DR. AND MRS. SARGEANT

Couple Wed 50 Years January 1

To congratulate Dr. and Mrs. Walter Sargeant on the New Year's day celebration of their 50th wedding anniversary, many of their neighbors and friends stopped in at their home, "On-a-Knoll," on Pine Grove Road during the late afternoon and early evening.

The couple was married 50 years ago in Monroeville, Ohio, but lived in Toledo until 1955, when they moved to Southern Pines.

A graduate of the Western Reserve Dental School, Cleveland, and the Dewey School of Orthodontia in Kansas City, Dr. Sargeant was an orthodontist in Toledo from 1913 until 1955, when he retired from practice.

The Sargeants, their daughters, Mrs. Charles Dalnodar of Packanack Lake, N. J. and Mrs. Barney Avery of Sterling, Colo. and their three little granddaughters, Amy and Wend Dalnodar and Patricia Avery, received guests informally in the living room, which was accented with yellow roses, 'mums and snapdragons in gold bowls and vases carrying out the golden anniversary theme.

The dining table was centered with a large gold compote of yellow roses, with crystal branch candelabra at each end, holding tall, twisted gold tapers.

Mrs. Kenneth Elwell of Castle, N. Y., served the four-tiered wedding cake, which was decorated with cascades of pale yellow and deep gold rosebuds, three large sugar bells, edged with gold, and gold nylon tulle adorning the top tier.

Members, Friends Of Library Gallery Attend Get-Together

A few members and friends of the Library Gallery gathered Sunday for an informal party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Faulk.

Mr. Faulk is chairman of the Gallery Committee.

They were invited to meet artist Joseph Cox of Raleigh, whose work is on exhibit this week and next at the Southern Pines Library Gallery.

Mr. Cox has been an exhibitor there several times in the past.

WEST END METHODIST CHURCH RITES UNITE MISS HANNER, WAYNE KELLEY

Miss Julia Anne Hanner was married to Wayne Burnette Kelley of Richmond, Va., Saturday afternoon at 4:30 in the West End Methodist Church, with the pastor, Rev. J. D. Aycock, officiating.

Mrs. W. A. Johnson, Jr., organist, provided the wedding music.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hanner of West End and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Kelley of Richmond.

Miss Helen Heath Hanner was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Miss Diane Terry, of Rockingham, college roommate of the bride, Miss Hudson of Richmond, and Miss Hilda Richardson of Gastonia and West End.

The attendants' dresses were identical, of full length Olive velvet with matching pillbox hats. They carried cascades of yellow pom-poms.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a satin and lace dress fashioned with a bell-shaped skirt which extended into a chapel train. She carried a white orchid on a Bible, a gift from her father when she was a youngster.

The bridegroom had his father for best man. The ushers were Sidney Hall, uncle of the bride-

Trustees Of N. C. School Of Arts To Meet At Weymouth

Several members of the board of trustees of the North Carolina School of the Arts will arrive Friday for an overnight stay at the Carolina Hotel in Pinehurst, and will attend an informal all-day meeting and luncheon buffet Saturday at Weymouth, home of Mrs. James Boyd, who is also a trustee of the projected school which will be located in Winston-Salem.

Purposes of the get-together, in addition to planning the agenda for the next meeting of the full board, include a discussion of the development of scholarship support for talented but needy students.

Those planning to attend, with their husbands and wives, are:

William C. Herring, administrative director of the school, and Dr. V. Giannini, president, both of Winston-Salem; Mrs. Paul L. Mullenburg, Dr. James Semans, chairman of the board of trustees, James McClure Clarke of Asheville, and a guest of the Clarkes, Mrs. Virginia Dameron, also of Asheville. Mrs. Dameron was formerly an executive with the Asheville Farmers Federation.

MRS. MARTIN

Ronald Martins Are At Home Here After Wedding Trip To Bahamas, The

After a wedding trip to Grand Bahama Island, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald James Martin are living at 50 South Ridge St., Southern Pines.

The couple was married December 20 in an afternoon ceremony at the United Church of Christ here. The Rev. Carl Wallace officiated. Soloist was Mrs. Duncan McGoogan and Miss Mary Harman played the organ.

The bride, the former Phyllis Annette Fulghum, is the daughter of Mrs. Worth Bagley Fulghum of Spring Hope, and the late Mr. Fulghum. She was given in marriage by her brother, Worth B. Fulghum of Newport News, Va.

The bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Martin, live at Pompano Beach, Fla.

A graduate of Appalachian State Teachers College, Mrs. Martin teaches at the Vass-Lakeview Elementary School. Her husband attended Palm Beach Junior College. He served in the United States Air Force and is presently employed as sales engineer for Fletcher Industries here.

For her wedding, the bride wore a formal gown of Boquet taffeta and Rochelle lace. Her bouffant veil of silk illusion was secured by a double crown of pearls and lace and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses centered with an orchid.

The matrons of honor, Mrs. Mary Sue Fulghum of Spring Hope and Mrs. Joyce Martin of Pompano Beach, wore blue velvet floor length sheaths with matching hats of velvet roses with jet veils.

The bridesmaids, Misses Wanda Tucker of Southern Pines and Faye Pridden of Kinston, both were attired in dresses styled like the honor attendants, but of Christmas red velvet, with hats of matching color.

Kim Martin, the flower girl, wore a floor length dress of red velvet with matching hat.

Gene Martin of Pompano Beach was his brother's best man. Ushers were Curtis Fulghum of Rocky Mount, William Eenson, Robert Brille and Paul Brille, all of Southern Pines.

A reception at the Hollywood Hotel followed the wedding ceremony.

In & Out Of Town

The William S. Bushbys returned home last week after a fortnight's holiday cruise to South America aboard the Viking Princess, a ship of the Norwegian Line. They "met marvelous people and had a fabulous time," said Mrs. Bushby. After the ship left Miami, they ran into a bad storm and a leak developed in the hold, but they managed to get to port for repairs. The ship docked at San Juan, Puerto Rico, St. Thomas, Port De France in Martinique, the Communist-occupied port of Caracas, Curacao, St. George in English-owned Genada, where the natives were celebrating the traditional Boxers Day, the day after Christmas, and Aruba Island where the Trade Winds blow.

Weekend house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eveleth Richardson and family in Manly were her niece, Miss Barbara Gillis, of Mount Olive, who will graduate Friday from UNC-G and begin teaching first grade Monday in the Rockingham City Schools; also, a friend from Mount Olive, Miss Betsy Cox. The Richardsons were hosts Sunday noon at a birthday dinner for Miss Gillis. Other honor guests celebrating birthdays on the weekend, were Mrs. Richardson's aunt, Mrs. S. R. Smith, and a cousin, Miss Bessie Cameron, both of Vass.

Mrs. John Paterson has returned to Southern Pines after a holiday visit of two weeks with her sister, Mrs. Joseph A. Warren and her two sons, Joseph, Jr. and William and his family, in Aiken, S. C. Joe Warren, formerly associated with Radio Station WEBB here, is now an executive of Radio Station WAKN in Aiken.

Spending a 30-day leave with Mrs. William Reiner are her son and daughter-in-law, S/Sgt. and Mrs. George Reiner and their 3 children, who arrived Friday. Sergeant Reiner has recently returned from a tour of the Philippines, and will next be stationed with the U. S. Army at Fort Devens, Mass.

Airman IJC and Mrs. John Ramsey and their infant daughter, Diana, are here from Cocoa Beach, Fla. for a week's stay with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Ramsey at 270 N. Page St.

Charlottean Will Speak To Christian Women's Club

Mrs. Carl Bates, wife of Dr. Bates of Charlotte, and prominent speaker to women's groups across America, is to be the guest speaker at the Christian Women's Club luncheon at Whispering Pines Restaurant on Wednesday, January 20, at 12 noon.

A combination organ demonstration and recital is to be the interesting feature brought by R. Edmonds of Fayetteville, with special music to be presented by A. D. Shirley, baritone, also of Fayetteville.

Mrs. Bates and her husband, who is pastor of the First Baptist Church, were pictured in a color photo, in Sunday's Charlotte Observer, with an accompanying feature article about the couple by the Observer's Homemaking Editor, Eudora Garrison. The photo shows them in hunting attire, with their bird dog. Both, it seems, are enthusiastic and expert hunters.

MRS. BATES

For reservations, call Mrs. A. L. Burney, 695-3431 or Mrs. Neill McKay, 695-6321.

SO NOTED IN BOOK DEDICATION

McElvares And Their Home Offer A 'Reliable Oasis' To Author Friends

"To Lillian and Rowland McElvare, whose 'Wind Ridge' is a reliable oasis between North and South."

Thus reads the dedication to Southern Pines residents, the Rowland McElvares, of a book, "Water & Life," written by their friends of a quarter-century, Lorus and Margery Milne. The book was published last month by the Athenaeum Press.

The authors, each possessing a degree of Doctor of Philosophy, were visitors at the McElvares during Christmas, a yearly stop-off which inspired the affectionately amusing dedication.

The couple lives in New England—Lorus Milne is professor of Zoology at the University of New Hampshire; his wife also formerly taught there, but wives of professors are permitted only a limited span as teachers when their husbands instruct at the University.

They were on their yearly holiday trip to the Hillsborough Club in Florida, where they spend the holiday season soaking up sun against the rigors of the northern climate to which they must return, and lecturing to the Audubon Society at Pompano Beach.

This is by no means the first published work for the Milnes, who have collaborated so much, they are almost in the prolific league of that other famous husband-wife team, the Lockridges.

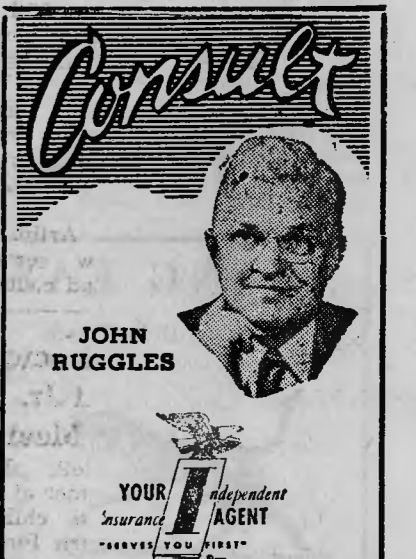

In addition to their books, they frequently write science book reviews for the New York Times.

A review on "Water & Life," from the Pacific Discovery, a magazine published in California, notes that "Anyone concerned by the fact that each sunset sees 150,000 more individuals on this planet will profit from reading the Milnes' latest book, which discusses earth's greatest resource—water."

Further, "... the authors at times present their material in an almost poetical manner... each chapter, as flowing as the basic topic, is like an essay in itself, but... no panacea is offered."

At Thanksgiving, the Milnes were on the West Coast, at work on a color television program which it was expected, would be shown later nationally.

Nancy Beddingfield Enters Big Fish In Miami, Fla. Contest
Nancy Beddingfield hooked a big one on her first fishing trip in Miami.
The former Nancy Wiggs of Southern Pines, honeymooning recently in Florida with her husband, James Alan Beddingfield, caught a 38 pound, eight ounce dolphin, which she promptly entered in the Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament.
This is one of the biggest of the big fish entered, and Nancy, now back home in Greenville, N. C., is pretty sure to be receiving a prize for her entry.
Nancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Wiggs of 170 E. Connecticut Ave. Her husband is the son of Mrs. John L. McKenzie of Pinehurst.
