TOWN AND COUNTY.

—Have you registered for the town election? —Mr. W. B. Guill and family have moved to Four Oaks.

—Dr. G. J. Robinson visited his brother in Goldsboro Tuesday. —Now is the time to expect big fish stories. Who will be the first to report? —The Zigzag Club will meet next Monday evening with Miss Mattie McGuire.

—The brick work of the handsome Dickinson-Jordan building on Market street is completed. —Application has been made to the Secretary of State for articles of incorporation for the new hotel company.

—Mr. H. B. McGuire, of Richmond, Va., has been here this week on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McGuire.

—Architect W. P. Rose, of Raleigh was here Tuesday. He will make the plans for the new hotel to be built here this summer.

—Hon. D. H. McLean, of Dunn, has accepted an invitation to deliver the memorial address at Washington, N. C., on the 10th of May.

—We are glad to see Mr. F. H. Brooks out again after having been confined to his room for some time by a severe attack of rheumatism.

—Mr. H. B. Hardy, the well-known travelling representative of the News and Observer, was in town Tuesday in the interest of that excellent and enterprising paper.

—The Turlington Institute baseball team went to Kenly Saturday and played a game with the Kenly team. The T. I. boys were the victors, the score standing 10 to 3.

—Dr. E. T. Dickinson left Wednesday for New York, where he has gone to take a post-graduate course in the New York College of Polyclinics. He will be away about a month.

—Are the people of Smithfield interested in an organized fire company? Then, let them show how much they are interested by giving their support to the company organized here recently.

—Rev. A. R. Raven, pastor of the Methodist church at Mount Olive, died last week at an advanced age. Mr. Raven served several churches in this county quite a number of years ago.

—Mr. M. V. Barefoot, of Meadow township, who is one of THE HERALD'S staunchest supporters, called in to see us yesterday. While here he renewed the subscription of his daughter, Mrs. Amanda Morgan.

—The town election will be held on Monday May 6th. On that day seven aldermen for the town of Smithfield will be elected, as follows: First ward, one; second ward, two; third ward, two; fourth ward, two.

—Owing to the lateness of the season the farmers are somewhat slow in planting their crops. Many of the oldest farmers say that a late spring is often followed by a good crop year. We hope that such may be the case this year.

—Rev. J. W. Suttle requests us to announce that he will begin a series of meetings at the Baptist church here on the first Sunday in May. He will be assisted by Rev. C. A. Jenkins, pastor of the First Baptist church in Goldsboro.

—Rev. J. T. Gibbs, D. D., Presiding Elder of the Raleigh District, will preach in the Methodist church at Selma next Sunday morning and evening. The second quarterly conference will be held Monday, beginning at 10 o'clock.

—The Raleigh News and Observer of last Sunday contained the following item: "A marriage license was issued yesterday to Mr. T. E. Page, of Myatt's Mill, Wake county, and Miss Annie F. Stephenson, of Itiner, Johnston county."

—The Fortnightly Book Club will hold its next meeting at the home of Prof. Ira T. Turlington on Monday evening, April 29th, at 8:30 o'clock. The interest in the club is increasing at each meeting. At its meeting Monday evening it decided to buy several new books which will be the beginning of the Club's library.

—We are anxious to secure a copy of the first number of THE SMITHFIELD HERALD, which was published in the spring of 1882. To the first person who will send us a copy of that issue we will give a six months' subscription to this paper. We suppose that perhaps some of our subscribers have preserved a copy of the number desired.

—The Smithfield Fire Company has been permanently organized with the following officers: Foreman, Z. L. LeMay; Assistant Foreman, N. B. Grantham; Secretary-Treasurer, T. J. Lassiter. The next regular meeting will be held the first Friday night in May. A constitution and by-laws have been adopted and the company is now ready for members.

—Smithfield has long been in need of a first-class hotel. We are glad to state that this need will soon be filled. A company has been organized and nearly all the money subscribed for the erection of a large and well arranged hotel that would be a credit to towns three times the size of Smithfield. The building is to be located on the corner lot north of the court house and will front 105 feet on Market street and extend 60 feet on Second street. The building is to be of brick, three stories high. It will contain two store rooms, barber shop, office, sample room, parlors, kitchen and dining room and about 25 bed rooms. The men who are backing up this enterprise mean business and the building will be put up as soon as possible.

—A certain man in or about Garner, N. C., decided recently that his table fare would be a little more complete with some milk and butter. So he spoke to a Johnston county cattle dealer to secure for him a cow and calf. Not many days passed before the cow and calf were delivered and paid for, much to the satisfaction at first, of both parties concerned. Soon the purchaser noticed that the cow and calf seemed to be "without natural affection" but he thought perhaps the drive had jaded them and that soon they would become more attentive to each other. However this sad state of affairs continued until it was thought proper to investigate the matter. The investigation showed that the cow and calf were really no blood kin and that the original owners of the cattle lived several miles apart.

—The new bank here has been in operation a short while, and the people find it is what they have needed a long time. The firm of R. F. Smith & Co. have dissolved copartnership by mutual consent, and Ulysses Wallace has accepted a position with Mr. Smith who continues the business.

—Our town is experiencing the disorders of a small pox scare. Exaggerated reports sent broadcast over the county have had the effect of demoralizing business some. There are and have been seven or eight cases, all of whom are doing well. There has been no death. The sickest man we have had is one who took erysipelas in his arm from vaccination. The physicians and authorities think they have the matter well in hand now, and that there will be no new cases.

—One thousand and forty million gallons of beer brewed yearly in the United Kingdom equals the total amount brewed by America, France and Austria.

—John Wilber Jenkins edits the Raleigh Daily Times, brightest evening paper in the State. The Times and THE HERALD for a whole year for $3. This is an introductory offer, cash in advance.

—Those of our subscribers living at Clayton and Wilson's Mills, Selma, Pine Level and Princeton would do well to take advantage of this offer, as they can get THE Times the same day of publication, being mailed in time for the last train which leaves Raleigh each day. Remember that for three dollars you can get your county paper and a good daily for one whole year.

—The smallest baby in the world, according to all medical records, was born in this city last Saturday. The mother gave birth to twins and one weighs four pounds while the other weighs only 14 ounces. Photographer Hayes this morning took the baby's picture. It is perfectly formed and seems to be entirely well. However the physicians say that it will be very difficult to raise such a child. The little youngster is about the size of an ordinary cigar. The parents are respected citizens, living in the suburbs.—Raleigh Times.

Concerning Starling Wilson's Death.

In our issue of March 29, there appeared a statement in our Selma correspondence concerning the death of Mr. Starling Wilson which somewhat offended the friends and relatives of the family of the deceased. As we are unwilling to do any one an injustice we publish the following version furnished us by the family with a request that it be published:

"He (Mr. Wilson) in searching the Scripture read the fifth chapter of James and became convinced that the God who made him was able to heal him, and that he would, provided he would exercise faith to that extent. So he sent for the pastor of his church and other christians to come to his home and conduct an anointing service, as is plainly taught in James 5. The service was set for Sunday, March 24, at 2 p. m., and at 11 o'clock the same morning he told his son that he need not get for him any more medicine, that he would let him know when he wanted any more. So the christians met at 2 o'clock and conducted the service. He then claimed that the pain in his side was removed for the first time since he had been sick. So he, much to the approval of the christians, who were conducting the service, decided to take no more medicine, that God did not need medicine to heal him with. So the next day he took more medicine to satisfy the request of his boys and at once began to grow worse, death soon presented itself, and just before he died he roused up and told a good woman, one of the family, that the doctor told him that he could relieve him of the pain in his side, but he had not done it."

—A liberal use of paint helps the looks of town. Preston Johnson is in Richmond for a few weeks.

—Charles Johnson is recreating in upper Harnett this week. Hudson Tobacco Warehouse is nearing completion, and there is talk of another.

—Never but once was town politics as dull as now, on approach of election, and then it went by default.

—The firm of R. F. Smith & Co. have dissolved copartnership by mutual consent, and Ulysses Wallace has accepted a position with Mr. Smith who continues the business.
