Donnie Lee Black Fatally Hurt In Motorcycle Wreck

Donnie Lee Black, 26, of Vass, Route 2, died Tuesday at N. C. Memorial Hospital, Chapel Hill, of injuries suffered in a motorcycle accident on the Union Church Road near Vass, Monday night.

He suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries when he lost control of the motorcycle, it skidded and he was thrown. Taken first to Moore Memorial Hospital at Pinehurst, he was transferred early Tuesday to Chapel Hill.

This was Moore county's first highway fatality of the year. State Trooper W. R. Austin investigated, and Coroner W. K. Carpenter ruled the death accidental.

Black was a native of the Eastwood section near Pinehurst, attended Pinehurst schools and had served with the U. S. Army, from which he was discharged in 1958. He was self-employed as a brick-mason.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at Culdee Presbyterian Church near Pinehurst, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. W. K. Fitch, Jr., assisted by the Rev. H. L. Wilson, pastor of the Vass Presbyterian Church. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Surviving are his wife, the former Sigrid Blum, native of Germany, whom he married while stationed with the Army there; a daughter, Janet, and son, Johnnie, of the home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Masger Black of Carthage, Route 3, and four brothers, Tommy, Wayne and Wesley, all of Carthage, Route 3, and Larry, of West End, Route 1.

Blood Collections Slated Next Week; Donations Lagging

Residents of the Carthage and Southern Pines areas will have a chance next week to give blood in the program that supplies both hospitals of the county through the Red Cross center in Charlotte. A bloodmobile will visit the Carthage School gymnasium Monday, February 15, from noon to 5:30 p.m., and will be at St. Anthony's School here on the following day, Tuesday, February 16, from 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Col. John Dibb, chairman of the local Mayor's Committee to promote the blood program here, said today that arrangements have been made with the Psychological Warfare section of the John F. Kennedy Special Warfare Center at Fort Bragg, for a sound truck with loudspeaker, from the Center, to circulate in Southern Pines Tuesday morning and afternoon, with a local announcer, to remind residents of the blood collection taking place here that day.

J. R. Hauser of Southern Pines, Red Cross chapter chairman and also head of the blood program, said that Moore County is running 210 pints short for the first six months of the program's year which began last July.

This, he said, means that Moore County patients have used that much more blood than donations have brought in. He urged that (Continued on Page 8)

SUCCEEDING J. T. SHEPHERD

Wright To Be Pinehurst Police Chief

Gerald L. Wright of Southern Pines will replace retiring Pinehurst Police Chief J. T. Shepherd, it was announced this week by Pinehurst, Inc.

Mr. Wright, who is resigning as foreman of final assembly for Proctor-Silex Corporation here, will join the Pinehurst police department Monday and will take over as chief on March 1.

Mr. Shepherd has been chief at Pinehurst since 1948.

"Jerry" Wright has had seven years of experience with the Southern Pines Police Department, in which he served as patrolman and sergeant, and had previously served with the Army Military Police. He has attended numerous police schools and FBI short courses.

Members of the police department at Pinehurst which is not an incorporated town, are actually township constables serving by appointment of the county commissioners. For many years,

SCHOOL LIBRARY GIFT—Dallas Pollard of Heartland, Va., a winter visitor to the Sandhills for many years, spoke to the Social Science classes of Miss Brewer and Mrs. Thompson, at the Southern Pines Elementary School Library, Monday, and made a cash gift to the library. The 89-year-old retired certified public accountant is pictured handing his gift to Amy Buchan, representing the students, as Miss Lurline Commander, school librarian, looks on. Mr. Pollard, a cousin of the late President Calvin Coolidge, reminisced for the students about his life in New England and about growing up with his Vermont relative and neighbor who became President. He makes his home here at the Southland Hotel. Mr. Pollard also told the students that Orson Bean of the TV panel show, "To Tell the Truth," is his grandson. (Humphrey photo)

There is also the final Championship Class, for the Stoneybrook Perpetual Trophy, in which first and second place winners in all classes are eligible, following a field master over a special course.

A special feature is awarding of the Field Hunter Challenge Trophy, for the best field hunter, in the opinion of the Hunt Committee, being "fairly and regularly hunted with the Moore County Hounds during the current year."

Programs for the complete Hunter Trials will be available.

Robbins Heading Hardware Group

J. C. Robbins of Aberdeen, a partner with J. W. Cooper in ownership and operation of Burney Hardware Co., Aberdeen, was elected president of the Hardware Association of the Carolinas, at the Association's annual Show and Convention held last week at the Charlotte Merchandise Mart in Charlotte. He had previously been first vice president of the group.

More than 500 independent hardware retailers in the two Carolinas are members of the association which is affiliated with the National Retail Hardware Association.

Mr. Robbins has been with Burney Hardware since 1937. He is secretary of the board of trustees of Sandhills Community College.

SADA MEETING

Chancellor John Caldwell of North Carolina State at Raleigh is speaking this (Thursday) evening at a 7 pm dinner meeting of the Sandhills Area Development Association at Howard Johnson's Restaurant, between Southern Pines and Aberdeen. Delegations are expected from Moore, Hoke, Lee, Montgomery and Richmond Counties which comprise the SADA area.

New Agriculture Building Will Be Dedicated Monday

Dedication of the new Moore County Agriculture Building, followed by an "open house," will be held Monday from 7 to 9 pm. The public is invited.

The new facility was completed last November, with only finishing touches such as the asphalted parking area and landscaping added since then. It is occupied by the farm and home economics offices of the N. C. State Extension Service, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Farmers Home Administration and Moore County Soil and Water Conservation District office.

The modern one-story structure occupies a corner of the tract on which the Moore County Health Center was built several years ago and has harmonizing architecture. Separated from the Health Center grounds by a grassy embankment, it is entered by the same driveway, which leads on past the Health Center to the new parking site.

F. D. Allen, Moore County Extension chairman, will preside over the dedication services, at which the Rev. W. S. Golden, pastor emeritus of the Carthage (Continued on Page 8)

Contract Let For Rural Fire Truck

The county commissioners in a recent special meeting let a contract for a new fire truck, under the county's rural fire protection program, which they said would be assigned to Aberdeen, for use out of town.

They also went on record as planning to advertise for bids on or about June 1 for another fire truck, to be purchased with an appropriation in the 1965-66 budget, which will be assigned to Pinebluff.

The contact let last week was to the American Fire Apparatus Co. of Fayetteville, low bidder at $12,500, which is included in the current county budget. The truck is expected to be delivered within 90 days.

Price Of Haircuts To Be Increased 25 Cents

The Moore County Chapter of the North Carolina Master Barbers Association announced today that the price of haircuts will be increased 25 cents in barber shops throughout the county, effective March 1.

The increase will raise the price of a haircut from $1.25 to $1.50 in all shops cooperating with the association.

BENEFIT SUPPER

A spaghetti supper, open to the public will be served at the Southern Pines Moose Lodge, Sunday, February 14, from 5:30 to 7:30 pm, for benefit of the lodge's building fund. The lodge is located on Clark St., reached from the north end of N. W. Broad St.

FORMER LOCAL ATHLETIC STAR

Mattocks Appointed Head Elon Coach

News of the promotion of Gary Mattocks from assistant to head football coach at Elon College, announced Saturday, recalls the days when Gary performed as the "galloping ghost" of Southern Pines' state championship sixman football team.

Before his graduation from Southern Pines High School in 1951, Gary was one of Coach Phil Weaver's stars, helping lay the foundation for teams which captured the state title three times.

Mattocks started his athletic career in basketball, as an 8th grader in the Jonesboro school, which is now in Sanford. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Mattocks, moved to Southern Pines in 1946 and he continued as a three-letter man, tops in football, basketball and baseball.

He played his first 11-man football at Greenbrier Military Academy, where he spent a year on a scholarship following graduation here. He briefly attended Duke, where he played freshman football, then left at mid-term of his freshman year to enlist in the 82nd Airborne Division. After three years as a paratrooper, he returned to student life, enrolling at East Carolina College, where he earned his bachelor's and master's degrees, as a quarterback

IN ADDITION TO BOND ISSUE

College Assured Over $1 Million In Funds; Trustees Accept Bids

Officials of Sandhills Community College have been virtually assured of state and federal funds for construction in excess of one million dollars, reports Dr. Raymond A. Stone, president of the college. A half-million dollar allocation for construction has been made by the State Board of Education and federal funds totaling $568,013 were recommended by the N. C. Higher Education Facilities Commission, a federal agency.

Under the federal act, tentative approval of the federal agency in North Carolina is required before final approval is granted by education officials in Washington. Dr. Stone said that these funds will be used along with $1,000,000 in Moore County bond issue funds to construct the first three college buildings. Preliminary planning for a fourth building to house trade and technical education has begun.

CAMERON NATIVE

Phillips Awarded Big Scholarship

John A. Phillips, a junior at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, and the son of Jack A. Phillips, Jr., of Cameron, is one of eight North Carolina college students who have been awarded Reynolds Scholarships for study at the Bowman Gray School of Medicine, Winston-Salem.

The scholarship program, sponsored by the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation will provide each recipient $14,000 during his four years in medical school. In addition, the foundation will supplement each scholar's internship salary, during his fifth year of medical education, guaranteeing him an income of $5,000 for that year.

Selection of the scholars is made by the medical school's committee on admissions on the basis of character, scholarship, potential as a physician and financial need.

AUMAN NAMED TO NATIONAL OFFICE

T. Clyde Auman of West End, Moore County's new representative in the General Assembly, was elected president of the National Peach Council, at its annual meeting in Grand Rapids, Mich., Monday.

A former president of the North Carolina Peach Growers Society and an orchard operator in this county for many years, Mr. Auman was present with his wife, Mrs. Sally Auman, at the Michigan meeting.

Site for the 1966 silver anniversary meeting of the National Peach Council, which will be in North Carolina, is to be selected by the new president. The Council was formed in Charlotte 24 years ago.

Elected to the N. C. House of Representatives last November, Mr. Auman took his seat in Raleigh when the General Assembly convened February 3.

The $500,000 grant in state funds is the first to be allocated from appropriations made by the 1963 General Assembly. Four other community colleges are expected to receive similar grants.

The recommended federal grant of $568,013 was one of two grants to community colleges in North Carolina for construction approved by the State Commission. The other went to Gaston College.

Federal funds for college construction were appropriated by the 88th Congress. College officials made application November 30 for a grant. Since that time, applications have been studied carefully and assigned priority before a recommendation was made last week. Recommended applications have now been sent to education officials in Washington for final approval. Dr. Stone states that he expects approval of federal funds within 60 days.

Contracts totalling $1,292,533 for construction of the college have been awarded to six North Carolina firms, calling for completion of one building within eight months. This timetable will enable the college to open on schedule with the fall term of 1965, Dr. Stone said. Other buildings will be completed within a year.

Contracts were awarded last week to the H. R. Johnson Company, Monroe, for general construction, $916,591; Steele Electrical Company, Monroe, for electrical construction, $115,958; plumbing, Community Plumbing & Heating Company, Greensboro, $61,500, and Carroll & Gift, Sanford, for plumbing construction, $25,302; heating construction, Crutchfield Plumbing & Heating, Greensboro, $170,393; Southern (Continued on Page 8)

College Library Needs Magazine Back Issues

Sandhills Community College library is in the process of being organized and needs back issues of magazines.

Mrs. Mary Drue McGraw, librarian, asks that individuals in this area who subscribe to periodicals will remember the college library and not destroy back issues.

"A library can grow into a good research center for students and faculty through gifts from friends which augment subscriptions," according to Mrs. McGraw.

Donors are asked to contact the librarian of Sandhills Community College on N. W. Broad Street or call 695-1471. The college will evaluate gifts in terms of their usefulness to the purposes of the institution, it was stated.

CAMELLIAS EXHIBITED

Camellia blossoms from the estate of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Morton on Youngs Road will remain on view at the Southern Pines Library through Saturday. Fresh blooms exhibited this week, including numerous rare specimens, exceed in beauty those shown last week, because of the warmer weather. The public is invited to view the display.
