

TARBOROUGH

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1832.

Any number of either of the Presidential Electoral Tickets for this State, can be procured on application at this office.

We are pleased to state an improvement in the price of Cotton—yesterday baled Cotton of the new crop sold in this place for 9 1/2 cents, cash. At Petersburg, it is quoted at 10 1/2 cents. We intend shortly to re-insert our Price Current.

We note a circumstance which occasioned considerable distress in this place a few days since, to check the many rumors that probably have arisen from it. On Friday last, some pickled oysters were brought to this place and offered for sale—our citizens partook freely of them, and from Friday night until Sunday night about 40 cases of sickness, of the cholera morbus type, occurred in this place and vicinity, all of which originated from eating the oysters. Altho' some of the cases were very distressing and dangerous, happily none of them proved fatal—they are all either convalescent, or perfectly recovered.

The Cholera.—The Edenton Miscellany of last Wednesday, states that the Cholera still rages in that place, without any material increase or abatement. For the last three weeks the number of deaths have averaged about two each day, and the reputed cases probably about double that number. The deaths for the week ending that day, were 13, 2 whites and 11 colored—22 new cases, 4 whites and 18 colored.

The disease prevailed in Richmond about six weeks—the number of interments during that period was about 453—whites 97, colored 356. The Cholera has ceased in nearly every place in the Atlantic States where it has raged—but has made its appearance at Cincinnati, Cleveland, and several other Western towns.

Presidential Election.—On Friday next, the great struggle commences in Pennsylvania and Ohio—and on Monday, in Maine, New York, Virginia, and several other States. In about fifteen or twenty days we will probably hear sufficient from the doubtful States, to determine which way victory will incline. We, however, in the mean time, confidently anticipate another glorious triumph for Jacksonism.

Mr. Van Buren's Opinions.—On our first page the reader will find Mr. Van Buren's reply to the Committee of the Shocco meeting. Mr. Van Buren, it seems, thinks the Protective System "to be within the constitutional power of Congress," and is in favor of applying it to "such manufactures as are essential to the national defence, and its extension to others in proportion as they are adapted to our country, and of which the raw material is produced by ourselves." He is of the opinion that the Federal Government does not possess the "right to make and establish roads and canals within the States, and the assumption of as much jurisdiction over the territory they may occupy, as is necessary to their preservation and use;" and "appropriations for these objects should be withheld until some constitutional regulation upon the subject has been made"—but is in favor of "such as relate to light houses, beacons, buoys, public piers, and other improvements, in the harbors and navigable rivers of the United States, for the security and facility of our foreign commerce." He is opposed to the U. S. Bank and to Nullification. Having taken a neutral stand in the pending contest for the Vice Presidency, we will barely remark that in our opinion Mr. Van Buren goes too far in favor of the Protective System, and not far enough in his opposition to Internal Improvements. As regards the Bank and Nullification, his opinions appear to coincide with a large majority of the people of the South.

[BY REQUEST.]
Newbern, 15th Oct. 1832.

Dear Sir: The "Craven County Anti-Jackson Committee" have issued the following Circular, which, as it discloses the course to be pursued by the Opposition at the approaching election, we hasten to communicate for your information. It is, perhaps, fortunate that this address, doubtless designed for confidential circulation, has thus early come into our possession. Let it rouse our friends to action. Let us profit by this discovery of our danger, and, like the Clay "faction," act on the principle that it is unsafe to undervalue the prowess and ability of an adversary,—remembering, that the inactivity of our friends may lead to the success of the Clay ticket, even in N. Carolina. Every true friend of Gen. Jackson is now called on to rally in support of our ticket; and we trust that no difference of opinion on the subject of the Vice Presidency, will be permitted to operate to the advantage of the adversary, whose only hope of success is predicated upon the divisions which unhappily exist among the friends of the Administration. It is not too late to heal this breach. Urge upon your neighbors the necessity of running the Jackson and Van Buren ticket. Judge Barbour would have received our support had he been nominated by the Baltimore Convention; let a similar sacrifice of feeling be made by his friends in behalf of Mr. Van Buren, and the cause of Gen. Jackson must triumph in every county of the State. You will, we flatter ourselves, take immediate measures to have printed tickets distributed by "trust worthy persons," at every place of election.

The Craven County Jackson Committee.

Newbern, 8th October, 1832.

Dear Sir:—The cheering indications which have been exhibited at New York and Philadelphia, of a successful opposition to the re-election of Gen. Jackson, have encouraged us to reflect on the possibility of aiding their patriotic efforts in North Carolina. The result is a conviction, that our ability has been underrated by our opponents as well as by ourselves. We frankly communicate to you our views on this subject, and beg of you to lay them before our friends in every part of your district.

There are three distinct tickets which will be run for electors in North Carolina, and the ticket which gets the largest number of votes succeeds. All who are opposed to the re-election of Jackson, will vote for our ticket, while those in favor of his re-election will be divided pretty equally between the Barbour and Van Buren tickets. At the election of 1828, the anti-Jackson ticket received 13,918 votes, and the Jackson ticket 37,857. The friends of Mr. Adams then knew they must be beaten, and every man's experience will tell him, that with this knowledge, no party can bring out more than half its strength. It is, we think, perfectly reasonable to say, that had there been a fair hope of success, the Adams ticket could then have polled 20,000 votes.

We believe the opposition to Gen. Jackson much stronger than it was four years ago. But if it have only the same strength, and will put itself forth fully at the approaching election, its efforts may be crowned with success. The entire number of votes given in 1828, was a little upwards of 50,000. Suppose 59,000 to be polled at the next election, and divide 39,000 of them between the two Jackson factions equally, or nearly so, and 20,000 votes will carry our ticket. Few things are more dangerous than to undervalue the prowess and ability of an adversary. Our opponents have committed this blunder, and it will be our fault if we do not avail ourselves of it to save our country from intolerable misrule, our institutions from destruction, and the principles of our government from capricious, violent and corrupt domination.

We express then our strong hope, that in your section of the State, and in every part of it, vigorous and animated efforts will be made to bring out our entire strength at the polls, under the assurance, that success, though not certain, is by no means desperate. Where the electoral nomination has not yet been made, we request that it may be done forthwith—and we earnestly recommend, that at every place of election, trust-worthy persons should attend to supply tickets to our friends, and animate them to exertion.
