

Chronicle. It is very simple, but is believed to be essentially the same as practised in the institutions for curing impediments of speech. We have first rate medical authority in confirmation of its correctness.

1. Keep the lungs full by frequent inhalations of air. The difficulty consists almost wholly in the attempt to speak while the lungs are partially exhausted.

2. If the tongue adheres too closely, at first, to the roof of the mouth, place on it a nine penny piece or a quarter of a dollar, as it may be found necessary, that the utterance may be more distinct.

3. Being thus prepared, read a page of poetry, consisting of short lines, remembering to draw in the breath at the end of every line.

By following this plan, in a short time, a radical and permanent cure will be effected. No instance of failure has come to my knowledge.

Rail Roads.—The Boston Advertiser gives the following interesting particulars of the opening, as well as the construction of the first rail way which has been completed in our country:

"Quincy Rail Road.—This Rail Road, the first we believe in this country, was opened on Saturday, in presence of a number of gentlemen who take an interest in the experiment. A quantity of stone, weighing sixteen tons, taken from the ledge belonging to the Bunker Hill Association, and loaded on three waggons, which together weigh five tons, making a load of twenty-one tons, was moved, with ease, by a single horse, from the quarry to the landing above Neponset bridge, a distance of more than three miles. The road declines gradually, the whole way, from the quarry to the landing, but so slightly that the horse conveyed back the empty waggons making a load of five tons. After the starting of the loads, which required some exertions, the horse moved with ease in a fast walk. It may therefore be easily conceived how great the transportation of heavy loads is facilitated by means of this road. A large quantity of beautiful stone, already prepared for the Bunker Hill Monument, will now be rapidly and cheaply transported to the wharf at the termination of the rail road, whence it will be conveyed by lighters to Charlestown.

"This road is constructed in the most substantial manner. It rests on a foundation of stone laid so deep in the ground as to be beyond the reach of the frost, and to secure the rails on which the carriage runs effectually against any change of their relative position; they are laid upon stones of eight feet in length, placed transversely along the whole extent of the road, at distances of 6 or 8 feet from each other. The space between these stones is filled with smaller stones or earth, and over the whole, between the rails, a gravel path is made. The rails are formed of pine timber, on the top of which is placed a bar of iron.—The carriages run upon the iron bars, and are kept in place by a projection on the inner edge of the tire of the wheels.—The wheels are of a size considerably larger than a common cart wheel.

"We learn from a gentleman who has visited the principal rail roads in England, that in point of solidity and skill in construction, this is not exceeded by any there."

Balloon....Mr. ROBERTSON, the aeronaut, accompanied by a young lady, ascended from Castle Garden, N. Y. on Tuesday evening last. The Garden was well filled with spectators, and it is estimated that the receipts must have been upwards of two thousand dollars...Steamboats and rowboats filled with passengers, were scattered over the river, and the house-tops, the battery and the wharves, exhibited great numbers of people. The lady took her seat in the car apparently with great resolution, and after Mr. R. had taken his place opposite, the word to let go was given. The ascent was successful, and very beautiful, the Balloon being visible near 40 minutes. Mr. R. descended about 8 o'clock P. M. at Westfield, New-Jersey, 25 miles from N. Y. having previously touched at Uniontown, where he left the lady... then re-ascended.

DIED,

In this town, on Tuesday evening last, in the 2d year of her age, Sarah Catharine, daughter of Mr. P. P. Lawrence.

In Petersburg, Va. on Friday, 20th inst. after an illness of twenty days of bilious fever, Henry Curtis Jones, a native of Halifax, N. C. leaving an affectionate wife, two small children, and a numerous train of relations and friends to lament their irreparable loss and bereavement. His death is much regretted by all who knew him, being highly esteemed for his unimpeachable integrity and philanthropy. It was here that he received his birth and was nurtured, and after the expiration of 43 years of usefulness to his fellow man, he has resigned his soul to him who gave it, and has gone to that bourne from whence no traveller returns. In portraying the value of departed worth, it is but justice to the deceased to remark that he was the noblest work of God, an honest man. His remains were interred in Halifax on Monday last... If I was to say that I sold all the high Prizes in the Virginia State Lottery, perhaps it would not be believed; particularly after three or four other venders of Tickets having advertised that they sold them ALL. Let them have the credit—my customers know what I have done, and will long recollect with pleasure the first class of the Virginia State Lottery. Certainly every person that ever purchased a Ticket in any Lottery, will not let the present pass; as the present class of the Maryland State Lottery is evidently the best that has ever been offered to adventurers.
