CONFERENCE AT ELIZABETH.

Convened Wednesday Morning and Has Been Well Attended. Several Visitors Representing Different Departments of the Church's Work Present.

The Raleigh District Conference convened with Elizabeth church six miles west of Smithfield Wednesday morning in annual session.

The Conference has been well attended, most of the charges in the district having representatives present.

The different departments of the church's work in the State had representatives present. Among those we note:

President W. P. Few, of Trinity College. President R. B. John and Mrs. John, of Carolina College, Maxton.

Rev. Mr. Curtis, of Greensboro Woman's College.

Representatives of Emory University of Atlanta, and the Church Extension Board were present and presented their claims.

The conference will close to-day.

Hearing Before Referee James A. Wellons.

Judge J. S. Manning, representing the plaintiffs, and Messrs. Armstead Jones, W. B. Jones and R. N. Sims, Judge Crawford Biggs, and Mr. James Templeton, all of Raleigh, were in the city Wednesday to argue the case of L. B. Woodall against The Western Wake Highway Commission before Referee James A. Wellons.

This case was referred by Mr. Wellons, who took the evidence for 10 days in Raleigh last April in a suit brought by the plaintiffs against the defendants contesting an election held in a certain part of Wake County to issue $130,000 worth of bonds to build a Sheet Asphalt Road from Raleigh to Cary.

Voted to Extend the Street Paving.

At a meeting of the Commissioners of the town of Smithfield Tuesday night, July 10th, it was voted to extend the paving of the streets from the Myatt House two blocks to Hancock street where Mr. E. G. Smith lives. Two of the commissioners were absent, but with the others the vote stood four to one for the paving resolution.

Met the Foreign Commissioners.

Miss Annie Ihrie Pou returned several days ago from a most interesting trip of several weeks to Washington, Green Briar Springs, Atlantic City and New York. She was in Washington during the visits of the English, French and Italian Missions to this country and heard the heads of the commissions speak in Congress. She also had the pleasure of shaking hands with Balfour, of England, Joffre and Viviani, of France, Prince Eudine and Marconi, the inventor of the wireless, of Italy.

Two Meetings.

Rev. J. M. Duncan will begin a series of meetings at Parrish Memorial Baptist church the 5th Sunday morning in July.

Rev. J. M. Duncan and Rev. C. W. Blanchard will begin a meeting at Princeton Baptist church on Friday night, August 10th.

Limited Supply of Cans.

There is a limited supply of No. 3 cans at the warehouse ready for delivery. We have had the bill of lading for the No. 2 cans for more than a week and hope to have them in a few days. If there is a demand for a larger order of cans in any community or if one person will need a large number, we will be glad to order them for you and can probably furnish enough to tide you over until the order arrives. It will take from ten to twelve days to get another supply.

Later—The car of No. 2 cans arrived yesterday. You can call and get them.

NELL PICKENS.

In Case of Fire.

So many members of the Fire Company have volunteered to fight for our country that it is necessary for us to call on the citizens to help fight fire until we can organize a new company. I have several coats and will be glad to furnish them to those interested. "Do your bit."

H. L. SKINNER, Mayor. E. L. WOODALL, Fire Chief.
