

THE PILOT

VOL.—44 No. 52

TWENTY-EIGHT PAGES

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1964

TWENTY-EIGHT PAGES

PRICE: 10 CENTS

New Fire District Between Towns To Be Discussed At Public Meeting

Pancakes Saturday Aid Scouts

A pancake breakfast will be held Saturday at 8 am at Doug Kelly's restaurant, Holiday Inn, for all Scouters and other volunteers in the current Sandhills District Boy Scout fund drive. The workers will pay for their own pancakes—all but one. Col. George Garde, solicitation chairman, has issued a challenge. He said he'll pay the bill for the man who eats the most pancakes. Everybody interested in Scouting and willing to donate two hours of their time is asked to bring a hearty appetite for pancakes and for work to Holiday Inn Saturday morning. Filled with zest and pancakes, the crowd will then disperse on a two-hour collection mission, expected to put the campaign over the top.

With a budget of $9,985 for the coming year, the district has undertaken one of the largest financial drives on the 1964-65 calendar, but every dollar is necessary if the Scouting program is to grow and develop as it should, according to J. Kimball Watson, general chairman. Watson was recognized for his own work with the special gifts committee at the "potluck supper" held at Aberdeen Monday night, and recognition was also accorded Ted Taw, Harold Col. (Continued on Page 8)

A public meeting will be held tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock at the Aberdeen school for discussion of the proposed fire district between Southern Pines and Aberdeen.

Sherman Pickert, state director of fire and rescue service, will be present to explain methods and benefits of the proposed organization, and Ed Lanier, State Commissioner of Insurance has been invited also.

Organization of such a district will materially reduce fire insurance costs for residents of the fast-growing district, which will extend from the southern city-limits of Southern Pines to the northern city limits of Aberdeen, and for three miles east and west from US Highway 1, between the two towns.

On the east, it extends to the Fort Bragg reservation, and on the west, to part of Midland Road.

All persons living in the district are asked to attend the meeting.

A steering committee was recently selected at a meeting of interested residents of the district, and met again Tuesday night of this week with Pickert at Christy's Restaurant, where they had supper together.

Members of the committee are Alton Scott, chairman; James Weatherspoon, secretary; Ernest Black, Mike Valen, Ralph Jones, Joe Sims, Watson G. Scott, Jr., Wayne Adams and Sherwood Brockwell, Jr., county fire marshal. All residents of the proposed district except Brockwell, who lives in Southern Pines.

AFTER 40 YEARS, Lloyd Woolley's smile remains warm and infectious as ever. He had a lot to smile about last Thursday, surrounded by friends at his retirement dinner. Also smiling on this happy occasion—Joe Steed, left, and Houston Black, right, of the CP&L division staff which Woolley left November 1.

Town Will Contract For Land Use Survey And Analysis, With Maps

The Southern Pines town council, in regular meeting Tuesday night, adopted a resolution to contract for a proposed land planning survey, as recommended by the N. C. Department of Conservation and Development, also by the Town Planning Board.

The comprehensive survey, including base mapping, land use survey and analysis, population and economy study, land development plan, extra-territorial zoning and subdivision regulations, will be made at a cost of $10,200 plus $1,020 (10 per cent) overhead, of which $6,800 will be paid by federal funds.

The town's share, $4,420, will be paid under the proposal in two equal instalments, half next April, or within 30 days after the survey begins in March, the other half a year later.

Ralph Chandler, chairman of the town planning board, presented the board's recommendation to the council that the contract be undertaken, as it has been by Carthage, Robbins, Sanford, Wagram, Raeford and various other towns of this area. It would be invaluable in the orderly development of the town, he said. He noted that it would include a new and detailed land

(Continued on Page 8)

Landfill Problems Continue

The town, months behind in burying its garbage at the sanitary landfill—which residents of the area claim is sanitary no longer—has one more bid to consider in addition to the $5,250 previously reported.

Town Manager F. F. Rainey told the council Tuesday night he had received a bid of $4,249, but that the town would be supposed to furnish the operators large quantities of fill-in dirt. He said he didn't know of the town had that much dirt to give, or where they'd get it.

Also, Rainey declared, he did

(Continued on Page 8)

Carousel Slated Next Weekend, With 128 Teams

A total of 128 teams has entered the 11th annual Southern Pines Golf Carousel, to be played on the Southern Pines and Pine Needles Country Club courses Friday through Sunday of next week, with qualifying rounds on Thursday.

Entries are from as far north as Canada and as far south as Florida, according to Sam Harrison, general chairman of the Jaycee-sponsored event.

In the men's division, 104 teams are entered, with 24 in the mixed division, reports Bill Toney, entry

(Continued on Page 8)

Woolley Honored At Banquet

L. L. Woolley, who retired November 1 after 40 years' service with Carolina Power & Light Co., was honored last Thursday night with a CP&L dinner at Doug Kelly's restaurant, Holiday Inn.

Friends and fellow employees of the Southern Pines district and division were present to honor Woolley, a real "old timer" here, well known and loved throughout the Sandhills.

Also attending the banquet from CP&L headquarters at Raleigh, were Woolley's "bosses," Paul Colby, head of the operating and engineering department, and Edgar Geddie, superintendent of lines, also present were their wives. Woolley retired as line inspector and construction coordinator with the Southern Pines division.

(Continued on Page 8)

Rahn Appointed To Sandhills College Staff

Henry Irwin Rahn has been appointed to an administrative position with Sandhills Community college as Director of Vocational-Technical Education. He will begin his assignment with the college Monday, December 14.

He comes to the newly created post from Durham, where he was Director of the Vocational-Technical Program at the Durham Industrial Education Center. Prior to this, he directed and supervised vocational and technical education in Leaksville. He received his Bachelor of Science degree in education from

(Continued on Page 8)

Ground-Breaking Set Nov. 25 For College

Telephone Co. Files Suit Vs. Ad Sales Agency

The United Telephone Co. of the Carolinas filed a petition Wednesday in Moore superior court, seeking a restraining order against a Greensboro firm selling advertising space on telephone directory covers.

Resident Judge John D. McConnell signed a temporary order against Universal Sales of Greensboro, Inc., the defendant corporation, restraining them from "soliciting, selling or taking orders for advertising space on any type of telephone directory cover or attachment."

A hearing was set for November 27 at Carthage on whether or not the temporary restraining order should be made permanent.

Universal Sales of Greensboro, Inc., representatives have reportedly solicited merchants with the object of selling ad space on directory covers in Southern Pines this week, and have also worked in several other towns served by United in this area.

Under a law tested in both the federal and State courts, the directory is regarded as the property of the telephone company during its period of use, and covers, binders, etc., may not be attached.

Carolina Bank, With Five Offices In Moore, Observes 50th Birthday

The Carolina Bank, which first opened its doors for business as the Bank of Pinehurst November 5, 1914, is celebrating its 50th anniversary this month.

From its first office in Pinehurst, the bank has expanded into four other Moore County towns, with offices in Aberdeen, Carthage, Vass and West End. Total personnel in all offices now numbers 62.

Plans are now underway for the renovation and enlargement of the home office in Pinehurst and there are comparatively new buildings in each of the other towns.

The original Bank of Pinehurst was founded by the late William L. Hurd of Pittsburgh, for many years a winter resident. It was originally intended as a fireproof and reasonably burglar-proof building for the storage of valuables during the absence of the winter residents. The idea grew and rapidly developed into plans for the organization of a bank.

Leonard Tufts of Pinehurst approved the idea, although he was

Governor Sanford Will Speak At 4 p.m. Event

Governor Terry Sanford will be the principal speaker when Sandhills Community College formally breaks ground Wednesday, November 25, to initiate construction of the college.

The ceremonies will be held at the site of the College on the Pinehurst-Airport Road from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Widely known for his interest in education, Governor Sanford has supported and given impetus to the Community College program.

"It is wonderful and appropriate that the Governor will address us at the formal ground-breaking for this institution, the physical result of a program which he both initiated and completed in this one administration," said Dr. Raymond A. Stone, president of the college, first to be established under the 1963 Higher Education Act.

Dr. A. A. Vanore, of Robbins, a trustee of the college and chairman of the event, extends an open invitation to the public and has sent formal invitations to both local and state dignitaries.

Trustee Chairman Cliff Blue and Dallas Herring, chairman of the State Board of Education, (Continued on Page 8)

Horse Thief Loose In Sandhills — Blossom Back In Stall, Saddle Gone

There's a horse thief in the Sandhills, but hold on there partner—the posse isn't forming yet.

But somebody might have been strung up, had the horse not escaped, or been released, before she was actually missed.

The victim was Blossom, gentle and amiable 10-year-old white mare owned by Mrs. Verdie Caddell, a favorite among the children who ride at her stables.

Blossom made a big hit Friday night as the Blue Knight's noble steed in the championship game parade. It might have been then that someone gazed on her with an acquisitive gleam in his eye.

Sometime during Monday night or early Tuesday morning, she was stolen from her stall in the Caddell Stable.

She actually wasn't missed until late the next morning, when a phone call was received from Mile-Away Farms.

Blossom, riderless and lost, had followed the Moore County Hunt in from Skyline, six miles north of town. She was all lathered up, and had obviously been ridden hard. Mrs. Caddell, who by then had discovered the empty stall, gave her a royal welcome home.

Also stolen, but not returned, was a black western saddle and bridle.

SADA Awards Slated Monday Night; Juniper Community, County Winner

The Juniper community near Eastwood won first place in county competition in the 1964 SADA community development contest, and will compete for area prizes at the annual SADA meeting at Sanford Monday night.

An excellent new community house, built mostly with volunteer labor—some 718 manhours in all—and financed by local benefits involving practically everyone in the community clinched the county award for Juniper, according to Leon Harkins, assistant county Extension agent, who is county community development chairman.

Harkins said the recently completed community house at Thomas Crossroads is now in regular use for all sorts of meetings and projects, and has been used so far by nine organizations.

The first-place award, with cash prize of $25, went to Juniper following the county judging, which took place Friday, while the second-place award, with $15, went to Glendon and the third-place award, with $10, to Westmoore. The second and third awards were for general excellence of community development programs through the year, Harkins said.

Judging in the area contest, in which first-place winners of SADA member counties Moore, Lee, Hoke, Montgomery and Richmond competed, took place Monday. Results will be announced and four cash prizes—$125, $100, $75 and $50—will be awarded to the first through fourth-place winners, with plaques.

The area competition will be in three divisions, rural communities, villages and towns. Moore had entries only in the rural communities division, who were judged by Don Marsh of the Sanford office of CP&L and Bob Wesson, Montgomery County Extension agent.

Mrs. Wilma Key of Ellerbe is area chairman of the community development program, a major and year-long activity of the Sandhills Area Development association, which reaches its climax at the annual meeting. Award of the prizes and plaques will highlight the program.

(Continued on Page 8)

GIVEN MEMORIAL LIBRARY is dedicated, a beautiful new addition to Pinehurst. Story on Page 22. (Photo by Hemmer)

BADGE-WINNING SCOUTS HONORED at Recognition Supper. The boys above, all from Aberdeen Troop 68, have all recently received their Eagle badges or For God and Country Awards, while one boy has earned both. They are, from left, front row, Eagle Scouts Joseph Robbins, Charles Craven and William Going; back row, Tommy Cruce, Eagle; John Burns, Victor Groce, For God and Country; Mickey Melvin, Eagle, and Lindsay Neill, Eagle and For God and Country. Not in photo, Mac Lathan, Eagle. (Photo by Emerson Humphrey) (Story on Page 27)

This will be a strictly informal occasion for both men and women. A social hour will be held from 6:30 to 7:30, then at 7:30 p.m. dinner will be served. It's a dutch, at $2 per plate.

Information from the "Squirrel Stew Boys" is that they aren't trying to get up the biggest crowd in the world and are doing no pressuring or advertising, but they just want everybody who admires the scrappy fight "Dr. Bill" put up in the Eighth District congressional race, and appreciates all he did for the party ticket, to come on out and have a good time with others who feel the same way.

Party leaders and workers are expected from several counties of the district.

So that Doug will know about how many to expect, those planning to come are asked to see that their names go in the pot not later than Friday. They can let any of the following know: Lamont Brown, Southern Pines; Cliff Blue, Aberdeen; Mrs. Lou Frye, Robbins; Mrs. Carolyn Blue, Eagle Springs; Monroe Chappell, Vass; J. Elvin Jackson, Carthage (Carolina Bank at Vass in business hours); Doug David, Pinebluff (tax collector's office at Carthage in business hours).