SOW SMALL GRAIN.

The farmers never have given enough attention to small grain, but it seems to us there are more reasons now than ever before for sowing grain. Labor is too high and too uncertain to make much if any profit in raising corn, cotton, etc. There is much less labor and therefore less expense about grain than other crops. Besides, the corn and fodder crop this year is small and the price will be very high to those who have to buy.

Rye is a great crop for winter grazing and if cut just before fully ripe it is good feed for horses and mules as well as cattle. Wheat cut in its dough state or just before it is fully ripe is first-class feed for horses, mules and cattle. Thousands of the best farmers raise it for feed only. In this case you use the wheat without paying toll to the thrasher or wheat mill. We wish to remind all who think that nothing but corn will do for horses and mules that it was not known except in America for nearly six thousand years of the world's history.

If you sow grain you have a good summer pasture for hogs, cattle, horses and mules after the grain is cut. This pasture comes in at a time when there is nothing much in the woods for stock. If you follow your grain with peas you can greatly improve your land and raise from the pea vines much feed for the winter. If you do not plant peas after your grain or pasture on the land you can generally get a good crop of crab grass hay. Rye should be planted at once and it will very soon be time to sow wheat and oats.

The Democrats of New Jersey have nominated James M. Seymour, Mayor of Newark, for Governor. Mayor Seymour has been thrice elected to the Mayorship, in a city that goes 3,000 to 4,000 Republican Majority in national elections. He has made an excellent mayor and would make equally as good a Governor should he be fortunate enough to be elected in November.

Cotton Crop Conditions.

Washington, Oct. 1.—The last weekly summary of crop conditions to be issued by the Weather Bureau this season says:

The weather conditions in the cotton belt have been very favorable for picking, except over portions of Georgia, Florida and North Carolina, where this work has retarded to some extent by rains of the latter part of the week. Picking has progressed rapidly in the central and western districts, where cotton has opened rapidly, the bulk of the crop being gathered in some sections. Over the eastern portion of the cotton belt the low temperatures of the week have damaged the staple in portions of North Carolina, Georgia and Florida, while the sea island crop of South Carolina is suffering from drought. In Texas, late cotton is being damaged by boll weevil and other insects, and the outlook for top crop is very poor.

Don't fail to see our nice line of shoes before buying we have the best line ever offered for the money. PEEDIN BROS.

WEEKLY CROP REPORT.

LAST CROP REPORT FOR THIS SEASON.

Special Cotton Bulletin May be Issued Later.

The last of the weekly crop bulletins for the season of 1901, which are issued by Director Von Herrmann of the Weather Bureau, appeared Monday.

The Weather Bureau announces that it will issue a special bulletin in case of any marked injury to the cotton crop during October, because of the lateness of the crop. The report issued Monday, which is for the week ending Monday, September 30th is as follows:

Generally fair weather prevailed during the greater portion of the past week, which was very favorable for farm work, such as picking cotton, making hay, plowing, etc., but rather low temperature from Monday to Saturday prevented much further progress in the growth of vegetables. A general rain with brisk to high easterly winds began Friday night, and some local heavy showers damaged unstacked hay and open cotton at many places on both Saturday and Sunday. The rainfall the latter part of the week was quite unnecessary and only hindered farm work. The soil is now in very good condition for plowing, and much progress in that work was made. Some winter oats have been sown, and preparations indicate that a large acreage will be seeded to winter wheat. Splendid crops of crabgrass and pea-vine hay were saved; fodder pulling is now generally completed.

The cool weather has prevented any further development of the top bolls of cotton; many bolls are small, hard, plainly immature and valueless. Shedding and rust are still reported from several sections. Cotton opened rather slowly during the week, but picking made fairly good headway, where there were sufficient hands for the work. Corn is turning out a very poor crop, except on some uplands. Tobacco is nearly all cut. Sweet potatoes are yielding fairly well, as also peanuts, rice and field peas. Fall cabbage and late Irish potatoes are poor. Turnips have improved and are growing very nicely. The season has been very favorable for setting out strawberry plants, and a considerable increase in the acreage devoted to strawberries is apparent.

Lincoln's Remains Re-Interred.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 26.—The remains of Abraham Lincoln were placed to-day in what it is expected will be its last resting place. The casket was taken from its former place in the monument to Memorial Hall, and was there reopened. It was finally placed in the vault recently completed by the Lincoln Monument Association. It is understood the remains were not in a very good state of preservation, but were easily identified.

You Can Lead a Horse to water but you can't make him drink.

You can't make him eat either. You can stuff food into a thin man's stomach but that doesn't make him use it.

Scott's Emulsion can make him use it. How? By making him hungry, of course. Scott's Emulsion makes a thin body hungry all over. Thought a thin body was naturally hungry didn't you? Well it isn't. A thin body is asleep—not working—gone on a strike. It doesn't try to use its food.

Scott's Emulsion wakes it up—puts it to work again making new flesh. That's the way to get fat.
