

Tornado.—On Tuesday last, (says the Petersburg Republican, of the 11th inst.) about two o'clock, our town was visited by one of the most violent tornadoes or whirlwinds we remember ever to have witnessed. It was of short duration; but it left some of the marks of its violence behind, in the destruction of chimneys, prostration of trees, fences, &c. One house on Bollingbrook-street was unroofed, and another on Old-street was literally removed from its foundation.

We do not learn that this tornado extended far into the country. Indeed we believe its violence was principally felt in the lower part of Petersburg and on the opposite side of the Appomattox river. In Ravenscroft, near the heights, the wind was comparatively light.

Washington, June 7.—It is known to all who are interested in the claims under the Florida treaty, that the term of the board of Commissioners for the examination and adjudication of these claims, will, by the limitation of the treaty itself, expire to-morrow, the 8th inst. The report of the proceedings of the commissioners will be made, of course, to the department of state, and probably be published. When the funds are ready for the payment of the awards under the treaty, we presume due notice will be given from the Treasury department. We make these suggestions in the hope of saving to some of the claimants the vain labor of attending here to-morrow, the next day, or any day, previous to the one which shall be publicly designated, under the expectation of receiving payment of their claim. We think it not improbable that some time may elapse before the necessary arrangements are made for paying the awards of the commissioners.—Nat. Int.

From the Arkansas Gaz. April 20.
More Indian disturbances. We learn, by a gentleman from Batesville, that the most serious alarm exists among the citizens above that place, on White river, in consequence of the disorderly movements of the Shawnees, Delawares, and other Indian tribes, who have been removed to that section of our territory within the last two or three years. Some of the old and friendly chiefs have given notice to the white inhabitants, that they cannot restrain the ardor of their headstrong young men, who are resolutely bent on murdering the whites, and the strongest apprehensions are entertained by them, that they will very soon carry their savage designs into effect. Two or three old and respectable chiefs, finding their efforts unwilling to maintain peace on the part of the young and refractory men of their nation, have actually removed from the country, and are returning to their former residence.

The white people, as may well be supposed, are panic struck. Some have already left their habitations and improvements, and many others are preparing to leave as soon as possible; and it is the opinion of some of the most intelligent men in Independence county, that the country above Batesville will soon be abandoned to the Indians unless some efficient measures are promptly adopted to secure our unprotected citizens from the aggressions of their savage neighbors.

The general assembly of this territory have, for years past, petitioned the general government for the establishment of a military post on White river, which they considered indispensable to the security of the inhabitants in that quarter; and recent events show that their fears were not without foundation. Indeed, it is the opinion of many, that since a multitude of Indians of various nations, most of whom were arrayed against the United States during the late war with England, have been collected together in the N. W. section of our territory, a military post on White river is almost as necessary as at any other point on the western frontier.

The assurances contained in Mr. Conway's letter, that the Indians on White river shall be removed north of the limits of our territory, will, we sincerely hope, be speedily realized.

Manufacturing Riot.—There has been a riot among the manufacturers at Pawtucket—a sample of Old England. It seems that after "the passage of the Tariff bill, the manufacturers at Pawtucket, (R. I.) had considerably reduced the wages of the men in their employment, and that the latter had, in consequence, resolved to abstain from work. It now appears that not only the men, but the women also had refused to submit to this reduction. A meeting had been held, consisting of 102 female weavers, and in the evening of Wednesday last week there was a tumultuous turn out of the workmen and others, who visited the houses of the manufacturers, shouting and uttering insulting language, and broke a window in one of the mills."—Subsequent accounts state that the ferment has subsided, and that the mills generally are in operation.

Murder.—The Cambridge, (Md.) Chronicle, states, that on the 6th inst. as a man named William Paradise, near Millsborough, Sussex county, (Del.) was correcting his son, aged about seventeen years, for some fault, the youth resisting, seized the weapon, and attempted to run out of his reach; when the aggravated father got his gun, and shot him on the spot. He expired in about 15 minutes.

Mr. John Wier, a passenger on board the brig Bee, Capt. Sawyer, from St. Thomas, bound to this port, jumped overboard and was drowned, on the 7th of May. He had been quite delirious during the day, and at one time attacked the Captain with a hammer. Formerly he had been an officer in the British navy, but latterly first officer of a merchantman from St. Thomas. He stated that he had relations living about 60 miles above Wilmington.—Wilmington Rec.

Lotteries.—The Alexandria Herald mentions an important trial that was expected to be commenced on Monday in the Circuit Court of the United States, sitting at that place. It is a suit brought by the holder of the ticket for the $100,000 prize, which was drawn in the Washington Canal Lottery, against the corporation of Washington, the vendor of the ticket having failed to pay the money. It is said that a number of the most eminent lawyers in the nation have been engaged by the parties.

[Subsequent accounts state that the trial is postponed until November term.]

Duel.—A Philadelphia paper of the 4th inst. says: "Some words disrespectful of the Militia having been uttered by a Lieutenant of the Army, a Militia officer took offence, and a message was sent and accepted. This morning, accompanied by their friends, the parties met opposite Fort Mifflin. The Lieutenant had his thigh broke at the first fire. Matters were then adjusted, and we hope no further blood may be shed on the pending election of Brigadier-General. Gentlemen, keep your tempers, and keep civil tongues in your heads. Odds! flints and triggers, why should you quarrel? Vote, but do not fight, nor provoke to fight."

Pirate pardoned.—We perceive from the following, (says the New-York Evening Post,) that the President of the United States has, according to custom, granted a pardon to Josef Perez, who was lately convicted by a jury, after a long and impartial trial, of the heinous crime of piracy, as it was once considered, and as it still appears to be considered on our statute books. To give this pardon immediate publicity, the facts relating to it, in the manner in which the President's feelings were touched and overcome, &c. &c. by the eloquent agent who went to Washington for that purpose, and who was doubtless selected for his well known talents as a street preacher and scale-beam maker, we have sent us for publication in the Evening Post, a written account drawn up by his own hand, and of which the following is a literal copy, even to the spelling.

to the friends of Josef Perez

Riots in Canada.—The Montreal papers state that on 26th ult. a violent affray took place in that city between some Canadians and Irish, in which a number of the unfortunate combatants received dreadful contusions inflicted with the weapons rashly taken up in the fury of passion. The Irish being few in number were, at first, very roughly handled, but reinforcements arriving, the battle assumed a more general appearance, and the Canadians were driven from the scene of action.

Mr. Booth.—We regret to learn, that this distinguished actor, was seized with a violent fit of insanity on Saturday. On Friday night he played Othello, and in some passages is said to have been inimitably fine, while in others it was thought by some he was turning the character of the Moor into burlesque. In the dying scene we are informed he even excelled himself. But before the drop of the curtain, he turned over, facing the audience, raised his head upon his hand, and said—"There, what do you think of that!" These circumstances were looked upon as being very strange at the moment, but no further notice was taken of it at the time. About 11 o'clock on Saturday, he was in the entrance of the theatre, conversing with Mr. Woodhull, when, suddenly, but with an air of calmness, he said to W.—"I must cut somebody's throat to-day, and whom shall I take? Shall it be Wallack, or yourself, or who?" Woodhull asked what he meant. "Why, I mean what I say," replied Booth. Woodhull then observed he was grasping a dagger under his coat; and at the very moment Wallack passed along. Booth made a pass at him, but as Woodhull called him at the same instant, by turning round, the blow missed its object. Wallack then rushed into the street, and Booth after him; and Woodhull after him. Booth gained upon Wallack, and just as he was making a plunge at his back, Wallack providentially stumbled and fell, and Booth passed over him. He was then seized, disarmed and secured. In the evening he was taken to the house of a friend, (not to the Asylum, as mentioned in a morning paper,) where he is treated with every kindness and attention. He has become tranquil, and it is hoped that he will soon recover from this painful indisposition. Miss Johnson, in Desdemona, certainly ran a risk of being murdered by the jealous Moor in good earnest, and may felicitate herself upon her escape.

Travellers.—It is stated that more than one hundred thousand passengers have been carried in the steamboats Fulton and Connecticut, in the course of the last nine nears, thro' the Long-Island Sound, and not a person has been killed or hurt from any defect in the machinery or the management of the boats. There is no mode of travelling known, which has proved to be equally secure.—Neither stage coaches, nor even private vehicles, can boast of such success.

Canals.—There are 1000 men employed on the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal.
