

ed to pieces and his head and face so much distorted as not to be recognized by his friends. There was no person present at the time but a small son of Mr. Craven, who gave the alarm to some other hands who were engaged at work in the same field. To his numerous family and relatives this painful occurrence was truly distressing. Mr. Craven, was a sober, industrious and much respected man.—Raleigh Star.

Encouraging.—We are highly gratified to learn, from a statement in the last Halifax paper, that the commercial affairs of that place appear to be prosperous and active. It announces the arrival, during the week ending on the 9th instant, of twelve schooners and two steam boats, laden for that place and Weldon.—ib.

Shipwreck.—The schooner John Bartlett Capt. Pitcher, which sailed from this port last month, with a cargo of corn for Dighton, in attempting to cross the Swash at Ocracoke, on the 24th, struck several times, and the wind blowing fresh from the N. E. was driven ashore, where she thumped so heavy that she bilged, and with the cargo is totally lost. The vessel and cargo were owned by Mr. H. N. Williams, of this town, and we are glad to learn they were insured, though not for an amount sufficient to cover the loss, as the vessel had recently undergone a thoro' repair.—Eliz. City Star.

[The Washington Union says: The above mentioned vessel has since been gotten off, in a leaky condition and bro't to this place.]

A strange fatality (says the Star) seems to attend vessels from this port. This is the third lost by Mr. W. in the last six or eight months. The schrs. Champion, Capt. Hawes, and Advance Capt. Tillett, sailed from here last fall; the former arrived at Dighton, discharged her cargo and was on her passage home; the latter sailed for the West Indies, since which neither of these vessels, or any of their crews, have been heard from. Besides these, a brig owned by Mr. R. M. Knox, of this place, and commanded by Capt. Slocum, made a voyage to the West Indies, sometime in the fall or winter, since which nothing has been heard of her, and her crew have no doubt found a watery grave. All these were staunch well built vessels, new or nearly so, well found and commanded by old experienced shipmasters who were residents of the place; two of them have left families—one a wife, the other a wife and several small children, to mourn their untimely end.

Benjamin F. Seaborn, who was indicted in the Superior Court of Wake, on a charge of having set fire to the city of Raleigh in September last, but who subsequently removed his cause to Cumberland county, was tried on Friday last. After a laborious investigation, the Jury retired and in about fifteen minutes bro't in a verdict of guilty. A motion in arrest of judgment, on account of defects in the record, was sustained by Judge Martin, and an appeal to the Supreme Court was taken on behalf of the State.

FOREIGN.

Latest from Europe.—The packet ship Monongahela, arrived at Philadelphia, furnishes English dates to the 3th April, however, without adding anything of importance to our previous intelligence. The Liverpool Cotton market was "very flat throughout the week" preceding the 8th of April.

The British Parliament adjourned on the 4th, to assemble again on the 15th April, at which time the Budget was looked to with more than ordinary interest, on account of the anticipated reduction of taxes.

The Private Correspondence of the London Times with Holland, states a number of facts "which go far to show, that the prospect of continued peace in Europe is daily diminishing." The whole of the Dutch army was in motion towards the frontiers; nor was it believed that Russia and Prussia would consent to further rigorous measures being taken against Holland.

The cause of Don Pedro, in Portugal, is considered desperate.

The most important articles refer to the critical state of the Ottoman empire; and it appears that a detachment of the Egyptian army had actually taken possession of Smyrna, while a strong Russian corps had crossed the Pruth for the protection of Constantinople. These events had naturally caused great alarm, and led to very important diplomatic proceedings in the Turkish capital. The French and Russian ambassadors were each endeavoring to obtain a controlling influence in the Divan, while the English and Austrian envoys were looking on; by no means indifferent spectators. Meanwhile the Viceroy of Egypt had rejected all overtures for a suspension of hostilities; and there was no doubt the Sultan would be compelled to throw himself into the arms of one of the great Christian powers, in order to save his diadem from the grasp of the victorious Ibrahim.

D. RICHARDS & CO.
Tarboro', March 22, 1833.

The Statesman,

Will be published twice a week in the City of Raleigh, in common newspaper form, on a Super Royal Sheet, with good type, at four dollars per year to all who pay with a six months from the time of receiving the first number, or five dollars to all who pay afterwards. The publication to commence on the 2d September next.

THE Subscriber, in fixing his permanent residence at the Seat of the State Government, and assuming the Editorial duties of the Statesman, (in which he will be assisted by several gentlemen of talent and leisure,) yields himself to the wishes of many of his friends, who think there is room even in Raleigh for a paper of this description. We shall see.

The Statesman will vigorously support the rights of the States, and at the same time the rights of the United States, (as embodied in the Federal Government by the Constitution,) as the best and surest guarantee of the Union itself, and of the continuance of that protection to life, liberty and property, which it has afforded to the States for the last half century, in their career of greatness and prosperity altogether without a parallel in the history of the world. As it will have come in only at the death of those distracting topics which lately agitated the country, it will claim no share of the spoils. Peace to their ashes! But the Statesman's principal care shall be North Carolina—our own loved—our native land. The improvement of her institutions, the prosperity and happiness of her people, the assertion of her just rights and the due and proper honor of the talents and virtue of her sons shall be its principal concern.

Although she was the first of her sisters to snuff tyranny in the breeze and dared to be free—and ever since her Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, and on every emergency, whether threatened by foreign or domestic dangers, she has met every crisis as became a patriotic and brave people; and even hesitated not to give her own daughter, Tennessee, to add another star to the proud banner of the Republic, and another arm to the national defence. And although possessing a territory, soil, climate, population and wealth, and with intelligence, and moral worth, which entitle her to rank among the first of her sisters, yet strange it is, she is almost unnoted by them, and by the Federal Government also, except to make her pay taxes in peace and fight for them in war; her citizens scarcely participating at all in the honors and emoluments of their own Government! But who says North Carolina sleeps? They will find her wide awake to her rights, and resolved to maintain them; they shall find the Statesman claiming for her—her rateable portion of the public wealth—and for her sons, a fair participation in the public honors of the country—and refusing to take a denial.

The Statesman will search for the hidden mischief and ferret it out of our institutions which has produced the present state of things. Something must be wrong, else, beside all the rest, why is it that with all our resources, the public expenditure exceed the income about seventeen thousand dollars a year? The people should know these things and the certain bankruptcy which is staring their State Government in the face. If, as is probable, the radical fault is in the present basis of representation, the Statesman will contend that it should be changed and made equal and satisfactory to all; if in our Legislation, we say diminish the number of Representatives and have only biennial meetings, and by a change of policy, immolate our unwise feuds on the altar of State good, and present to the Union and the world, one united and affectionate people. The Statesman, too, will advocate general Education, and a judicious system of Banking, commensurate with the wants of our people; nor will it forget to urge the speedy appropriation of the mountains with the sea board, by means of a Central Rail Road, via Raleigh to Beaufort; and also the complete opening of those great arteries of the State, viz: the Cape Fear, the Pamlico and the Albemarle. Raleigh, too, shall have her full share of the benefit of our labors. In 1830 she had them, in our exertions to procure at the expense of the State, for the better security of the public property, a Fire Engine of capacity and power sufficient to throw a heavy column of water on the dome of the late Capitol, with Hose and one hundred fire buckets; she had them by our vote and exertions to secure the continuance of the Seat of Government where it now is; and she shall again have evidences of our good will.

In conclusion, the Statesman will support the Administration of President Jackson, but at the same time contend for low taxes and a cheap government; it will always be very good natured to its friends, but playful cross and saucy to its enemies, for whom, a rod will always be kept in pickle: early and regular reports will be given of the proceedings of the State Legislature and of Congress; and the best speeches which may be made in both these bodies; interesting law cases in our Courts will be collected and spread before its readers; and in a word, its columns will ever contain something useful and amusing to the Farmer, Merchant, Mechanic and the Scholar, and gratifying to the Christian. There will be pretty things for the ladies, butter-nuts for the gentlemen and even sugar plumbs for the children; so that all may be suited for their money. Like a good ship, the paper will be well found, and with plenty of sea room, that is, plenty of good subscribers, it will weather many a storm, and safely enter the desired haven. Should this happen, look out for a merry making at every new year; when we invite all our punctual subscribers and patrons to call on us and receive our best wishes with a hearty pump handle, shake, and a glass of the very best Scuppernon, or old Nash Peach, that our cellar affords.

The Editor respectfully requests the North Carolina editorial corps, to give this Prospectus an insertion or two in their respective papers, and the favor shall be reciprocated as opportunity serves. And he also requests Editors, Post-masters and his friends generally, but especially those members with whom he has served in the General Assembly, to interest themselves in their respective towns and counties in behalf of the Statesman, and procure and forward, (by the first day of August next,) as many good subscribers as they can conveniently procure.
