MR. AND MRS. HARRISON GARNER

Couple Wed Here Saturday Are Living Near Whispering Pines

Following their wedding Saturday in Brownson Memorial Presbyterian Church, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Albert Garner are at home on their 33-acre lot on a hilltop near Whispering Pines. The bride is the former Miss Ellen Elizabeth Donovan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Donovan of 545 E. Massachusetts Ave. Her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Garner, live at Carthage, Route 3. Dr. Julian Lake, pastor, officiated at the ceremony and William Stokes, church organist, played. A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the wedding.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white wool suit, white lace mantilla and carried pink rosebuds and white carnations. Her attendant, Barbara Webb of Southern Pines, a student at Western Carolina College, was attired in a green suit with yellow flower headband and she carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. Mrs. Garner, who graduated in June from Sea Pines School on Cape Cod, is presently employed at Trimble Products, Inc. A 1962 graduate of the Vass-Lakeview High School, Mr. Garner attended Campbell College for two years.

Distinguished Residents Of Spain Visit Here

Tuesday overnight visitors with Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Sain at 1220 East Indiana Avenue were two distinguished residents of Madrid, Spain—Mr. and Mrs. George Dennis—who are in this country visiting friends and relatives in the New England states, New York and Washington, D.C.

Mr. Dennis has recently retired from his executive position with the International Telephone and Telegraph Company and, after 30 years in Madrid, where he is known as the "Dean of the American Colony," is making his permanent home in the Spanish capital.

Both Mr. Dennis and his wife have been honored with decorations from the Spanish Government, she for two books she has written on Spain—"Juana la Loca" (the Mad Queen of Spain) and "St. Francis of Borgia."

Mr. Dennis received his decoration for his continued loyalty to the country under every regime.

Auman And Wife Greet Supporters At Coffee Today

An enthusiastic and lively crowd of well-wishers of Clyde Auman, Democratic candidate for the State House of Representatives, this morning, Thursday, attended an open house for the West End man, who was there with his wife, Sally.

In charge of arrangements for the informal coffee, from 10:30-12, was Mrs. Pat Rainey, vice-chairman of Moore County's Democratic Executive Committee. Assisting with the serving were Mrs. Stanley Austin, vice chairman of the Pinecone precinct, and Mrs. Mark Liddell.

Auman is well-known throughout the county as a peach grower. His wife, for a number of years, has been West End correspondent for The Pilot.

West Side School's Answer To Danger At Traffic Crossings: Patrolwomen

The problem currently plaguing patrons of the East Southern Pines School, the danger to students crossing against traffic on streets around the school, is apparently well under control in the West Southern Pines School district. Their answer—patrolwomen stationed at strategically dangerous crossings.

Shown above, assisting children to cross by the traffic light at the junction of W. Pennsylvania Ave. and Gaines St., is Mrs. Izetta Leslie. W. Pennsylvania particularly is a much-traveled shortcut for many persons going to work to or from Southern Pines.

The other uniformed patrolwoman, Mrs. Mozelle Williams, is on duty at the corner of New York Ave. and Carlisle St. The two go on duty in the morning before school begins and just before the last bell rings signaling the end of the school, their on-duty hours amounting to about 1 1/2 in the morning and in the afternoon.

Both are at their assigned stations in all weathers throughout the school year, and both do their jobs with smiling efficiency.

The two women have been "patrolling the same beat" for three years. They are paid for this service by the Town of Southern Pines, their names appearing on the Town payroll as part-time employees.

In addition, both have held other full-time jobs, Mrs. Williams has done domestic work, and Mrs. Leslie, for some years, owned and managed a beauty shop in West Southern Pines. However, she has sold her business and does no other work in the winter.

In the summer, Mrs. Leslie, who was born in Camden, S.C., but grew up and attended school in West Southern Pines, goes north, to West Chop on Martha's Vineyard in Massachusetts where she does maid's work at The Cedars, an Inn managed by Joe Hussey of Pinehurst.

Asked if she had always lived here, Mrs. Leslie said, no, she attended beautician's school in New York and worked there for some time, then, when she married, she and her husband returned here and built a home, which she still occupies. She has a married daughter living in New York. (Pilot Photo)

ABERDEEN CHURCH HOSTS MEETING OF METHODIST WOMEN FOR A WORKSHOP

Page Memorial Methodist Church at Aberdeen was host church last Thursday to the workshop meeting of the WSCS of the Moore Subdistrict of the Sanford District, which opened at 10 am for an intensive four-hour session, in five classes.

Mrs. C. W. Wooten of Vass, subdistrict leader, presided over the opening, at which a meditation was conducted by Mrs. H. R. Odom of Gibson, district secretary of Spiritual Life Cultivation.

Mrs. J. S. Hiatt, Jr., of Southern Pines, district leader, spoke briefly and presented other officers of the Sanford district, Mrs. Barney Kirk of Aberdeen, recording secretary, and Mrs. W. B. Easterling of Rockingham, treasurer.

A skit, "Summons to a New Age," was given in three "ages," Mrs. J. A. Waugh of Rockingham, Mrs. J. S. Hiatt, Jr., the "1940 age," and Mrs. J. C. Chaffin of Mt. Gilead the "1964 age."

The approximately 50 local church leaders attending then broke up into five classes, as follows: No. 1, US Responsibility to New Nations, taught by Mrs. J. A. Waugh of Rockingham; No. 2, The Church's Mission to New Nations, Mrs. J. E. Sponenberg of Aberdeen; No. 3, Spanish-Americans, Mrs. Ted Solomon of Laurinburg; No. 4, Genesis, Mrs. H. R. Odom of Gibson, and No. 5, Audio-Visuals and Program Materials, Mrs. H. B. Miller of Troy.

The ladies brought their own sandwiches and the host church provided soft drinks, but little time was taken for lunch. In order to cover as much ground as possible, work continued as they ate.

The workshop meeting was closed with commitment service conducted by Mrs. Wooten and Mrs. Odom.

RITES ARE HELD SUNDAY AT ROBBINS UNITING MISS RHOADES, MR. STUTTS

Mrs. Jerry D. Rhoades of Southern Pines was soloist Sunday at the wedding of her sister-in-law, Brenda Lee Rhoades of Robbins and Jimmie Anthony Stutts of Charlotte and Robbins.

The Rev. A. W. Crow, pastor, performed the ceremony at 5 pm in the Tabernacle Methodist Church of Robbins.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Rhoades of Robbins, the bride's parents, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry D. Rhoades, received afterwards in the fellowship hall of the church. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Stutts of Robbins.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of delustered satin and re-embroidered alencon lace. Her floor-length mantilla of imported silk illusion was edged with alencon lace and secured by an organza pillow. She carried sweet-heart roses and orchids.

The matron of honor, the bride's cousin, Mrs. Troy Monroe of Robbins, and bridesmaids, Mrs. Robert Rhoades, sister-in-law of the bride of Charlotte, Miss Jayne Anna Culbertson of Greensboro and Robbins, Mrs. Richard Cartheart of Burlington and Mrs. Bobby Willard of Aberdeen, wore floor-length sheaths of gold velvet and gold pillbox headpieces with circular veils. Each carried a cascade of yellow, gold and bronze chrysanthemums.

The flower girl, Miss Leigh Ann Moore the bride cousin, wore a short dress in the same style and color as the other attendants

Fashion Show To Feature New Shop Opening

A fashion show featuring local models will launch a new business here Wednesday when Mrs. Dorothy Kelly of Rockingham holds open house at her Flower and Gown Shop, located on U.S. Highway 1 South.

Her line of gowns and Jennifer dresses, Jenny Prince and Belle Maid models will be shown from 3-5 and 7-8:30 p.m., with refreshments served throughout the afternoon and evening open hours.

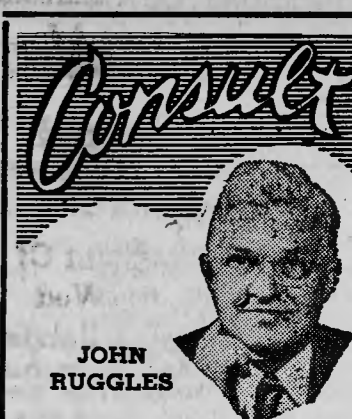

In addition to her gowns, and these include wedding, honor attendant and bridesmaids ensembles, Mrs. Kelly specializes in artificial and cut flowers.

A native of Rockingham, Mrs. Kelly has had a shop there for the past dozen years. Her husband is a supervisor for the J.P. Stevenson Corporation in Rockingham and she is the mother of three boys, so will be commuting to her new shop here, at least for the present.

St. Martha's Guild Plans Rummage Sale

November 12-14 are the dates scheduled for the rummage sale staged yearly by St. Martha's Guild of Emmanuel Episcopal Church. The sale will be held at S.W. Broad St. next door to the Southern National Bank.

From November 9 on, the rummage sale headquarters will be open during the day to receive items of rummage for sale. Those who have large articles to contribute, such as furniture, are asked to call Mrs. C. Benedict, 695-4651, for pickup.

Don't wait for a big loss! Check up on your insurance this week

Has the insurance on your car and home been reviewed recently by an independent agent. It should be, and here's why: An independent insurance agent represents several companies. He is free to select only those companies which pay claims quickly and fairly. When you have a claim—even if it is against the other driver's insurance company—he will help you collect.

Compare his service with that offered by an insurance company salesman. This man must sell the insurance of just one company. He may not be able to help you collect when you have a loss.

The Big Difference in insurance is the continuing, personal attention of an independent insurance agent.
