Mrs. Kate Burr Johnson Resigns As Commissioner of Public Welfare; State Prison Defers Buying Farm

North Carolina is to lose the third person holding prominent positions within her borders, when Mrs. Kate Burr Johnson, gives up her position as commissioner of public welfare on April 1 to become superintendent of the State Home for Girls in New Jersey. The other two persons which the state will lose are Dr. H. W. Chase, president of the University of North Carolina, and Dr. P. P. Gaines, the president of Wake Forest College. Mrs. Johnson will head up a pioneer program of work among women prisoners of New Jersey. Her salary, it is understood, will be more than her present salary of $4,500. Both Governor Gardner and the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare have issued statements expressing regret that Mrs. Johnson has resigned. Yesterday, it was announced that Mrs. W. T. Bost, who was a member of the welfare board, will succeed Mrs. Johnson.

Announcement has been made from the Governor's office that no immediate steps will be taken to acquire additional farm land for the State Prison. The Prison Board, the Advisory Budget Commission, and the Council of State met in joint session at the State Prison Tuesday to consider this matter, at which meeting Governor Gardner announced his plan, which was approved, of appointing a commission from the three boards to serve with the citizens from the state at large in recommending a general plan for the whole prison problem. The advisability of replacing the present State Prison, which was built immediately after the Civil War, will be considered.

The resignation of Dr. Charles Graves Vardell, first and only president of Flora Macdonald College, from the presidency of the college came as a great surprise to the board of trustees in a regular winter meeting at the college last week. The board, taken by surprise, was not prepared to take any action on the resignation, but a committee headed by ex-Governor A. W. McLean, chairman of the board of trustees, was appointed to consider the resignation of Dr. Vardell and in the event of its acceptance to make recommendations looking toward the selection of his successor. The board will meet again in March to receive the report of the committee. Dr. Vardell was born in Charleston, S. C., February 12, 1860. He attended Oberlin College and later entered Davidson College, receiving his A. B. degree in 1888. He graduated from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1891 and was ordained as a minister the same year. He was pastor of the New Bern Presbyterian church from 1891 to 1896 when he resigned to become president of Flora Macdonald College, and he has been its president since its beginning. He has had many flattering offers from other colleges to assume the same position with them, but he has steadfastly clung to his first love, in many instances against his own personal well being and almost constantly in the face of adverse financial circumstances. The announcement of his retirement will come as a great shock to thousands of alumnae of the institution who came under his influence while students of the college.

William Howard Taft, ex-president of the United States and former Chief Justice, who recently resigned the latter position on account of his health, continues to grow weaker, according to a news dispatch from Washington yesterday. Constant loss of strength has led to uncertainty as to how much longer he can withstand the great strain imposed on his blood circulation. His physician announced yesterday that his condition was worse than at any time previously. Although he is still able to take nourishment, he has not been able to leave his bed in several days. Mr. Taft is 73 years old.

DISASTROUS FIRE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Residence of Walter Peterson Totally Destroyed; Represents Loss of About $8,000; Partially Covered With Insurance

A disastrous fire occurred here Wednesday night when the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Peterson in Brooklyn was practically destroyed. Soon after ten o'clock, the family with the exception of Mrs. Peterson detected when Mrs. Peterson detected smoke in the house. Upon investigation, she found that the wood box in the kitchen was on fire. She aroused her husband and sons and they soon as they thought, had the fire out. But hardly had they returned to their bedrooms when neighbors rushed in to tell them that the top of the house was ablaze.

The fire alarm was turned in about ten-thirty and the fire company was soon on the scene. For two hours the fire department labored to extinguish the flames, but the house is practically total loss. With the exception of a few pieces of furniture, the contents of the house were also destroyed. A quantity of meat in the smokehouse was damaged.

About two o'clock the blaze flared up again and the fire department was called out for the second time.

The fire represents a loss of about $8,000 with $4,000 insurance. The residence was a well built structure, much of the framing being of fat lightwood. The house, one of the first erected in that section of Brooklyn, was built by Mr. J. A. Wellons, it having been purchased a few years ago by Mr. Peterson.

Bridge was played at four tables. Mrs. Raymond McKenzie made top score for the ladies and was presented with a novelty purse. William Wellons made high score for the gentlemen and was given a brass ash tray. Mrs. William Wellons, a recent bride, was presented with a sachet.

After a number of progressions, refreshments consisting of fruit salad, sandwiches and iced punch, were served.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Watson, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ogburn, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Smithwick, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Peterson, and Mr. and Mrs. William Wellons.

DAVID R. COKER IS HEARD BY FARMERS

Selma School Auditorium is Filled With Farmers Who Listen To Mr. Coker Outline Essentials For Agricultural Prosperity.

David R. Coker, of Hartsville, S. C., characterized by U. B. Blalock, general manager of the N. C. Cotton Growers Cooperative Association who introduced him to the audience of farmers in Selma yesterday morning as the outstanding farmer of the south and friend of the farmer, prescribed five essential remedies for the restoration of agriculture to prosperity. These essentials include the curtailment of acreage of money crops and the planting only of such lands as will make good yields; the production of more livestock and the growing of ample amounts of food and animal population of both town and country; the use of an up-to-date system of fertilization of cultivation, and of combating the boll weevil; the use and renewal at frequent intervals of the best strains of scientifically bred seeds for all crops; and the exercise of a degree of self control which will enable one to keep his expenditures within his revenues.

These essentials formed the outline for one of the soundest, sanest speeches on the agricultural situation that the farmers in this section have been privileged to hear in a long time. The Selma school auditorium was well filled with farmers and business men from several counties, the occasion having been widely advertised by the Selma Kiwanian club and the N. C. Cotton Growers Cooperative Association which jointly sponsored Mr. Coker's appearance in Selma.

Mr. Coker, in his opening remarks disclaimed the report that he had made last year 4000 bales of cotton on 4000 acres, stating that it would have been an impossibility with the weather conditions in his section last year.

He did say, however, that on one of his farms, 150 bales were produced on 143 acres. It is good land like that, or land that will produce certainly as much as a half bale to the acre, that ought to be planted in cotton. Mr. Coker stated, the cotton acreage absolutely must be reduced, and low producing land must not be planted in cotton or tobacco, but in velvet beans, soy beans, cowpeas, or other soil-building crops.

These soil-building crops together with oats and sweet potatoes Mr. Coker called the forgotten crops, and told the farmers that they must study food and feed crops as well as cotton and tobacco. One reason there is so little livestock on the farms is lack of feedstuffs, and Mr. Coker advocates more of both. A serious handicap to our people at this time is the prevalence of pellagra caused purely by poor diet. He surmised that there are several hundred cases of this disease in Johnston county at the present time, a condition that would not obtain if every farm had a garden, cow, chickens, pigs, sweet potatoes and peas.

Mr. Coker discussed cultivation and fertilizers, giving minute details of planting. He made some general statements concerning the use of fertilizer, but stated that he was afraid to give definite advice along this line and referred the farmers to their county agent for specific suggestions. He digressed at this point to pay a fine tribute to the work the farm and home agents are doing and urged the farmers to consult them freely.

As to weevil control, Mr. Coker is sold on the molasses method of poisoning, which is done as soon as the squares begin to form and before the weevils begin to lay their eggs. He stated that one gallon of water, one pound of calcium arsenate, and a gallon of molasses makes enough poison mixture to put on two acres, and it can be applied with a mop by a child. The first application is 90 per cent of the poisoning proposition, declared Mr. Coker, though the second and third applications are needed to keep down the weevil. He described dusting methods of poisoning but pointed out one handicap. Dusting, which is done after the cotton is too big to treat with the molasses mixture, not only gets the boll weevil but also kills the enemies of plant life, a pest that may cause as much damage as the weevil.

The farmers must pay attention not simply to raising a certain amount of cotton, but they must produce the type of cotton that is most in demand and is

NATIONAL COMMANDER URGES MEMBERSHIP

The Pou-Parrish Post of the American Legion will meet this (Friday) evening at the courthouse. During this week, an effort is being made all over the country to enlist more ex-service men in the Legion. In regard to the membership drive, O. L. Bodenhamer, national commander, makes the following appeal:

"Learning that the Pou-Parrish Post of the American Legion has prepared to do its share, or more in strengthening the Legion's ranks at this time when membership indicates the sincerity of the service men of the World War in what the Legion is trying to do, nationally, I am taking this opportunity of appealing to each of you to help.

"Some veterans do not realize the vital importance of their support to the national organization, especially in the Legion's program for national legislation. The American Legion is chartered by Congress. The Legion must make an annual report to congress, and each week, the Legion membership is transmitted to the national capital to be available for the information of representatives and senators, if it is desired by them.

Following the neglect of congress last winter, in passing the Rogers bill, which provided for the proper care of 5,543 mentally ill comrades who are confined in overcrowded state institutions, the Legion publicly announced, at the beginning of the present session of congress, that its membership could be an indication of the earnestness of veterans in the Legion's request for additional government hospital facilities. Advance, 1930 membership broke all preceding records. The measure, appropriating $15,950,000, was passed just before Christmas, when some leaders in congress had said such early action was impossible. But the sincerity of the veterans of America was unmistakable, and congress took notice that the veterans' efforts on behalf of the disabled.

Yet, that measure represents less than half of what the Legion is asking for the disabled at this session. It requires from two to three years, after an appropriation is made by congress, before the disabled receive any benefits in the way of additional hospital facilities. Every veteran who subscribes to this Legion program of service through his membership at this time, is adding needed strength to the hands of the Legion leaders who are doing everything in their power to obtain a fair and just treatment for the men who paid the heaviest for victory in the World War.

Centenary Methodist Church.

Sunday school 9:30 a. m., I. W. Medlin, superintendent. Pr. W. Medlin, services 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Morning sermon by Presiding Elder Rev. M. Bradshaw, D.D., followed by the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper and by the quarterly conference. Prayer meeting each Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

Therefore most profitable. North Carolina, stated Mr. Coker, has a great opportunity to supply the cotton mills in this state with the long staples which the mills must now import from other states. North Carolina needs to increase its production of inch and inch and a sixteenth staple. People see at once the sense in purchasing fine breed animals, but few, according to Mr. Coker, see the importance of pedigreed seed.

The last essential in the restoration of agriculture to prosperity discussed by Mr. Coker was the practice of thrift and self-denial. He thinks people are buying a lot of things they could do without or could raise at home, that they have not yet become willing to change their standard of living in keeping with their income.

The speaker closed his discussion by congratulating North Carolinians upon having a farm-minded Governor, and upon having men at the head of their Cotton Growers' Cooperative Association who are interested in standardization of cotton as well as stabilization of price, who are interested in the general uplift of agriculture.

CORINTH-HOLDERS START P. T. ASSOCIATION

MIDDLESEX, Route 1, Feb. 25.—On Tuesday evening, Feb. 20 a number of parents and teachers of the Corinth-Holders high school met in the auditorium for the purpose of organizing a parent-teacher association. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Keller, the principal. A very interesting program was given by the faculty after which the following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Alonzo Richardson; vice-president, Mrs. W. O. Houtt; secretary, Miss Mildred Dean; treasurer, Mr. C. H. Carpenter.

No greater movement in the field of education has been fostered during the last quarter of a century than the organization of the parent-teacher association. This movement has for its purpose the welfare of the child which is of paramount importance in the field of education today. The parent-teacher association forms a home and school partnership and provides the necessary medium for establishing a unity in educational standards. It develops cooperation among the parents and affords them an opportunity to understand better the school system and its needs. It brings to the teacher the viewpoint of the home and sympathetic appreciation of the parents.

It was decided that the parent-teacher association would meet the third Thursday night in each month. It is sincerely hoped that every home may be represented at the next meeting which will be March 20.

ENROLLMENT FOR C.M.T.C. NOW OPEN

Johnston county boys between the ages of 17 and 24 wishing to attend the C. M. T. C., this summer at Fort Bragg, N. C., are urged to make applications at once. A. M. Noble, county representative who states, that the quota is 20 for Johnston county, but if more than this number file applications early enough they may also be taken care of.

Application blanks may be had from Mr. Noble, Smithfield, N. C., or Captain Dan B. Floyd, 307 Professional Building, Raleigh. The object of the Citizens' Military Training camp is to bring together young men of high type from all sections of the country on a common basis of equality and under the most favorable conditions of outdoor life; to stimulate and promote citizenship, patriotism and Americanism; and through expert physical direction, athletic coaching and military training to benefit the young men individually and bring them to realize their obligation to their country.

Attendance at any of the courses does not constitute a present or future contract of enlistment in the army of the United States. However, a graduate of a Blue course is eligible for appointment as an officer in the Officers' Reserve Corps.

The Government is satisfied to train the applicant for one month as a worthwhile investment in good citizenship. There will be no expense involved for those who attend the C. M. T. C., as the Government pays all expenses consisting of railroad transportation to and from camp, uniforms, food, shelter, and medical attention.

If parents are looking for a camp to which to send their son, or if the young man is looking for a place to have a good time this summer, and incidentally, learn something that will be beneficial to him and his country, there is no better place than the Citizens' Military Training Camp. Each day's activities are so planned as to present a well balanced program. There will be just enough physical exercise, drills and games to keep the strong young bodies fit, and young brains alert so that they can grasp the instruction more readily and with greater enthusiasm.

The moral side of the young man's instruction will also receive due attention. Each camp will have its chaplains of practically every denomination, who functions the same as the pastor of their own churches, visiting students in their tents, lecturing upon inspiring topics and holding religious services in the camp chapels on the Sabbath.

My missus married a lawyer, Way out in Missouri; De lust thing dat she found out Wus she won't like a jury.

He wears a lofty knowin' look, And it ain't agin de rule To take a little legal book And blind a dozen fools.

As to his meanin' and intent, His wife has much respect; But every time she spends a cent He rises to object.

I'd love to be a lawyer's wife When money he'd begrudge, As to the cost of married life I'd tell him it was jidge.
