

TARBOROUGH

TUESDAY, JANUARY 29, 1833.

The last Raleigh Constitutionalist contains the speech of Dr. Potts, member of the House of Commons from this county, on the Nullification resolutions reported by the joint select committee to the last General Assembly. We will insert the Doctor's speech in our next paper—and consequently will be compelled to defer Gov. Hayne's Proclamation until the week after next.

New Bank.—The Raleigh papers contain the Proclamation of Gov. Swain, appointing Commissioners to open books of subscription for stock in the Bank of North Carolina, and directing them to be opened at the places mentioned on Monday the 4th day of February next and continue open for the space of sixty days. The Commissioners named for Tarborough, are Joseph R. Lloyd, James W. Clark, Peter Evans, Exum Lewis and Henry Austin.

Congress.—The Senate has been principally engaged in discussing Mr. Clay's bill for distributing the proceeds of the sale of Public Lands, for the next five years, or until the Government has need of the money, amongst the several States—and the House of Representatives in debating the new Tariff bill. No question had been taken on either subject.

The Message of the President on the subject of the existing difficulty between the General Government and South Carolina, was transmitted to both Houses of Congress, on the 16th inst. accompanied by all the documents relating thereto. From the great length of the Message, it will not be in our power to lay it before our readers. The following however, is a brief sketch of its principal features:—The Message comments upon the documents and the course pursued by South Carolina—states that a compliance with the terms of the Ordinance previous to the time fixed for its going into operation is impracticable—reiterates the doctrines of the Proclamation, relative to nullification and secession—states that the constitutional means at the disposal of the Executive to execute the laws, may prove inadequate to meet such an open, powerful, organized opposition, as is to be commenced after the 1st of February next—and suggests that it may therefore be desirable to revive with some modifications better adapted to the occasion, parts of several acts and resolutions heretofore passed by Congress, giving the power to remove the custom houses beyond the jurisdiction of the State Courts, to alter and abolish ports of entry, to remove causes against officers of the Government from the State Courts to the United States, and to modify the existing legal provision for the safe keeping of prisoners committed under the authority of the United States.

In accordance with the suggestions of the Message, the Judiciary committee of the Senate, on the 21st, reported "a bill further to provide for the collection of duties on imports"—we give below the first section, from which the reader can draw a tolerably correct inference as to its general provisions:—

Sec. 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That whenever, by reason of unlawful obstructions, combinations, or assemblages of persons, or unlawful threats and menaces against officers of the United States, it shall become impracticable, in the judgment of the President, to execute the revenue laws, and collect the duties on imports in the ordinary way, in any collection district, it shall and may be lawful for the President to direct that the custom house for such district, be established and kept in any secure place within some port or harbor of such district, either upon land or on board any vessel; and in that case it shall be the duty of the Collector to reside at such place, and there to detain all vessels and cargoes arriving within the said district until the duties imposed on said cargoes by law be paid, deducting interest according to existing laws: and in such cases it shall be unlawful to take the vessel or cargo from the custody of the proper officer of the customs, unless by process from some Court of the United States, and in case of any attempt otherwise to take such vessel or cargo, by any force, or combination, or assemblage of persons, too great to be overcome by the officers of the customs, it shall and may be lawful for the President of the United States, or such person or persons as he shall have empowered for that purpose, to employ such part of the land or naval forces, or militia of the United States, as may be deemed necessary for the purpose of preventing the removal of such vessel or cargo, and protecting the officers of the customs in retaining the custody thereof, and also for the purpose of preventing and suppressing any armed or riotous assemblage of persons resisting the custom house officers in the exercise of their duties, or in any manner opposing the execution of the revenue laws of the United States, or otherwise violating or assisting and abetting violations of the same.

Virginia.—The House of Delegates have at length agreed unanimously (one vote excepted,) on a Preamble and Resolutions substituted in the place of those originally reported. These re-affirm the resolutions of '98—declare that the measures of South Carolina & the doctrines of the President's Proclamation are, each of them, contrary to the principles contained in said resolutions—request the authorities of South Carolina to rescind or suspend their Ordinance, and Congress to modify the Tariff laws, and express an expectation that the General Government and the government of South Carolina, will abstain from all acts calculated to disturb the peace of the country or endanger the existence of the Union. In the Senate, they were referred to a select committee, who substituted in their place another set of resolutions, which were under consideration. Several other sets of resolutions had also been submitted.

"In the multitude of counsellors there is safety."—In a recent letter to the Post Office committee of the Senate, the Post Master General says:—"It is an occurrence of almost every day, that more than a ton weight of newspapers is carried in one mail for hundreds of miles together, and at the rate of from eighty to upwards of a hundred miles a day."

Mr. Carson, one of the members from this State, stated a few days since in the House of Representatives, that the value of the Gold obtained in North Carolina in 1831, was $204,000; and in 1832, at least double that amount.

A number of the citizens of Beaufort county, friendly to the Republican doctrines of '98, gave a complimentary dinner on Thursday last to Henry S. Clark, Esq. one of the Representatives of that county in the last Legislature—the Hon. William Kennedy presided, assisted by Messrs. S. C. Fisher and F. Gallagher, as Vice Presidents. Messrs. Samuel T. Sawyer and David Outlaw were present, being invited guests, and letters were read from John L. Bailey, Joseph W. W. Townsend, Charles Gee, and A. Pierce, Esqs. (who were among those invited,) regretting their inability to mingle on the occasion, in paying a merited tribute to Mr. Clark.

Suicide.—We learn (says the Rutherford Spectator) that Mr. Andrew Yong, a respectable citizen of this county, who resided on White Oak Creek, committed suicide by discharging a pistol at his head on Wednesday last. We have not learnt the particulars, but have understood that for a few days previous to his death he had expressed much concern as to nullification, and it is thought by some that he was suffering from mental aberration.

Religious Notice.—The Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, for the District of North Carolina, will convene at Whitaker's Chapel in Halifax county, 6 miles east of Enfield, on Thursday, 14th February next. Jan. 1833. Will. H. Wills, Sec.
