LILIUOKALANI IS DEAD.

Former Queen of Hawaii Was 76. Descendant of Long Line of Native Chiefs, She Was Deposed in 1895.

Honolulu, T. H., Nov. 11.—Queen Liliuokalani, of Hawaii, died this morning. Her death had been expected for several days.

Queen Liliuokalani mounted the throne of Hawaii on the death of her brother, King Kalakaua, who, after a reign of 17 years, died January 30, 1891. She was deposed, her formal abdication of the throne being signed January 25, 1895.

Queen Liliuokalani was a descendant of a long line of native chiefs, to whom the sovereignty of the Sandwich Islands had passed through centuries. Under Kamehameha I, who died in 1819, the islands were formed into one kingdom. Queen Liliuokalani was the monarchy's last ruler.

The Hawaiian Islands were formally annexed by the United States in August, 1898, and constituted the Territory of Hawaii in June, 1900. The deposed queen from 1895 to 1910 kept up her siege of Washington in protest against the manner in which the governmental affairs were being conducted in Hawaii. Finally, when her dream of restoration disappeared, she pleaded for the million of acres of crown lands which had been taken over by the government and which she alleged were virtually private.

She never succeeded and finally withdrew to Honolulu, where, on $4,000 a year voted to her by the Hawaiian legislature, she lived in semiregular fashion. Gen. Dominis died prior to Queen Liliuokalani's assumption of the throne. She was married to General Dominis in 1862.

For the American people as a whole she had high regard and became a devout Christian, but she never forgave the element which she charged with wresting the Hawaiian government from the natives. Her remarkable intellect was displayed in her grasp of international relationships, and she was successful as the author of a book telling "Hawaii's Story." She was a composer of hundreds of Hawaiian songs, some of which became popular in the United States.

Tuesday's War News.

The Italians apparently are holding the Teutonic allies fast along the greater part of the curving battlefront extending from Lake Garda, south of the Trentino region, to the Adriatic sea. Small gains have been reported for the Teutons on the northern front and one point along the southern reaches of the Piave river.

On the Asiago plateau, where it was feared the invaders might break through the Italian line and force a retirement of the armies guarding the western bank of the Piave, the enemy again has met with several severe reverses, the Italians meeting vigorous attacks and repelling them with serious losses. Indeed, near Canove, to the west of Asiago, so strong and brilliantly executed was the Italian counter thrust that the forces of General Diaz even were able to liberate Italians, who had been captured by the Austro-German army in the attempted flanking operation before the Italian line was stiffened last week.

To the northeast of the town of Asiago the Germans report the capture of the town of Fonzo and northwest of Asiago, on the Settecomuni, the fortified position of Mont Longara. On the southern Piave, between Monte San Dona and Zenson, some 23 miles northeast of Venice, the enemy forces crossed the stream and established a bridgehead on the west side of the Piave. The Italians immediately turned upon the invaders and forced them back toward the bank of the river. Realizing the close proximity of the enemy to Venice, preparations are being made to protect the ancient city and its historic buildings from the shells of the guns of the invaders. Sandbags have been piled high around the palace of the Doges and the Campanile. Doubtless most of the numerous works of art, for which the city is famous, already have been removed to places of safety.

Out of the maze of contradictory statements regarding the situation in Russia the salient fact seems to stand forth that the Bolshevik forces are in control of Petrograd. A wireless dispatch received in London announces the complete defeat of the followers of Premier Kerensky and General Korniloff Monday in fighting near Tsarskoe-Selo, while in Petrograd the recalcitrants are declared to be maintaining the upper hand against the military cadets and other adherents of the Kerensky regime. Dispatches from Denmark assert that advices received there are to the effect that the Bolshevik soldiers and sailors in Petrograd are committing all kinds of excesses and that the populace is terror stricken. Except on the Austro-Italian front there have been no military operations of great importance.

An Indian's Luck.

On a tract of land in Oklahoma, allotted to Jackson Barnett, a Creek Indian, and on which it is not recorded that he ever did a stroke of work, oil was, some time ago, discovered. Jackson's income is now said to be $50,000 a month from oil royalties. He has a cabin, erected for him by the superintendent of the Five Tribes, but he prefers to live in the open. At night he wraps himself in a blanket and sleeps on the porch. His property is now said to be worth $800,000. He does nothing through the livelong day, but sit around. Yet, he is not entirely worthless. He bought a block of Liberty bonds, two weeks ago, and single taxers are using him as a terrible example.—Christian Science Monitor.

British War Losses Less Than 7 Per Cent.

Washington, Nov. 11.—The ratio of losses sustained by all of the British expeditionary forces sent to France is less than 7 to every 100 men. It is not expected that American losses will exceed this percentage, despite the fact that German propagandists in this country are trying to make the American people believe that the American Army is going to meet with wholesale losses when it reaches the battlefront.

MANY WOMEN POSSESS VOTES.

A Good Record.

This year Mr. A. E. Penny, who lives on Route 1, had one acre in tobacco. He harvested and sold this tobacco and received therefor the sum of $357. He got 50 cents a pound for part of it. The net weight of tobacco produced on this acre was 1,000 pounds. This is pretty good, but the best thing he did this year was to raise 26 bushels of wheat on a half acre. He says he is going to try to raise enough next year to at least supply himself, a thing that every farmer should do this time.—Benson Review.

A Woman Pleads for Soldier Boys.

To the Editor:

I ask for a short space in The Herald for the soldier boys who are far away from home. So many of them have left their homes and gone to the Camp. They left their wives and babies, and we surely ought not to forget them. We know they must be fed and it will take lots of rations for them. We must work to save all. We ought to help the army boys all we can by working and saving and not being extravagant.

Let the wives work as well as save. I think a well and able-bodied woman should work and earn something as well as the man. If they have only one or two children they can work for them and earn their support. I have to work every day and I don't mind it. It makes me feel good to work. Wives go to work and help the boys. They need it. A woman can live on less than thirty dollars a month. She can plant vegetables and not be at so much cost. Don't sit down and say, "My husband is in the army, and his work—what I get from the Government—will keep me from work. I have not got to work. I had it to do before I was married, but I don't have it to do now. I can live without work."

That is not the way to do. Get up and go to work, all you young and able women. Try to see what you can do. Remember the boys who have left their homes for the army.

SALLY EVANS.

Hang All Traitors To Lamp Post Says Gerard.

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 13.—The time of repentance of disloyal Americans and pro-German sympathizers has passed and the day is at hand when every person must decide whether he is for or against America, declared James W. Gerard, in an address at a food conservation mass meeting here today.

"Americans are to be congratulated on their efforts to induce Germans in this country to be loyal, but there are still many under the protection of the American flag who are snakes in the grass," said the former ambassador.

"We should 'hog-tie' every disloyal German-American, feed every pacifist raw meat and hang every traitor to a lamp post, to insure success in this war. And our traitors are not all German-Americans, but some men high in public life are aiding the Prussian cause. There is no dirtier chapter in America politics than the crusade of these men, whose names you know."
