Obituary.

Little John G. Woodall, son of Mr. Festus L. and Mrs. Hetty Woodall, was born January 26, 1904 and died May 7, 1909. He was sick only a few days, his trouble being a mastoid trouble. He had been a very healthy child until the time when the fatal disease struck him. Everything was done for his recovery which medical skill could do, but God thought it was best to take him.

The little fellow bore his afflictions with great patience, scarcely complaining during his illness.

He was a very sweet child, amiable, gentle and obedient to his parents who loved him with true devotion. While his little place in the home is vacant and his glad happy voice is no longer heard, he is in the land of perfect bliss in the arms of Him who said "suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not." Weep not, parents. Your loss is his eternal gain. P. D. W.

Mesdames Curry and Eversole.

It is hard to find a remedy suited to the ills of children, yet Mrs. Curry of Trowbridge, Ill., and Mrs. Eversole of Hindsboro, Ill., claim to have found it, and they are naturally anxious to let the rest of the world know. They say this remedy is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the great laxative, tonic and regulator. It is one of the few remedies useful to children that does not contain narcotics. It will do all that is claimed, and if you want to try it before buying, send your address for a free sample bottle to Pepsin Syrup Co., 119 Caldwell Bldg., Monticello, Ill. It is sold by Hood Bros. at 50c and $1 a bottle.

We now have one of the handsomest Drug stores in the county since the old one has been remodeled and white press brick front with plate glass put in.

The County Medical Society of Johnston County met here today with the following present: Drs. Wharton, Vick, Hooks, Grady and Coleman, of Johnston, and Drs. Moore and Smith, of Wilson.

We were glad to see Rev. Mr. Culbreth able to fill his appointment at the M. E. church Sunday.

REPORTER.

Kenly, May 11.

Attention, Confederate Veterans.

The annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans, will be held in Memphis, Tenn., on the 8th, 9th, and 10th of June. It is confidently hoped that the Railroads will give the usual low rates of one cent per mile, which will make the fare about sixteen dollars from here. A monument to Gen. Stephen D. Lee will be unveiled at Vicksburg, Miss., on the 11th of June, and special trains from Memphis will take all there for three dollars. The distance is about two hundred miles and all that can be urged to go. Walter R. Moore's Camp dues are paid and the delegates' badges are on hand and all who expect to go should communicate with me at once, that I may notify the proper committee in Memphis. The committee has notified me that all Confederates who expect the city to care for them, must bring their blankets with them and the city will furnish the hash and good quarters and as good a time as if you had "joined the cavalry."

Free Lumber in the Senate.

The debate in the Senate on Wednesday has confirmed what has been known concerning the position of a small fraction of Democratic members in favor of maintaining the duties on lumber. This merely goes to show that in the Democratic party, as in other political organizations, there are men with whom its principles are not potent enough to withstand the call of real or imaginary selfishness or local interest. But these few individuals, though temporarily representing great States, cannot seriously affect the policy of the party if they may occasionally interfere with its success. They only betray the fact that upon the one paramount issue before Congress and the country they are not to be trusted. On the floor of the Senate and on the stump they volubly declaim against the iniquity of the Republican tariff system, and when it comes to legislation lend their support in behalf of protective duties which many Republicans, including the President of the United States, are convinced of the justice and wisdom of reducing in the interest of the millions of consumers of the country.

For their recusancy these Senators make the flimsy protest that the duties on lumber are for revenue, and therefore in accordance with Democratic policy, notwithstanding the Denver platform. They overlook the fact that free lumber is not only in the platform policy of the Democratic party, but in its legislative action whenever the opportunity has arisen. Lumber was made free long ago by the Democrats in the reciprocity treaty with Canada and the party has given its votes for and subsequently in the Wilson tariff. On every occasion in Congress free lumber as a crude material of American manufactures and as an article of necessity. In restoring the duties on lumber the Republicans left the cabinet woods of Central America on the free list, although these imports could be made a source of considerable revenue. When reimposing the duties on Canadian lumber they did not conceal their purpose of protection, and these Democrats of the Senate, in supporting the Aldrich lumber schedule, are voting not for revenue but for the Republican policy of protection. On the other hand, the Democratic policy has always been to make free lumber, coal, iron ore, wool and all other materials of manufactures; and in this the Democracy have effectually repelled the charge of unfriendliness to development of American industries. The manufacturers of the country are now fast conceding that these industries have in the Democratic policy of free raw materials for American industries their best friend.

As for the revenue from lumber, the official returns show that all told it amounted last fiscal year to a little more than $4,000,000. A duty of one cent a pound on coffee would yield more than twice as much revenue as this tax on a crude material of American industry. The revenue from this tax is but a poor compensation for the ravage of the country's forests stimulated by the exclusion of Canadian lumber. At any rate, the lumber duties are at war with the time-honored policy of the Democratic party, whether they be levied for revenue or for protection.—Philadelphia Record.

HIGH-O-ME.

That's the Way to Pronounce Hyomei, the Money-Back Catarrh Cure.

As doubt exists in the minds of many readers of The Herald let us say that the above is the proper pronunciation of America's most wonderful catarrh cure. Hood Bros. are the agent for Hyomei in Smithfield and they will sell you an inhaler, a bottle of Hyomei, and full instructions for use, for only $1.00.

And if it fails to cure acute or chronic catarrh, asthma, bronchitis, croup, hay fever or coughs and colds, they will give you your money back. The person who suffers from catarrh after such an offer as that, must like to snuffle, spit and wheeze and be generally disgusting.

Read what Mr. G. F. Lowe says: "I have used Hyomei for a case of nasal catarrh which had bothered me for a long time. I can say that Hyomei killed the germs of the disease and gave me the much sought and needed relief. From this experience I know Hyomei to be a reliable remedy, and I give it the praise and recommendation that it deserves."—G. F. Lowe, R. F. D. No. 7, Allegan, Mich., September 19, 1908.

The New Book-keeper at the Bank of Pine Level.

The new book-keeper at the Bank of Pine Level is arousing a good deal of interest among local business-men. It is nothing but a machine—"brains in a box", they call it—but it was sold on a life contract to do all the adding and "figuring" required by the bank every day.

Its real name is the Burroughs adding and listing machine, and it will put down figures in long columns and add them up faster than six expert book-keepers. Moreover, the makers guarantee that it cannot make a mistake, as the best book-keeper will sometimes do. This makes it an insurance of the accuracy of the bank's accounts with its patrons, and shows the progressiveness of the bank officials.

William Seward Burroughs, who invented the wonderful adding machine, was a bank clerk whose health was destroyed by the drudgery of bank work and had to give it up to save his life. He thereupon resolved to invent a machine that would do the hard work in a bank, although no one had succeeded out of hundreds of inventors who had attempted the task. That was a quarter century ago, and Burroughs worked for years before he had even a model of his invention to show. He met with very little encouragement or assistance in those dark days, because everyone regarded him as a "crank" who was trying to achieve the impossible.

At last, however, he produced a rough model that would actually set down figures and add them, but it was years after that before he had an entirely practical machine that could be placed on the market, and even then he was not satisfied, for he called in the first hundred machines that were sold, took them to an upper story of the building where he had his workshop and threw the whole lot of machines one on top of the other in a shapeless mass of scrap on the paving of the courtyard below. It is not hard to believe that he shed tears as he thus voluntarily destroyed what was practically his life work.

But that was not the end. Burroughs continued to strive for perfection, until at last he produced a machine that was pronounced perfect. This is the Burroughs adding and listing machine of today, and although it has been in successful operation for over 15 years, it has never been improved upon. The essential principles of the device as it left Burroughs' hands remain unchanged today.

The machine which is doing the book-keeping at the local bank is but one of the 58 different styles now turned out at the Burroughs factory. There are machines to list and add fractions, yards, feet and inches, English money, tons and cwt., etc. Some of the machines are designed to make out monthly statements, in addition to doing their usual work. They print the statements from an endless printed roll, setting down dates, debits and credits in separate columns.

On these machines the world's speed records have been made, one operator performing the feat of listing and adding the amount of 500 assorted bank checks in the remarkable time of 6 minutes, 18 seconds.

The cashier of the bank is greatly pleased with his new book-keeper, and extends an invitation to business men to call at the bank and see how it adds.—Special.

TWENTY-ONE DIE IN WRECK.

Steamer Shores Goes Down In Lake Superior With All on Board.

Duluth, Minn., May 7.—The steamer Adella Shores, a wooden boat, 290 feet long, 35 feet beam, with a tonnage of 738 gross, engaged in a general Lake traffic, is reported to have sunk off Whitefish Point, in Lake Superior, with all on board. The crew and passengers consisted of twenty-one people.

Sailors on board the Northland, which reached this port this evening, brought the news of the probable disaster. As the Northland was passing the point wreckage was discovered all about the path of the steamer.

The Shores was in command of Capt. Holmes. She was bound for Duluth and was six days overdue. It is thought the Shores was sent to the bottom of Lake Superior by the same gale that foundered the Russia, Nestor, and Aurania several days ago, when the winds swept the Lake at a seventy-mile velocity.

The owner of the boat says he is sure the wreckage sighted is from the Shores.

When Her Back Aches

A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Smithfield women know how the aches and pains make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headaches, dizzy spells, distressing urinary troubles, all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of the stealthy approach of diabetes, dropsy and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cure all these disorders. Here's proof of it in a Smithfield woman's words:

Mrs. J. R. Bailey, Hudson St., Smithfield, N. C., says: "I wish to express my high opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills, having used them with most beneficial results. I had considerable backache and at times was hardly able to do my housework on account of the dull pains in my kidneys. The kidney secretions were very unnatural and the annoyance caused by the too frequent passages ran down my health. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I started using them and soon felt their good effect. My kidneys were restored to their normal condition, the pains in my back disappeared and my strength and energy returned. Doan's Kidney Pills can be relied upon to give relief from troubles arising from disordered kidneys."

For sale by all dealers Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
