256 PLAY IN ANNUAL GOLF EVENT

Harvey, Towler Win 3rd Carousel

Bill Harvey of Greensboro and Reid Towler of Raleigh, who have been coming to the Southern Pines Golf Carousel for six years, and won it in 1960 and 1961, won for the third time in finals Sunday.

Harvey's eagle-3 on the 14th hole closed out the championship match, 5 and 4, on the Pine-Needles course, against a local team, Max Forrest and George Pottle.

Forrest and Pottle are also previous champions. Having won the first Carousel in 1953, they were runners-up in 1954, but never got together as a team after that until this year, when they were runners-up again.

Last weekend, under Jaycee sponsorship, the Carousel was the biggest and best in its history, with 256 entries composing 128 teams, from 14 states and the District of Columbia. The men's division had 104 teams—the championship flight of 16 and 12 flights of eight teams each. Three flights, or 24 teams, made up the mixed division.

Winners of the mixed division were Mr. and Mrs. Don Mortell, of Kankakee, Ill., who won their first Carousel last year and were medalists this year.

In the men's division, the defending champions, Bob Davies of Gettysburg, Pa., and Warren Bell of Southern Pines, were ousted in semifinals by Forrest and Pottle. Medalists were Howard Holshouser and Ernest Hayes of Winston-Salem, tied with Allen Breed and Pete Zaccagnino of Greenville, Del., with a 70 score. Holshouser and Hayes fell before Forrest and Pottle in the first round, while Breed and Zaccagnino made it to the semifinals, losing there to Harvey and Towler.

The championship match was described as "just real good golf." Besides the eagle-3, the winners scored a couple of birdies, and

Wildlife Club To Hear About N. C. Fisheries

The Moore County Wildlife Club will have a meeting Tuesday, December 1, at the Pinehurst Country Club. Registration will be at 7 p.m. and dinner at 7:30. The speaker for the meeting will be Dr. David Adams of the State Department of Conservation and Development. His topic will be commercial fisheries in North Carolina.

HUNT SCHEDULED THURSDAY MORNING

In accordance with local tradition, the Moore County Hounds will meet Thursday (Thanksgiving Day) at 10 a. m. to open the season with a drag hunt.

In observance of the 50th anniversary of the founding of the hunt by the late James Boyd, hounds will meet at the Boyd field, off Connecticut Ave., east of Ridge St., where the public may see the horses, riders and hounds before the chase of the "fox" begins.

Publication of The Pilot on Wednesday afternoon makes possible this prior announcement.

WHEN BOYD HUNTED THE HOUNDS

How It Was In The Early Days

The letter following was written by the late James Boyd to one of his closest friends, Charles Norman (now Major General Norman, ret.) of Fairleigh Hall, West Malling, Kent. The recipient was then a prisoner of the Germans, having been captured with the rest of his regiment in one of the first actions of World War 1, the cavalry charge in Belgium of the British Lancers.

The friendship of the two men had started when both were living at Trinity College as graduate students. They started their hunting careers together at that time.

Writing to his friend to try to while away the long prison hours, Jim Boyd tells of those early days when he was starting the pack here in Moore County. The letter is full of the humor in which these two friends delighted. However, this reporter is able to testify that things really WERE like that in the old days of the beginnings of the Moore County Hounds.

The fox drawings were stolen from Glen Rounds, another good friend of the author. —KLB.

Knights To Play For Championship, Northwest Region

By JOHN McLAUGHLIN On Friday, November 27, Coach Tony Trentini's Southern Pines Blue Knights journey to Salisbury, to meet Glen Alpine High School for the Northwest Regional 1-A Football Championship at the Boyden High School field.

The Knights, who boosted their season's record to 9 wins and 2 losses with their 20-6 victory over Helena High School in the state playoffs, are expecting a tough contest with Glen Alpine, who upped their own record to 8 wins and 3 losses by virtue of a 20-12 win over a strong East Surry team last Friday night, for the right to meet the Knights for the championship.

Because of the numerous schools involved, Class 1-A teams this year did not play for an East-West or State championship, but rather are playing for four separate "Regional" Championships.

One of these regional titles was won by Aberdeen High School last Friday night with its 37-7 victory over Oxford Orphanage at Wake Forest.

The Southern Pines and Aberdeen teams, though neighbors geographically, were placed in different "Regions" because each (Continued on Page 8)

Clothing Store Opening Friday

A new apparel store will open for business Friday on the corner of East Broad St. and Pennsylvania Ave.

Operating under the name of "The Men's Room—Ladies Too," the business is a branch of a clothing store by the same name in Fair Bluff, owned by Guy L. Bailey, Jr.

Bailey is opening the local store in cooperation with Johnnie A. Hall of Southern Pines.

The Men's Room will carry a full line of national brand names, traditional clothing and accessories for men and women. Bailey said this week that a grand opening is planned for a later date.

For the opening, the interior of the store has been redecorated in a traditional motif.

Former occupants of the location include Dr. H. Maxwell Morrison, Jr., the late Dr. P. J. Chester, the Theodora shop and the late Dr. G. G. Herr.

BLOOD COLLECTION

A blood collection in the continuing Moore County Red Cross program will be made in West End, at the school gymnasium, from noon to 5:30 p.m., Monday of next week, November 30. Bloodmobile visits took place this week, in Pinehurst on Tuesday and in Aberdeen on Wednesday.

New Clement R. Monroe Wing Of Moore Memorial Hospital Is Dedicated; Hundreds View Facilities

Dedicated with ceremonies at 2 p.m. Sunday, the new Clement R. Monroe Wing of Moore Memorial Hospital at Pinehurst was viewed by hundreds of persons from this area who filed through the sparkling new facilities during the afternoon.

The wing, named for the surgeon who helped to organize the hospital in 1929 and has been prominently associated with it continuously since then, adds 88 beds to raise the hospital's capacity to 208. It includes also a new surgical suite of seven operating rooms, a post-operative recovery room, x-ray department, pharmacy, central sterile supply and other facilities.

The wing is the major feature of a $2 million construction and renovation program that has seen numerous other improvements in the hospital, involving the laboratory, medical records, physical therapy, food preparation and other departments. The entrance lobby has been enlarged and remodeled.

At the dedication ceremonies, held in a third-floor assembly room—one of two such rooms in the new wing—Ralph L. Chandler, Jr., of Southern Pines, president of the hospital's board of directors, presided and welcomed the group present—directors and their wives, medical staff and wives, state health agency officials and others closely associated with the project. Invitations to the dedication were limited by available space in which to hold the ceremonies.

Dedicatory remarks were made by Wilbur H. Currie of Carthage, a director, former president and only surviving member of the original board of directors of the hospital.

A highlight of the ceremony was the unveiling of an oil portrait of Dr. Monroe, given by Miss Sylvia Nutrizion, former (Continued on Page 8)

Governor Names Mrs. Culbreth To State Group

Mrs. Graham Culbreth of Southern Pines has been appointed to the Governor's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, it is announced by William C. Boren III of Greensboro, the committee's chairman. Along with Mrs. Culbreth, Gov. Terry Sanford appointed several other leaders interested in the program of employment of the handicapped.

The Governor's Committee is composed of outstanding leaders in industry, the professions and distinguished people interested in the rehabilitation and placement of the disabled.

Mrs. Culbreth has been a leader in assisting the representatives of Vocational Rehabilitation in Moore County for many years. She is a director of the North Carolina Society for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc., and has long been active in the Moore County chapter of the Society, in various capacities.

For her efforts in the establishment of Camp Easter in the Pines for crippled children, the Society gave her its highest award, as an outstanding contributor to the Society for the year 1963.

W. HOUSTON BLACK Black Appointed Chairman, 1965 Red Cross Drive

Girl Scout Fund Drive Beginning

Appeal letters have gone out from the Southern Pines-Pinehurst Girl Scout organization, opening a fund drive with a goal of $4,200.

Heading the drive are Mrs. A. N. Derouin, who is also neighborhood chairman in the year-around Girl Scout organization; and W. T. Huntley, Jr., and Bruce Williams, both of Southern Pines.

Girl Scouting is serving almost 400 girls in 18 troops in Southern Pines and Pinehurst, the chairman points out. Checks should be made payable to Girl Scout Drive.

Motorists Warned About Holiday Traffic Perils

The State Highway Patrol and the N. C. State Motor Club of Charlotte have warned motorists of traffic perils on crowded highways during the long Thanksgiving weekend which runs officially from 6 p.m. Wednesday to midnight, Sunday.

State Highway troopers will be out in force to help control traffic law violations and insure safety on the roads.

The Motor Club predicts 21 traffic fatalities during the weekend in North Carolina. Last year, the toll was 29 killed and 756 injured in 1,241 accidents.

COLLEGE RITES TAKING PLACE

As The Pilot went to press one day early, on Wednesday afternoon, because of the Thanksgiving Holiday, ground-breaking ceremonies for the Sandhills Community College were taking place at 4 p.m. at the site on the Pinehurst-Airport road, with Gov. Sanford as featured speaker.

Taking part were H. Clifton Blue of Aberdeen, chairman of the board of trustees; and other trustees: Dr. Raymond A. Stone, college president; and state and county officials. President William C. Friday of the University of North Carolina was to be a special guest.

A full report on the event will appear in next week's Pilot.

UNION SERVICE

The community's Protestant churches are holding a union Thanksgiving service Wednesday at 8 p.m., at Brown Memorial Presbyterian Church, with the Rev. John Stone, pastor of the First Baptist Church as preacher and other local ministers taking part. The public is invited.

Board Chairman L. R. Reynolds Plans To Resign

L. R. Reynolds of Highfalls, chairman of the board of county commissioners, is expected to resign from the board before the December 7 ceremony at which board members elected November 3 will be sworn in.

It was confirmed this week by Mrs. Estelle Wicker of Carthage, county accountant, that Chairman Reynolds has asked that his resignation be prepared, and that this matter is in the hands of the county attorney, M. G. Boyette. Mr. Reynolds has been in (Continued on Page 8)

Two Nominees From Moore Named To Compete For Morehead Scholarships

Two 17-year-old seniors, Charles A. McLaughlin, Jr., of Southern Pines High School, and Lanny C. Parker of Aberdeen High School, have been selected as Moore County's nominees for 1965 Morehead scholarships at the University of North Carolina.

Henry L. Graves, of Southern Pines, chairman of the Moore County Morehead Awards Committee, said this is the first year this county has been allotted two nominees. Hitherto there has been only one.

Alternates are Charles D. Swearingen, of Aberdeen High school and Michael T. Lunday, of Pinehurst High School.

The four boys were screened out by a committee composed of C. Edison Powers, assistant superintendent of Moore County Schools, of Carthage; and Glenn Cox, Paul C. Butler and Mr. and Mrs. Henry L. Graves all of Southern Pines.

The selections were made on the basis of detailed applications and personal interviews with 17 candidates, all recommended by their principals as outstanding students and leaders—excellent "Morehead Award material." The other candidates, in addition (Continued on Page 8)
