TOWN AND COUNTY.

—"The H. H. & B. Co."
 —The Smithfield Hardware Co.
 —J. H. Kirkman, Fire Insurance, Smithfield, N. C.
 —Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Brooks moved into their home on Oakland Heights Wednesday.
 —Work will soon commence on the new Episcopal church here, Rand & Stephenson are the contractors.
 —Mr. J. G. Flowers of the Kenly section, was in to see us one day this week and renewed his subscription for another year.
 —Messrs. N. R. Pool, of Clayton, and Wiley Batten, of Easons, called in yesterday and renewed their subscriptions to THE HERALD.
 —The Smithfield tobacco market still remains the attraction of the farmers. Large lots of the weed are being sold here daily at fancy prices.
 —Quite a number of our people surprised the family of old Mr. John Smith, who live near here, Wednesday night by giving them a liberal pounding.
 —Mr. Walter L. Fuller is receiving the congratulations of his friends. A young man and a young lady arrived Wednesday to make his home their abode.

—Neuse Lodge No. 125, K. of P. will hold a McKinley memorial service here next Thursday night, October 10th. Rev. R. W. Hines will deliver the address. The public cordially invited to attend.

—Fifty-three new subscribers were added to THE HERALD's subscription list during the month of September. We are now nearing the two thousand mark and a little help from our present subscribers would soon place the number above two thousand.

—Smithfield is to have a new market house. It is to be built by Mr. G. H. Watson and Rand & Stephenson are the contractors. It will be 10x90 feet and will contain six market stalls. It will be on Third street opposite HERALD office. Work was begun on it yesterday.

—Mr. Charley P. Johnson, of Itasca, Texas, and Prof. John W. Johnson, of Columbia, N. C., called in to see us yesterday. They were both called home on account of the illness and death of their mother, Mrs. W. B. Johnson. Prof. Johnson returned to Columbia yesterday.

—Monday October 14th, has been designated as "North Carolina Day" in the public schools of the State. The theme for the day will be the first English settlement on American soil. The day cannot be observed in this county, as but few of our public schools will begin before November 1st.

—The campaign for local taxation for schools in a portion of Wilson's Mills township is becoming warm. To-morrow (Saturday) afternoon at the Youngblood school house Prof. Ira T. Turlington, County Superintendent of Schools, will make an address on educational questions. Let the people of that section turn out and hear the address.

—The H. H. & B. Co. are displaying at their store a handsome little Buek's Junior stove which they will give on October 26th to the girl under 14 years of age who bakes the best biscuits. The little girls are very much interested and each one is determined to get it. Full particulars of the contest which will take place at the store of the H. H. & B. Co. will be announced in their advertisement in next week's HERALD.

—The Clayton Investment Company, of Clayton, has declared a dividend of 10 per cent. The company has been in business for two years and has declared dividends equal to 60 per cent. of its paid up stock. They now have a handsome surplus and its stock cannot be bought at 150. With Mr. Charles W. Horne as president, and Mr. B. M. Robertson as secretary and treasurer, this company is bound to succeed.—News and Observer.

—Rev. Whitley Langston, of Georgia, was in town yesterday. Mr. Langston is a Johnstonian who located in Georgia a few years ago and has since become a prominent member of the Georgia Conference M. E. Church. Mr. Langston was called to Johnston on account of the illness of his mother, Mrs. Delia Langston, who suffered a slight stroke of paralysis at Four Oaks a few days ago.

—The long winter nights are coming on when the people will have plenty of time to read. In order that our subscribers may have something to read that will entertain and instruct them we have made arrangements to begin next week the publication of a series of articles on "The National Period of American Literature." These articles are written by Dr. Lorenzo Sears, of Brown University, and edited by Dr. E. Benjamin Andrews, of Nebraska State University. To those who are interested in our literature these articles will be most valuable and entertaining. Be sure to begin with the first article and read every one.

—Mr. W. A. Barr, who was here last week working on the rural free delivery mail routes, was promoted upon his arrival in Washington and sent to Tennessee to lay off other routes. He was called away from this section before he had done much work, but expects to return some time soon. He laid off the route from Four Oaks toward Bentonville. This route will not cross Mill creek as it would make it too long. The people living beyond Mill creek can have a new route to connect with the one already established, and extending in the direction of Newton Grove if they will petition for it. Mr. A. B. Wellons will be the carrier on the route established and the service will be begun soon.

Parker-Brooks.

The following account of the marriage of Mr. F. H. Brooks to Miss Lelia Parker is taken from the Asheville Citizen of September 25th.

"Today at 12 o'clock in the First Presbyterian church Miss Lelia Ruth Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Parker, was married to Mr. F. H. Brooks, of Smithfield.

"As the friends of the bride gathered in the church the organist, Miss Scharthe, played the Angel's Serenade and a moment after 12 began the bridal march from Lohengrin and the wedding party came up the right aisle of the church. Preceding the bride were the ushers, Fred Parker and J. R. Jordan, and the maid of honor, Miss Nettie Parker.

"The bride on the arm of her father was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, A. K. Smith. Dr. R. F. Campbell performed the ceremony, using the simple ring service. During the marriage service 'O Promise Me' was played and Mendelssohn's wedding march as the party left the church.

"The bride wore a gown of blue broadcloth with bands of stitched blue silk as trimming. Her hat was of blue velvet, trimmed in velvet and a white breast. She carried white roses. "As maid of honor Miss Nettie Parker wore a dress of tan trimmed in lace, with tan hat. Her flowers were pink roses.

"Mr. and Mrs. Brooks left on the afternoon train for Smithfield, where Mr. Brooks is a member of the bar.

"The bride is a lovable girl and has the best wishes of a number of friends."

Is This So?

(Dedicated to F. H. B.)
 What, manage a man? any woman can
 For she knows just how to do it;
 So yield to her rule (or else you're a fool)
 But don't let your neighbors know it.
 Men think for a while, her sweet loving smile
 Is expressive of fond devotion;
 But some of them learn—what most men're discern—
 She's plotting to spring some pet notion.
 It's no use to pout or cast out a "flout"
 As every man knows, that's married;
 You may wring and twist, but she'll never desert
 Until her purpose is carried.
 Go on happy fool, enjoy your "dunce stool"
 Never fret or fume or get "stubby."
 Don't try to be wise, but see with your eyes
 And maybe she'll call you "dear hubby."
 Where ignorance is bliss, they say 'tis amiss
 And foolish to try to be wise;
 Take what's to be got, and feast on the thought
 That there's "freedom" beyond the skies.
 CLYDE.

A Card of Thanks.

MR. EDITOR:—Please allow us space in your paper to return thanks to friends for the abundant pounding given us on the evening of October 2d. We cannot find language to express our gratefulness and sincerely hope that the Lord will bless and abundantly prosper each one and that when the feebleness of old age shall have come upon them that each and every one may have friends as numerous and kind and liberal as we have. God bless you all.
 MR. AND MRS. JOHN SMITH.
