WORK AT A. & E. COLLEGE.

Only 25 Seniors Out of 85 Present to Receive Diplomas. Rest Gone Into Army Service.

Raleigh, May 29.—Twenty-five seniors of the 85 who would have attended the commencement exercises of the State College of Agriculture and Engineering, went out today.

The college has furnished more than 60 men to the army service of the country and today when Ambassador Henry Morgenthau, lately returned from Turkey, made the final address to the graduating class.

Discussing the plans of the college for the summer today members of the faculty indicated that its purposes to meet, with the courses offered, the immediate needs of the country have gained intensity by the commencement messages.

The school has ten courses in agriculture and five in home economics. The peculiar needs of State and Nation, therefore, call for special preparation and the institution which gets its accent on engineering and agriculture with the acute emphasis upon agriculture in the seven weeks that will be gone over between June 12 and July 27 of this year.

The faculty has put the school within such easy reach as to make the first visit of scores to Raleigh a happy combination of work and recreation. The college dormitories, dining-rooms, Y. M. C. A., gymnasium, swimming pool and the college physician are the student's on call.

Farm Loan Association for Oneals.

Hare's Store, May 26.—There was held a meeting at Hare's Store Saturday, May 19th, for the purpose of permanently organizing a Federal Farm Loan Association for Oneals township.

Cherries are canned without the seed and should always be put in glass jars. The acid is frequently so strong that it eats through tin.

Don't waste bits of bread. Use them in puddings or in dressings for meat. Don't despise skim milk and buttermilk.

Don't throw away scraps of meat and fat. Use meat in soup, hash, croquets, and fats for frying and shortening.

Cook potatoes in the peel. Tests have shown that 20 per cent is lost when potatoes are peeled before cooking.

ECONOMY IN THE HOME.

Canning the Surplus Berries, by Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon, State Agent, Home Demonstration Division of Agricultural Extension Service.

This is the season when one begins to think of canning berries and small fruit. Already strawberries have been made into jam which, by the way, is the best way to save this particular berry.

Blackberries, dewberries, whortleberries, and cherries are of firmer fiber and may be canned most successfully. The condition of the fruit has much to do with the quality of the product.

It is best to can all acid berries in glass or else to put them in enamel lined cans, because if canned in ordinary tin cans the berries will lose both color and flavor very quickly.

When berries have been washed place them in a thin cotton bag and plunge in boiling water one minute. This will soften them slightly.

Where there is a poor stand of cotton replant with soybeans or peas. Also plant these crops in corn.

Save all the clover and vetch seed possible. Both are going to be unusually scarce and high priced.

Brush all the chickens you can, whether you live in the country or in town. Shut up the cocks and cockerels and preserve your surplus eggs in water glass solution.

Raise and eat all the fresh vegetables you can and can all the surplus you can't eat.

Eat more potatoes, corn and other starchy vegetables in place of wheat bread, and beans and other protein vegetables instead of meat.

Don't throw away scraps of meat and fat. Use meat in soup, hash, croquets, and fats for frying and shortening.

Cook potatoes in the peel. Tests have shown that 20 per cent is lost when potatoes are peeled before cooking.

A POWERFUL APPEAL IS MADE.

This Year In Which Everybody Should Utilize Their Every Energy to Prevent Waste and to Make Every Inch of Tillable Land Productive of Food or Feedstuffs for Man or for Beast.

(By John Paul Lucas.)

Too many of our people are regarding the food emergency, which is really just in its incipency, as a problem for the farmer, the trucker, their neighbor or someone else more or less remote from themselves.

A large number of people who realize their individual responsibility have asked themselves and others "What can I do?" In answer to this question and for the information of others who may have given the matter no thought I am giving below a list of recommendations that are being made to farmer, housewife, gardener and citizen generally.

Cultivate and fertilize every available foot of tillable land that you can possibly take care of.

Put stubble land in corn, soy beans, peas, potatoes or sorghum as soon as the grain is off.

Where there is a poor stand of cotton replant with soybeans or peas.

Save all the clover and vetch seed possible.

Breed all sows and gilts for fall pigs and be sure to raise sufficient feed for them—in the form of pastures principally.

Raise all the chickens you can, whether you live in the country or in town.

Eat more potatoes, corn and other starchy vegetables in place of wheat bread, and beans and other protein vegetables instead of meat.

Don't throw away scraps of meat and fat. Use meat in soup, hash, croquets, and fats for frying and shortening.

Cook potatoes in the peel. Tests have shown that 20 per cent is lost when potatoes are peeled before cooking.

Don't waste bits of bread. Use them in puddings or in dressings for meat.
