook did not desire to testify against his wife, Judge J. Vance Rowe continued prayer for judgment on payment of costs, after she pleaded nolo contendere to assault with deadly weapon but without intent to kill.

The Westbrooks, parents of two young sons, were separated at the time of the shooting and defense counsel L. M. Johnson, appealing for mercy, told the court that since the shooting the two had gotten together to legalize their separation and settle their fiscal affairs.

COINS NEEDED

The coins you hide for household expenses are needed. Most housewives keep a substantial amount of small change around the house. The Government estimates that about 10 per cent of all coins are tucked away in kitchen caches. There is currently a temporary shortage of small change. Won't you take all your coins to your bank?
