China Claims to Have Discovered the Some Current Selections From His-Original Process.

The Chinese, "who invented al-The Chinese, who invented at-most everything before anybody else heard of it, claim sto be the original discoverer of the process of sugar making, and it is said that sugar was used in China as long ago as 3,000 years. This is misty, but the fort is well established that it as 3,000 years. This is misty, but the fact is well established that it was manufactured in China under the adjourned temocratic burget. Dupont. was manufactured in China under the Trin dynasty, 200 years before the Christian era. India has put forward a claim for priority of invention, but the probability is that the Hindoos learned the art of sugar ar making from the Chinese and that through them the knowledge finally spread to the western nations.

The construction of this cathedral at the end of the middle ages was practically the result of a wager. The canons heroically ruined themselves. They wanted to outdo the Christians of Toledo; they desired to surpass the Moors of Cordova; they wanted a marvel for Se-villa, and Sevilla got the marvel. The central nave is of an extraordinary height. Notre Dame of Paris could easily be put into it. As for the four side naves, they could shelter many churches and steeples in their depths. The main altar is immense, with superimposed rows of sculptured panels and numberless statues. The organ pipes are as large as cannon. Everything is huge, gigantic, overpowering.

Thus religious ceremonies born in that prodigious edifice break forth into Sevilla with a character of grandeur and lavishness; they, so to speak, inundate the streets of the city. Be it a grave epidemic to be feared or a great joy to be celebrated, all the prestige of a gorgeous ceremonial is resorted to as a means of appealing to all the inhabitants. Voluntarily organized processions tumultuously follow processions, each one larger, richer and more imposing than its predecessor .- Modern Culture.

No port lamps gleam along our sides, No banners float on high: No human lookout raises glass To scan our sea or sky.

No admirals above our decks Mid gums and gumners stand In hidden sheath to send the sound Of warlike, stern command.

Yet all the navies of the world Our bows in vain assail; We fear no amoking battle tower That thunders through the gale.

By captains gray our path is marked, By sailors white and old; For us the phantom rockets glare, And plantom bells are tolled.

Are Still Smaller. It comes as something of a sho "honey" which was made by the Asistics from cane without the help of bees. At this time neither the Grøeks nor the Jews nor the Baby-lonians had any knowledge of sug-ar, but later the art of making the artificial "honey" became known and practiced, though its progress and development were exceedingly slow. It was prescribed as a medi-cine by Galen in A. D. 150.
Up to the seventeenth century sugar had become nothing more than a costly luxury, to be used only on special occasions. Even as late as the beginning of the eight-teenth century the annual consump-tion of sugar in Great Britain had
