Col. Williams Home From Charlotte Hospital

Col. and Mrs. W. C. Williams have returned to 260 East Vermont Ave. from Charlotte, where he has been a patient for several weeks at the Charlotte Rehabilitation Hospital, following a stroke.

Colonel Williams was the subject of an unusual feature in a recent Kays Gary column in the Charlotte Observer. Thirty-four years ago, the colonel, then a young chaplain, ran into a burning apartment to rescue an infant trapped there, whose parents were unable to get him out.

In Charlotte, where the child he rescued is now living and working, married and with his own child, a daughter, Colonel Williams and his wife had a happy reunion with the young man, Samuel T. Thorne, and met his family.

So many people sent cards, with the story enclosed, to Charlotte, Mrs. Williams said this week she wanted to let their friends here know they are back in town.

Couple Wed Here Christmas Eve

A ceremony on Christmas Eve at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. McDonald, 425 North May St., united Miss Sherilyn Sue Blue and Tommy E. Campbell in marriage. The Rev. John D. Stone, pastor of the First Baptist Church, performed the 3 pm rites.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Blue of Southern Pines, is a niece of Mrs. McDonald's. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Campbell of Vass.

The altar was improvised before the fireplace and banked with greens, palms, white gladioli, daisies and chrysanthemums.

The bride wore a gown of white taffeta with bell shaped skirt and detachable chapel train trimmed with rosepoint lace. Her veil of French illusion was secured by a crown of seed pearls. She carried a lace covered prayerbook centered with a white orchid.

Her attendant, Miss Judy Stevenson of Southern Pines, wore a dress of green velvet and carried a single red poinsettia.

Tommy Blalock of Lakeview was best man and ushers were the bride's uncles, C. J. Hawkins of Jacksonville, Fla., and J. B. Davenport of Norfolk, Va.

At the reception held afterwards in the dining room, Mrs. J. B. Davenport cut the cake and Mrs. Wiley A. Avery, Jr. poured punch.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will live in Southern Pines.

Mrs. Campbell is a senior at the Southern Pines High School. Her husband, who attended the Vass-Lakeview School, is presently employed by Lucks, Inc. in Aberdeen.

Relatives from out of town attending, in addition to those named above, were Mr. and Mrs. Joseph D. White of Winston, Joe Hawkins and Mr. and Mrs. Wiley Avery, Jr. of Cove City, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reeves of Goldsboro, and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hawkins and son Michael, of Jacksonville, Fla.

2 From Moore Are Inaugural Ball Sponsors

Two junior college students from Moore County—Kathryn Gilmore of Southern Pines and Kinsey Sabiston of Carthage—will be among the 150 young women from over the state who will represent members of the Council of State, House of Representatives, the Senate and North Carolina's Congressional delegation, at the inaugural ball January 7 to be held in Raleigh's Memorial Auditorium. The gala formal affair will honor incoming Governor and Mrs. Dan K. Moore.

According to officials, the sponsors will be presented to Governor and Mrs. Moore and the thousands of persons expected to attend, from the stage of the auditorium. Together with their marshals, the young ladies will form a figure in the shape of a huge N. C. The presentation is expected to begin at 8:15 pm.

Miss Gilmore, a student at Salem Academy, Winston-Salem, is the daughter of Senator-elect and Mrs. Voit Gilmore.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Sabiston, Kinsey attends St. Mary's Junior College in Raleigh.

N. C. Mental Health Prexy To Start Bells Ringing

At midnight tonight, church bells in Southern Pines, and in towns and cities throughout the state, will ring out for mental health while ringing in a new year.

At the official state Silver Bell Ball for mental health, at the Mid Pines Club, Dr. John McCain of Wilson will set off the symphony of bells, by sounding one which has been loaned for the dance.

Dr. McCain, president of the North Carolina Mental Health Association, and his wife, will be here as guests of the Moore County Mental Health Association, which is headed by Mrs. Donald R. Scott.

As chairman of the state special events committee, Mrs. Scott has also helped plan and organize similar silver bell balls over the state, in addition to the adult ball tonight at Mid-Pines and the junior ball at the National Guard Armory, for college and prep school students holidaying here.

Among distinguished guests expected at the adult dance are Gov. and Mrs. Terry Sanford of Raleigh, who promised to be here, weather permitting.

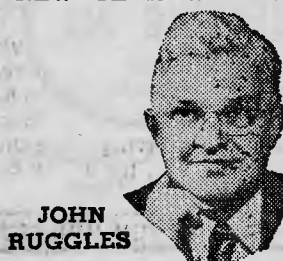

A reception will be held before the dance, which begins at 9 pm.

Special intermission entertainment will include a presentation by two Southern Pines High School students, Anna Dell and Buddy Smith, both members of the N. C. State Ballet First Company.

Champagne will be served at midnight and the dance is expected to wind up about 1 a.m.

Proceeds from these silver bell balls, which are held nationwide, are earmarked for scholarships for those young people interested in careers in the mental health field.
