DON'T THROW AWAY YOUR MONEY.

Many thousands of dollars will come into this section this fall from the sale of tobacco, cotton and other farm products. Farmers are learning to make more per acre each year, and as prices are better much more money is handled than formerly. These conditions make times better for all our people, for it is impossible to make much money among a people who never have any for themselves.

The next best thing to making money is to take care of it. This, many of us have not yet learned to do. When we get it, instead of keeping it, our fingers and pockets seem to burn until we have parted with all of it. It is surprising to see how readily many farmers spend their money and how helpless they become when it is gone.

Don't throw away your money trading. Some people seem to think that as soon as they get a little money they should become speculators and be ready to set themselves up as traders on anything which comes along. The right rule is to buy only such things as are actually needed, and see to it that the prices paid are reasonable prices. Part of the money should be saved for purchases during the spring and summer months.

Don't throw away your money for alcoholic liquors. If spent this way it is worse than wasted. Besides taking the money these liquors injure instead of benefit. Think of the young man who works hard to make money and then spends it for strong drink to injure himself and others. Such a course prevents many young men from getting married, from getting good positions and from making a good start in life. It is too bad to be debarred from society, from paying positions and from success on account of liquor drinking. Think of a farmer working hard and working his children like they were slaves to make money to be spent for drink when it should go for the improvement of the home and the education of the children, and other things that go to make life better and happier. There are now in Johnston cider and wine stands, blockade distilleries, blind tigers and a dispensary which are so many money traps for the cash which is coming into the hands of the people. Will they part with their hard earned money for strong drink? We hope not.

There are six towns in the county which have banks. Why not start a bank account and keep the money where it will be safe? We want to see the farmers reach a point where they will not have to make a mortgage every winter for supplies during spring and summer. We hope they will take care of their money and thus avoid the mortgage.

In another column in this paper will be found a well-written tribute to our countyman, Mr. Ashley Horne. This was written by one of the best women of the county, one who knows Mr. Horne well. In her words of commendation, she but voices the sentiment of hundreds of others of the wives and mothers and daughters of the county. While they cannot vote their silent influence has had a telling effect on many a hard-fought campaign.

Many hearts in North Carolina have sympathized with Senator and Mrs. S. M. Beasley in the loss of their little boy, Kenneth, who disappeared so mysteriously from their home in Currituck county February 13th, 1905. Nothing has ever been heard of the boy since. Soon after his disappearance suspicion rested on Joshua Harrison as the kidnaper. The court found him guilty, and he was sentenced to serve 20 years in the penitentiary. An appeal was taken to the Supreme Court which affirmed the lower court. And then the final chapter in the tragic affair closed with Harrison putting a bullet in his brain. Rather than serve his sentence he preferred to stand before the Great Judge and receive a just sentence and from which no appeal can be taken. Whether or not Harrison was guilty of the crime which he was charged will perhaps never be known, but many believe in his guilt. The whole affair is one of the saddest in our State's history, and many, many years will pass before it is forgotten.

His many friends throughout the county and district will learn with much pleasure that Congressman E. W. Pou has returned home completely restored to health. He is, as is already well known, a candidate to succeed himself in Congress. Strong assurances of active support are coming to him from every section of the District. The people say this is no time to change our Representative in Congress.

The Wyatt Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy at Selma are engaged in a commendatory undertaking and it is earnestly hoped that they may succeed in raising the necessary amount for the Wyatt monument early enough for the unveiling to take place next June. Next Wednesday they are to have an Educational Rally at Selma and the friends of education are urged to attend.

The reports from the colleges show larger attendance at the openings than ever before. Almost every college is full and new students continue to enter. This is as it should be and means much for the future success and development of the Old North State.

The Women Are For Horne.

(COMMUNICATED.)

The women of the grand old State are, and ever have been, content to trust to their husbands and sons the divine right of suffrage; have ever felt proud of the privilege of teaching these sons to love strength, morality and purity of character; setting before them lofty ideals of manhood and citizenship; pointing them proudly to the names and characters of the grand men, who have so marvelously guided the helm of the State. While husbands and sons have joyously proclaimed the victory of ballots, that has given us Vance, Jarvis, and Glenn, her heart, with glowing enthusiasm, burned within, for might not she also claim a share in the victory? Must it then seem presumptuous if a wife and mother, with the zeal of the Old North State at heart, express her appreciation of the rare virtues and extreme fitness of our beloved citizen, Hon. Ashley Horne, for the exalted position of Governor of our fair Commonwealth? Having been a life-long resident of the same good county that has given him to us, and an interested observer of men and events, enjoying a personal acquaintance with this man in his home life, thus gaining a knowledge of his broad capacity, of his goodness of heart and nobility of character, manifested in his dealings with his fellow man, all lead us to hope that he may receive from the staunch sons of Democracy the nomination as the worthy successor of our great R. B. Glenn.
