- Rowden W. Hill, Smithfield.
- Arthur V. Hinton, Smithfield.
- James Parnell, Smithfield, N. C.
- Robt. F. Lee, Smithfield, N. C.

The boys left here Saturday afternoon in good spirits after enjoying a good dinner at the Smithfield Hotel. They were in charge of Herschel V. Rose, with Arthur V. Hinton second in command.

In the bunch were two brothers, Rowden and Buck Hill. They lived alone with their friend, Robert F. Lee, near Smithfield. When it was found that the two Hill boys were to go Saturday young Lee wanted to go too, so he came up and volunteered to go with them. Since he had passed and was not exempted the Board took him and the three boys went on their way rejoicing.

The Canning Kitchen.

There is a place of savory grace,
Most scrupulously clean,
Where every pot's without a spot,
And sterilized each bean;
Where system rules the very tools
And every cook's a queen!

There day by day the gold and gray,
From hovel and estate,
Bring garden truck to try their luck
Before it is too late;
For Hoover claims that frugal dainties
Can seal a nation's fate!

O you may knit and do your bit,
Or you may cut and sew;
Or you may strive a car to drive,
Or wield a spade and hoe;
But there's a thrill when jars you fill
None but preservers know!

For there is joy without alloy
In saving every beet;
To put up jam for Uncle Sam
Is solemn work—and sweet!
And stripes and stars with rows of jars
May keep us from defeat!

—Anne P. L. Field, of the Vigilantes.
A rise in the cotton market since last Friday of three cents per pound puts the present price at 24 cents.

THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Constitution and By-Laws of the Smithfield Chamber of Commerce Adopted Tuesday Evening, September 18, 1917.

Section 1. This organization shall be known as the Chamber of Commerce of Smithfield, N. C., and have for its purpose the upbuilding, improvement and betterment of the town along the lines of material and industrial development, and commercial, educational and moral advancement. It will endeavor to do its work by enlisting the harmonious and hearty cooperation of all professions and institutions in town.

Sec. 2. The officers shall be a President, four Vice-Presidents, a Secretary and Treasurer, and a board of five directors, all of whom shall be elected annually on Tuesday night after the second Monday in September of each and every year by a majority of the members of the Chamber of Commerce present who are in good standing at the time of said election. All members who shall have paid their dues in full before any election shall be in good standing and entitled to vote.

Sec. 3. The duties of the president shall be to preside over all meetings of the Chamber and the meetings of the board of directors and appoint all committees, to call the Chamber to meet any time that in his judgment shall be necessary, and in company with the board of directors, shall consider and divide the work that is to be done by the Chamber into four departments, and the head of each department shall be one of the vice-presidents, whose duty it shall be to preside over his separate department, and under the direction of the board of directors shall direct the operation of the same.

Sec. 4. In the absence of the president it shall be the duty of one of the vice-presidents to preside over the meetings; the first if present, if not the second, etc. The First Vice-President shall be chairman of a committee of three whose duty it shall be to pay special attention to getting located in Smithfield and the building in and around Smithfield of manufacturing enterprises of all kinds. The Second Vice-President shall be chairman of a committee of three whose duty shall be to pay special attention to educational facilities, sanitation and advertising. The Third Vice-President shall be chairman of a committee of three whose duty it shall be to pay special attention to railroad facilities, convenient and proper depot and warehouses, and to transportation of all kinds. The Fourth Vice-President shall be chairman of a committee of three whose duty it shall be to pay special attention to the development of stock, cattle, sheep and poultry raising, and the development of agriculture in all its branches.

Sec. 5. There shall be a Secretary and Treasurer whose duty it shall be to keep a roll of all the members, record and keep the minutes of the meetings of the Chamber of Commerce, as well as all meetings of the board of directors, collect all the membership fees, attend to all correspondence of the Chamber, and draw vouchers for the payment of money when directed to do so by the governing board of the Chamber of Commerce. The Secretary and Treasurer shall enter into a bond of the sum of five hundred dollars payable to the Chamber of Commerce of Smithfield, N. C., conditional upon his faithful and accurate accounting for all funds entrusted or paid to him.

Sec. 6. The board of directors and officers shall meet on Tuesday night after the second Monday in each month at an hour suitable for the season, in the Mayor's office, and by the call of the President, more often, if necessary, and shall direct the management of any and all matters which may be brought before the said Chamber.

Sec. 7. The membership dues shall be fifty cents per month (six dollars a year) payable in advance.

Sec. 8. The Secretary and Treasurer shall receive a salary of $25.00 per month.

Sec. 9. The Chamber of Commerce of Smithfield, N. C., shall meet in regular session on Tuesday night after the second Monday in September, December, March and June, or more often at the call of the President.

Sec. 10. In case of vacancy among the officers or on board of directors the same shall be filled by the officers and board of directors in joint session.

Sec. 11. The Order of business shall be as follows:

1. Roll call.
2. Reading of the minutes of the last meeting.
3. Reading reports of officers.
4. Report of Secretary and Treasurer.
5. Unfinished business.
6. Report of Special business.
7. New business.

Sec. 12. This Constitution and By-Laws may be amended at any regular meeting by majority vote after thirty days notice has been given.

Sec. 13. Twelve members present shall constitute a quorum.

SELMA SCHOOL NOTES.

Everybody is talking of how Selma is in its most prosperous year, in the educational line especially. School opened this year with an enrollment of 380 pupils, a great increase over the previous year. The enrollment now is a large number over 400. There are also two cotton mill schools doing splendid work for the uplift of the town.

People of the community have realized the situation of the educational affairs and have appropriated $22,000 in bonds to pay off the school indebtedness. This was done on last Tuesday, by a large majority.

"The draft is on so let's get back to the day's work" is one of the posters we see stuck up in public places. This is going to be applied to our school this year, it seems, the way things are beginning, and Selma will be the talk of the County and State.

Mr. Archer visited the school last Thursday. He wished us a very prosperous school year and wanted us to meet Greensboro face to face in the debate at Chapel Hill. To attain this, we must make a hard hit while our society is in its infancy. But after this hit is made don't stop, pound it to death in its old age.—H. R.

Thursday the girls from the seventh to the eleventh grade met in the school auditorium for the purpose of organizing a literary society. Miss Boseman first stated the purpose of the meeting and then called on Lena Johnson to act as chairman. The first thing for the society to do was to elect officers. They were as follows: Rena King, as President; Lillian Snipes, as Vice-President; Lelia Straughn, as Secretary; Julia Ashworth, as Censor, and Esther Vinson as Reporter. A committee was then appointed by the president to plan the name, colors and motto for the society. These were Miriam Brietz, Margaret Cameron, Elizabeth Earp, Margie Boney, and Lena Johnson. The president also appointed a program committee. These were Lelia Straughn, Lillian Snipes, and Mabel Wilkinson. After the officers had been elected, Mr. Moser talked to the girls about the benefit of a good, live literary society, after which the meeting adjourned. E. V.

Our Domestic Science class has increased enormously this year. There were only fifteen members last year while there are forty members this year. This proves that the girls of this school are becoming more interested in home economics, and this is what every American needs to practice to-day. We are realizing what the word economy means more than ever before.

We spent the first week in taking notes and instructions. This week, we began work. Monday and Wednesday are the days on which we sew and Tuesday and Thursday the days we cook. Friday is the day on which we recite. L. S.

On last Thursday, September thirteenth, one of the best things toward having a successful school term was begun when the boys of the High School organized a Literary Society. Professor Moser made a short talk on the good of literary societies. After this officers were elected as follows: Edward Pierce, President. Elmore Earp, Vice-President. Linwood Richardson, Treasurer. Orman Bailey, Secretary. Professor Moser, Temporary Critic. Selma, Sept. 20, 1917.

WILSON'S MILLS SCHOOL NEWS.

(By Harriet Uzzle.)
Our people are quick to patronize anything educational and doubly so when it is both educational and humanitarian. Inspired by such motives the following motored or took train to Raleigh Wednesday to see the picture given for the benefit of the Red Cross: Mr. W. G. Wilson and wife, Mr. J. A. Wilson and wife, Mr. Harry Wilson, Mrs. D. O. Uzzle, Mrs. P. H. Massey and children.

Mr. Porter Johnson was a visitor in our town Friday.

Mr. C. S. Garrison went to Selma Thursday night.

Mrs. R. A. Pope, the wife of our principal, returned Friday evening from Granville County where she has been visiting relatives for the past week.

We were glad to welcome Miss Addie Beaty, Mr. Lehman Underwood, and Miss Mary Mangum as members of our growing High School this week. The first two named were pupils in our school last year; the latter is from Creedmore which, incidentally, maintains a State High School, once served by Professor Pope.

Mr. A. G. Boyd has recently purchased a Grant Six.

The first meeting of the Literary Society carried with it something novel in that there were changes in its organization; and a determined purpose to have real work done from the start held the attention of all. Too much organization may be a disease in schools but it will hardly affect us as our plan now is to form and carry on a Society that will get the Teacher's Reading Circle Work done, plan and practice our debating teams, and perform the functions of a Community Club.

With this in mind Library Books will be relisted. Each teacher will learn her division of the work. For example, if her work is Biography and History, she will have a list of all books in the library that pertain to or should be grouped under these headings. One section of teachers and pupils will prepare for presentation Quotations and Questions in Poetry and Pedagogy, another Jokes, and questions in English and Story-telling, and still another History, Biography, and Debating Current Events. Our very first program was a success.

The Library will be greatly supplemented by literature from City and College Libraries, and magazines such as The Literary Digest, North Carolina Education, and The Independent.
