HERE and AWAY

On a business trip to Florida this week are Mr. and Mrs. Daniel O. Delany, who planned to visit Ponte Vedra, Daytona Beach, Fort Pierce and Clearwater Beach.

Mrs. Alfred N. Derouin Sunday attended a meeting of the North Carolina State Ballet Company in Raleigh. Mrs. Derouin is president of the organization. Friday overnight guests of the Derouins here were Mrs. Annette S. Boutwell, executive secretary of the ballet company, who was here for the meeting of executive secretaries of the Mental Health Association from chapters over the state. As program director of the state's Southeastern Region, she was a speaker at the meeting, held at the Holiday Inn.

Cadet Shelby Stevens of Fishburne Military Academy in Virginia, expects to spend this weekend here with his mother, Mrs. S. T. Stevens and his brother, Jeff.

Due back home this weekend after a stay of about two weeks in Palm Beach, Fla., are Mr. and Mrs. W. Fay Neville and their two children. They are with Mr. Neville's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Livingston L. Biddle, II, at the Brazilian Court Hotel.

Buck Adams returned home last weekend after a trip to West Palm Beach for the E-Z Golf Cart Match Play tournament on the National PGA course, and the merchandise show of golf equipment in West Palm Beach.

Home for the weekend from East Carolina College, was Miss Sandy Wicker, who was here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wicker.

Mrs. O. V. Russell is back at her Midland Road cottage after a stay at Palm Beach.

At their home here after several weeks at their place at Eleuthera, B.W.I., are Mr. and Mrs. Warner L. Atkins.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Robins have returned from Naples, Fla., where Mr. Robins played in a Southern Seniors golf tournament.

Mrs. R. C. Knipe of Raleigh is here for several weeks with Mrs. Edward C. Conlin. Arriving this weekend for about a week with Mrs. Conlin is her goddaughter, Miss Frances Greet of Great Neck, N. Y.

Returning this week after a visit of several days in Princeton, N. J., with Mr. and Mrs. William Shillaber, is Miss Frances Pleasants.

Woman's Exchange Rummage Sale Plans Made At Meeting

Committee heads were named Monday to be in charge of the annual rummage sale of the Sandhills Woman's Exchange, at the monthly meeting and tea for members. Mrs. Quincy Gillmore was hostess to the group, meeting at the Holly Inn.

Co-chairmen for the sale are Mrs. John R. Sibley and Mrs. Walter C. Robins; price committee co-chairmen, Mrs. P.S.P. Randolph and Mrs. Katherine Allen; baked goods, Mrs. J. B. Boyle and cashiers, Mrs. George Smith and Mrs. Lionel Callaway.

Donations of household items and clothing are requested, and it is asked that contributions be left at the Community House, next door to the Fire Station, from noon February 23, or on February 24, when the building will be open all day.

The sale will be Thursday and Friday, February 25 and 26.

Those wishing to have articles picked up at their homes may call the Exchange, 295-5962.

After the business session, tea was served in the ballroom. Assisting Mrs. Gillmore were Mrs. Bradley J. Hurd, Mrs. Isham C. Sledge and Mrs. David R. Riach.

Doubles Round Robin Matches Set Sunday

Scheduled for play Sunday afternoon at the Pinehurst Country Club is a doubles round robin tournament, with partners to be chosen by lottery.

Those interested in competing should go by the tennis house, or call Pro Joe Roddey at 294-7813.

Fox Hunting Switch
A switch from the sophisticated style of hunts with the Moore County Hounds in the Sandhills must be those of "North Carolina's Horseless Fox Hunts" as a picture feature in February's issue of the Chevrolet magazine, "Friends," has called them.

While the MCH is replete with two masters, whips and huntsmen to keep horses and hounds in order, this unusual horseless fox hunting is practiced on Long Beach Island a resort off the coast of North Carolina where, each year, on Washington's Birthday, a hunt is held for "hounds only."

No guns or horses it seems, are used—hunters bring packs of hounds and let them loose at a signal to track the many foxes which overrun the region. An average of 15 foxes is killed on each yearly hunt.

As noted in a news item in last week's issue of The Pilot, this year's fifth annual Fox Round-up, scheduled February 19, 20 and 22, will have a Moore County man—W. L. (Lock) Cameron of Vass—as master of hounds.

The unique sports event, expected to draw about 5,000 persons to Long Beach, was rated last year one of the top 20 travel events in the USA, by the National Association of Travel Organizations.

Pairs Tie For 1st, 2nd, PCC Tourney

Tied at 82 for first prize in last Thursday's par-bogey tournament for men of the Pinehurst Country Club, were two teams, each compiling 82 points: Col. Coleman Romain and William J. Burke, and Arthur I. Long and E. B. Shuck, both pairs with outgoing 42's and incoming 40's.

Runners-up, also tied for second place at 80 points, were Robert F. Beard and Joseph W. Strode, 38-42; and Raymond E. North and Stephen H. Kuhn, 42-38.

HOLE-IN-ONE

John P. Huestis of Pinehurst scored a hole-in-one Saturday, while playing in the Tin Whistles Club tournament with Pinehurst cottagers Joseph W. Strode, T. Arthur Johnson and William E. Fowler. Heaced the par-three, 169-yard ninth hole of the Number Three course.

the president of the Beta Club, treasurer of the FHA, editor of the annual staff and in most of the other clubs at Pinehurst High School. She is an honor student and interested in extra-curricular activities as well. Barbara is making plans to attend UNC-G in the fall of 1965. She is considering majoring in some phase of education.

Don Vest, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Vest of Pinehurst, of course, is well known because of basketball. He is one of the great players on the Pinehurst team. He is president of the Monogram Club, president of the senior class, and sports editor of the Annual staff. Don is preparing to go to Pembroke College. His plans are to take a liberal arts course or possibly go into business.

FHA Meets

The Pinehurst Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America met Monday in the high school library. The members voted to send vice president June McKenzie to the National Convention to be held in July in Philadelphia. The club discussed ways of making money to send June to the convention, and ways of making money for the spring Mother-Daddy-Daughter Banquet. Ideas for speakers for the spring banquet were also discussed.

Prizes, Galore

The students who took Home Economics or who are taking it are now busy filling out entry blanks. Miss Jones is allowing any girl who wishes to take part in these entries. One entry is concerned with an egg contest. All you have to do is fill in your recipe that contains one egg per serving. The other entry consists of choosing the silver, china, and crystal patterns you like best from a group that is given. Each contest offers wonderful prizes for the winners. Good luck, girls!

Income Tax Returns

One excellent thing can be said about the business classes of Pinehurst—the students are taught things that will be most beneficial to them in life. Everyone is aware that this is income tax return time, and everyone is extremely busy getting this job done. The shorthand and general business classes at Pinehurst are also busy on the tax returns. The business teacher, Nelson Thomas, is teaching the students in these two classes the fundamentals of filling out income tax returns. Now in a few more years, when it comes time for the students from Pinehurst to participate in this activity, they will know all about it.

New Fountain

Pinehurst High School has two water fountains in the main hall of the building. Just recently, a new water fountain was placed in the building at the far end of the hall. This new one replaces the old one that stood there.

Seniors' Future

A few weeks ago, we mentioned Johnny Sheffield as one of the seniors for that week. We stated that he was making plans to enter Appalachian State Teachers' College. We are now happy to announce that Johnny has been formally accepted to Appalachian. We certainly are proud of him and glad for him.

This week, we will concentrate on Barbara Stutts and Don Vest. Barbara is the daughter of Mrs. A. N. Stutts of Pinehurst. She is

School News Items

By KAYE GILMORE and JUDI MCKENZIE

School Spirit Day

Friday was "School Spirit Day" at Pinehurst High School. This basketball season, the Pinehurst cheerleaders have asked that each room be responsible for doing something inspiring for each basketball game.

The Junior class was mostly responsible for our "School Spirit Day." On this day, each person was urged to wear at least one of the Pinehurst School colors. Just about everyone cooperated, even up to the school workers, teachers, and the superintendent.

However, Gail Frye, a sophomore was most originally dressed in the school colors—a gold jumper and maroon blouse. The front had a big gold bow and on this she placed a maroon bowtie. On her head, she wore a knitted maroon and gold cap, and she had made little maroon and gold bows and placed these on each "corner" of her glasses. She covered her shoes with maroon and gold cloth, and carried a Rebel flag around with her all day. People like Gail really give spirit to a project like "School Spirit Day."

On this special day, there were also many unusual bulletin boards in the high school rooms. There was a miniature of the coming night's game made of pasteboard. There was a bear made out of sticks with a cage, representing our opponent, and the seniors made a tremendous Rebel flag bulletin board. The lunch period was cut short and the afternoon classes changed a little so the whole high school turned out at 2:30 for a long pep rally in the gym, and of course, there were wonderful cheers by the cheerleading squad, led by the chief cheerleader, Penny McCaskill.

The juniors also presented basketball game between some of the cheerleaders and some of the juniors. A few of the junior boys participating even went so far as to play the basketball game in the seniors' graduating robes. The whole student body took part, singing the school song twice. On the whole, much school spirit was shown and everyone was well pleased at the way things turned out.

Awards Presented

At the pep rally Friday two awards were presented—the first to Janice Fields by Miss Jones, the Home Economics teacher. In the early part of December, all the senior girls who wanted to, took a test which was an overall treatment of things they had learned in Home Economics. Janice Fields won this Betty Crocker award.

The second award was made by Mr. Cannon to Debbie Prince. This was a certificate stating that Debbie is a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship contest. Not long ago, there were write-ups in the papers about Debbie being a semi-finalist in this contest, and we were all very proud of her then. Now that she is a finalist, we are certainly extremely proud of her and hope she will go farther.

Recipe Chosen

Miss Jerry Jones, Pinehurst Schools' Home Economics teacher recently entered a chicken casserole recipe to a committee selecting recipes from all over the United States for a cookbook. Miss Jones's chicken casserole recipe was chosen to go into the book. She was sent a free copy of the cookbook, Casserole Dishes, and a certificate. Although the book is her personal copy,

Miss Jones stated that she would be using it in her Home Economics classes to teach new casserole recipes to her students.

"Right Thing To Do"
Nelson Thomas, the typing teacher for the Pinehurst School, has really been keeping the classes busy this year. The second year classes have just finished typing booklets composed of their favorite poems. Even the first year typing students have not escaped the work and experience of typing booklets. Their booklets, entitled "The Right Thing to Do," contains valuable information on many subjects.

Compiling the booklets not only involved the regular typing, with no errors, but there were margins to figure, centering to do, title pages to type, tables of contents to amass, and finally, the booklets had to be bound a special way.

On the whole, the first year students did a good job, especially considering the fact that only one misspelled word in the entire booklet, meant a failing grade!

Term Papers Started

This is the time of year when term papers in the various classes are started. The senior class just learned that their term papers in Senior English are due the first of May. Considering all the research work and other work that must be done in order to prepare a term paper, this is not so far off. The title itself is due Wednesday, February 17. So the seniors will be making good use of the local libraries for the next few months.

Students Of Other Schools To See Theater Company

Students from the Southern Pines, Aberdeen and West End Schools will join the audience of Pinehurst School students, grades 5 through 12, Monday to see a professional actors group perform excerpts from Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" and "Twelfth Night."

The actors from New York form part of the "Theater in Education," a non-profit company sponsored by the North Carolina Department of Education.

Interested adults are invited to the admission-free performance, which begins at 9:30 a.m. in the Pinehurst School Auditorium.

Memorial Book

Added To Given

Library Collection

A recent addition to the memorial book collection at Given Memorial Library, is "Journals and Other Comments on the Life and Voyage of Christopher Columbus," translated and edited by Samuel Eliot Morrison.

The book was presented by Miss Brooke Bryan in memory of Adm. George Henry Browne.

Country Club Event Won With 78 Points

Registering the winning score, 40-38-78 points, to take first prize in Friday's tournament for women members of the Pinehurst Country Club were Mrs. Albert L. Sneed and Mrs. David P. MacHarg.

Runners-up in the par-bogey contest for better ball of pair was the team of Mrs. Quincy A. Gillmore and Mrs. J. C. T. Sihler, 40-34-74.

Taking third place honors, at 38-34-72, were Mrs. Michael T. Pishko and Mrs. Walter G. Robins.

Silver Foils Leaders Score Aggregate 165

Teamed to win last week's Silver Foils Club tournament, were Mrs. J. C. T. Sihler, 89-9-80, and Mrs. David R. Riach, 103-18-85. Twenty members played in the stroke play contest for low aggregate of pairs, with the leaders posting a combined low aggregate score of 165.

One stroke off the lead were Mrs. True P. Cheney, 97-17-80 and Mrs. William C. Harris, 98-12-86, for a low aggregate 166.
