

grossed—years 75, days 41. (Messrs. Little and Potts in the negative.)

Monday, 7th.—Mr. Little presented a resolution, proposing that both houses of the Legislature adjourn on Wednesday, the 9th instant; which was postponed till to-morrow.

The engrossed bill to reduce the salary of the Supreme Court Judges of North Carolina was read the second time, and, indefinitely postponed, 59 to 55. (Mr. Potts in the affirmative—Mr. Little in the negative.)

Tuesday, 8th.—The engrossed bill received from the Senate, to establish the Bank of North Carolina, (owned exclusively by the State,) was read the second time and rejected, 48 to 62. (Messrs. Little and Potts in the negative.)

The Express.—Much speculation has been excited by an Express, travelling at the rate of fifteen miles an hour, which passed thro' Warrenton, Raleigh, Fayetteville, &c. to Charleston, a few days since, and returned at the same rapid rate. Nothing has transpired as to the object of this mission, further than that the Express bore a package, addressed to Mr. Gilchrist, U. S. Attorney for the district of South Carolina, and franked by the Secretary of the Treasury.

We understand that the mail contractors on that route have received directions from the Post Master General to keep horses in readiness for the above purpose until otherwise directed.

[We learn from Washington City, that hopes are entertained by some of the passage of the new Tariff bill—that they believe now the heat of the battle, if not over, is so that they can see through the smoke—and that they do not think that things will be worse than at the present time. To state merely that we are highly gratified at the above intelligence, would be doing injustice to our feelings—we are rejoiced beyond measure. We fervently hope that the prediction of our correspondent may be fully verified—he says: "The times are strange, difficult and contradictory—but nil desperandum we shall go thro' it and after awhile be the better for it."

Congress.—The principal business before the Senate, is Mr. Poindexter's resolution respecting the Tariff. On the 4th, the Hon. John C. Calhoun took his seat as Senator from South Carolina, in the place of Mr. Hayne—and, on the same day, the Chair laid before the Senate, a letter from the Secretary of State, communicating a copy of a letter from Mr. Calhoun, resigning the office of Vice President of the U. States.

The House of Representatives is principally engaged with the Tariff bill, reported from the committee of ways and means—and an amendment to the Constitution of the U. States, respecting the election of President and Vice President. On motion of Mr. Barringer, the committee on the judiciary were instructed to inquire into the expediency of appropriating a sum of money for building a Court House, or in aid thereof, in the city of Raleigh, N. C. for the accommodation of the Circuit Court of the U. S.

Resolutions reducing the rates of postage, have been introduced into both Houses.

U. S. Senate.—We extract the following passage from the remarks made by Mr. Mangum, Senator from this State, on the resolution submitted by Mr. Poindexter, calling on the Secretary of the Treasury for the project of a bill reducing the duties on protected articles to the amount of six millions of dollars:—

Sir, said Mr. MANGUM, the country, the whole country will be saved—not at the edge of the sword or the point of the bayonet, that idea is revolting to our people and alien to the genius of our institutions. It cannot be saved by force. The present generation will brand with infamy, and all posterity will execrate him who first sheds a brother's blood in civil strife. A government based upon the stable foundations of opinion, and the affections of the people, can be saved only by the public opinion, and the affections of the people; and the hot burning curses of an outraged and indignant people will pursue and consume him, who, in civil strife, shall shed the blood of any of our people, whether upon Sagadahoc or the Balize, upon any other plea than that of inevitable necessity. But the country will be saved. It may not be by the politicians. In them I have but little confidence. It will be saved by the people. I repeat, emphatically, the people, who in every portion of this great and once happy Confederacy are signally distinguished over all other people for moderation, justice, a love of liberty and love of country. They will awaken to the oppressions which, by party and unprincipled combinations, have been practised upon their brethren of the South. They will rise in their strength in the most distant parts of the Confederacy, to advocate and defend their brothers' cause. They will hurl the oppressor from his bad eminence, and scare the vulture from his prey. Liberty is our common inheritance, and they will guarantee it to every portion of our great political brotherhood. The people's interest every where is best and most permanently secured by equal laws, and a just administration of the Government. They know it, and so ultimately they will have it. In the glorious East, on the extreme verge of the Republic, we have friends and allies, firm friends and allies, who are more terrible to the rapacious monopolist than an army of banners. Our people are too just, too generous, and too magnanimous, to suffer oppression to be long practised upon any portion of their brethren, when their attention shall be awakened to its existence.

Judge Baldwin.—It gives us pain to state, that it is reported at Washington, on the authority of letters from Pittsburg, that Mr. Justice Baldwin, of the Supreme Court of the United States, had become insane, and was confined in a hospital. It was feared from the manner of the attack, and the symptoms, that it would prove a case of confirmed and incurable lunacy.—Alexandria Gaz.

Newbern, Jan. 11.—The Bank of Newbern has declared a dividend of 25 per cent. on the capital, at the late meeting of the Stockholders.—Spec.

More Indian Troubles.—The Georgia Courier says: A passenger in the stage last night, who came through the Cherokee Nation, says that there was great excitement there. Some person, who had drawn a tract of land, on which were improvements, attempted to take probably violent possession, and was resisted by the Indians, and that two families, consisting of nine persons, had been massacred by the enraged savages. He says the Georgia Guard is in close pursuit of them."

Western Indians.—The Galician says the Indians on the frontiers are forming alliances; and the next summer will be prepared to encounter the whites. The Winnebagoes can raise 1500 warriors among themselves, and they say the neighboring tribes will furnish an equal number. Kickapoo hills will probably be their place of rendezvous.

FOREIGN.

Latest from Europe.—The packet ship South America, at New York from Liverpool, brings London papers to the 4th, and Liverpool to the 5th December, both inclusive. The intelligence is of decided interest. The French army had entered Belgium, invested the citadel of Antwerp, and hostilities had commenced—the first guns being fired by the Dutch. The Prussian government appear to be forming a strong army of observation. France continues quiet. Nothing decisive yet from Portugal. The British Parliament had been dissolved, and writs issued for the first election under the Reform law. Ireland remained in a troubled state. Markets for American produce appear to be improving.
