TOWN AND COUNTY.

—"The H. H. & B. Co."

—"The Smithfield Hardware Co."

—"J. H. Kirkman, Fire Insurance, Smithfield, N. C."

—"The County Board of Education will meet in called meeting next Monday."

—"Mr. G. W. F. Barbour lost a fine milch cow a few days ago from eating too many dry peas."

—"Quite a number of our people attended the Primitive Baptist Association at Cross Roads church, near Princeton, last Sunday."

—"Mr. G. H. Watson's new market house on Third street is about completed. It has six stalls conveniently arranged for market purposes."

—"We have learned that Mr. W. D. Brown, of the Earpsboro section, died Monday. He was a brother of ex-Representative Floyd Brown."

—"All the public school teachers of the county who have not secured schools for the winter would do well to write to the County Superintendent of Schools."

—"The stockholders of the Smithfield Cotton Mills are called to meet at the mill here next Thursday, November 7, at 1 o'clock, to attend to matters of importance."

—"Much interest is being manifested in the meetings at the Methodist church here. There have been quite a number of penitents and several have made professions."

—"Rev. R. W. Hines left yesterday for Kenly to hold a series of meetings at the Presbyterian church in that place. He will be assisted by Rev. F. W. Farries, of Goldsboro."

—"The County Board of Education, at a recent meeting, decided that the public schools of the county must begin each year between the middle of October and the middle of November."

—"Wednesday afternoon at the Dickens Hote, Mr. J. L. Moody, of Wilson, and Miss Victoria E. Sadler were married, Elder W. J. Stephenson officiating. After the knot was tied they drove over to Selma to take the mid-night train for Wilson."

—"We have learned that a mad dog passed by Mr. Sanders Peedin's several days ago and bit two of his finest hogs. Last Sunday, about ten days after they were bitten, these hogs showed signs of hydrophobia and had to be killed. It is feared that they bit other hogs before being killed."

—"Do you read the farm items on the sixth page of this paper? If so we hope you are interested and will help us make this department a success. We want letters for publication from farmers in all parts of the county giving their success and views. They can be of use to each other by using THE HERALD to talk with each other."

—"We return our thanks to Mrs. R. F. Webb, of this place, for a box of beautiful chrysanthemums. They now adorn our desk and are the admiration of those who happen to call at our sanctum. Mrs. Webb, who is one of Smithfield's most cultured ladies, is a great lover of flowers and gives much attention to her flower garden, which is each season a scene of beauty and loveliness."

—"Miss Sallie W. Stockard, author of the "History of Alamance County," and "The Lily of the Valleys," a paraphrase of the Song of Solomon, was in town yesterday and gave this office a pleasant call. She is selling the last named book and we understand she is meeting with success. Miss Stockard is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, getting her degree, A. M., from that great institution of learning in 1900. She is also a relative of the poet Henry Jerome Stockard."

—"A posse under Deputy Collector J. P. H. Adams and Deputy Marshal L. W. Mangum made a raid in O'Neals and Wilders townships this week and captured and cut up three illicit distilleries. At the first was found about 800 gallons of beer and 40 gallons of low wines. At the second 200 gallons of beer was found and 48 gallons of low wines was found at the third. Some of the operators of the stills were caught while others made their escape. The stills were located between Little River and Buffalo."

A MUCH STRICKEN FAMILY.
A Mother and Three Daughters Died Within Three Weeks of Typhoid fever.

Mrs. Walter Woodall died at her home near Ezra Monday, after several weeks' illness of typhoid fever. She was a daughter of the late James O. Lassiter and a sister of Mrs. Charley Woodall and Mrs. Geo. W. Keen, whose deaths of the same dreadful malady have recently been reported in this paper.

Mrs. Eleanor Lassiter, mother of the above-named ladies, died this week also. We understand that she also had typhoid fever. She was something over 60 years of age.

Mrs. Junius Lassiter, of near Glenmore, is very ill of the same disease and we heard yesterday afternoon that all hopes of her recovery had been abandoned. She is also a daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Lassiter.

The hand of death is falling very heavily on this family—mother and three daughters dead within three weeks. It is one of the sad and strange dispensations of Providence, one which we cannot understand. The bereaved have the sympathy of all who know them. May God sustain them in their great grief.

High prices at the Farmers Warehouse at all times.

AN INTERESTING EVENT.

Forty Little Cooks and Four Hundred Biscuits at the Holt Hardware and Buggy Co's Store.

The much talked of biscuit-making contest came off at the store of the Holt Hardware and Buggy Company Tuesday afternoon and was participated in by nearly forty little girls, under 14 years of age, from Smithfield and surrounding community.

The prize was an attractive one, being a Buck's Junior Range, and each little girl entered the contest hoping that she might become its possessor.

The contest was conducted by Mr. O. P. Perkins, of St. Louis, Mo., the clever representative of the Buck's Stove and Range Co. Each little girl was given a pint of flour. From this she was allowed to make as many biscuits as she wished and have them baked by a skilled cook on a large Buck's stove. It was interesting to watch these little girls, eager and self-possessed as they mixed the ingredients and kneaded the dough.

When the last batch of biscuits had been baked the little cooks were sent outside and the door closed, in order that the judges, Mrs. L. R. Waddell, Mrs. Anna M. Pou, Mrs. Ira T. Turlington, Mrs. John A. Narron and Mrs. H. L. Skinner, might examine the biscuits and decide who was the winner. During this time the little folks gathered in the middle of the street and played children's games, almost completely blocking the thoroughfare.

Each little girl held a number corresponding with the number of her plate of biscuits. The contest was absolutely fair as the judges had no idea who baked the plate of biscuits accorded the prize until it was announced to them. The number of the winner was nine and was held by little Miss Mildred Sanders, of Smithfield.

When the name of the winner was announced the other contestants applauded and gathered around her warmly congratulated her on her success.

During the afternoon refreshments were served by Mrs. T. R. Crocker and Mrs. H. D. Ellington. Many of the townspeople were present making it altogether an enjoyable occasion.

We estimate that more than 400 biscuits were baked during the contest.

We understand that another contest is to be given soon, though of a different nature. It will be announced soon in the columns of THE HERALD.

Mrs. G. W. F. Barber Dead.

Yesterday morning Mrs. Mary Ann Barber, wife of Mr. George W. F. Barber, died at their home in Brooklyn, after several weeks' illness of typhoid fever. She was thought to be improving until Tuesday night when she began to grow worse, dying yesterday morning about nine o'clock.

Mrs. Barber was a daughter of the late Cornelius Stevenson and a sister of Register of Deeds, J. W. Stephenson. She was about 38 years of age and leaves a husband, seven children, one brother and two sisters.

She was a member of the Smithfield Primitive Baptist church and was a good Christian woman, loved by her friends and neighbors.

Her remains will be laid to rest in the cemetery here today by the side of her son, who died only a few weeks ago.

May God sustain and comfort the bereaved family.

BY JUCKS, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN!

Pompey, Squash and Patt have just arrived at Watson's, the peanut man. They have been on a long voyage to South America gathering up fruits for Watson, such as

Cocoanuts, Banannas, Oranges,

Grapes, and other tropical fruits. Patt, in your speech, why do you say ladies before gentlemen?

Why, Pompey, because ladies is first, bejazer. Not that they came here first, but soon after Adam came Eve come; that made the man first. They opened a school and Adam stood head, but the first word given out to spell was Constantinople, Adam could not spell the word; Eve spelled it and cut Adam down. So, since that time women have stood head.

So, ladies and gentlemen, when you come out to Smithfield call to see us. We can amuse you with our lion, tiger, and a nice line of performers, such as tight rope walkers and horseback riders, bejazer.

PINE WOOD WANTED.

Bids are invited on pine wood to be delivered at the Smithfield Cotton Mills on and after Dec. 1st. Full particulars can be obtained by applying to

A CONVERSATION.

First farmer:—"Where did you sell to-day?"

Second farmer:—"At the River-side, and that old man Paylor—"

First farmer:—"How did you like your prices?"

Second farmer:—"I got $21.96 more than I expected and I just tell you when that old man Paylor gets through and that man Lassiter quits showing it, there is enough done. I am going back to-morrow with another load."

First farmer:—"I am going to carry all mine there. I tell you, I like them fellows."

$5.00 REWARD.

Last June two heifer yearlings, near two years old, strayed from the farm of S. H. Brady, near Princeton. One is a Jersey and the other red and white spotted. I will give five dollars for their return to me at Smithfield.

W. L. BRADY.

PLEASE PAY UP.

All those who owe me are requested to settle with Will H. Lassiter at Riverside Warehouse, Smithfield, or with me. Please attend to these accounts and save trouble. R. I. LASSITER, Spilona, N. C.
