

United States Gold.—The Boston Atlas gives the following statistics relative to United States Gold.

The amount of the coinage effected at the United States Mint in Philadelphia, within the last year, was $3,041,055:—gold, $793,435;—silver, $2,579,000—cents, $23,620:—of the gold coined, about $30,000 were derived from Mexico, South America and the West Indies; $23,900 from Africa; and $673,000 from the gold region in the Southern States.

The gold mines in North Carolina supplied the Mint the last year with $458,000. The total amount for the last ten years from that State is $1,943,000. Georgia, for the last year, supplied $140,000; Virginia $31,000; S. Carolina $45,000; Tennessee $1000.

The production of only one half of the mines in the Southern States is supposed to find its way to the mint—the other half exported uncoined, or employed in the arts. According to this estimate, the product of the gold found in the United States during the last year, was not less than a million and a quarter.

The gold mines of North Carolina, produced then, during the last year, about $916,000. In 1829, the product was only $268,000—in 1830, $403,000—and in 1831, $538,000, shewing an increase the last year of $323,000.

Two Hundred Lives Lost.—The Amazon, from Hull, arrived at Quebec 31st ult. having on board sixty passengers from the Lady of the Lake, from Belfast, sunk at sea. Upwards of two hundred passengers are said to have gone down with her.

New York Public School.—The twenty eighth annual report of the Trustees of the New York Public School, was published in the Commercial Advertiser on Friday. This Institution is confined to the city of New York, and embraces within its scope children whether of native or emigrant parents, capable of receiving instruction between the ages of five and twelve years. The plan embraces, preliminary to the Public School, so called, a course of instruction in Primary Schools, from which the pupils are transferred to the Public Schools. In both these departments of instruction the attendance is large.—The Public Schools are twelve in number—four of which have Primary departments attached to them, in the same building, and the whole number of pupils instructed is 7034. The Primary Schools are seven in number and contain 7326 pupils—the whole number of children in all branches of the Public Schools in the city of New York, is thus 14,360, and it will be remarked, as an indication of the progressive character of the institution, that the number of scholars in the primary departments is much the larger proportion of the whole number. The whole expense for the last year, including the cost of erecting and furnishing part of the buildings (which items were rather less than $20,000)—was about $37,000.

Suicide.—A most distressing event occurred on Wednesday, the particulars of which were, in brief, as follows: Mr. Mathew G. Gilbert, a carpenter by occupation, and a superior workman,—the head of a family—having a wife and (we are informed) six children, put a period to his existence by cutting his throat, in his own chamber, while in a state of derangement produced by intemperance.—He was a native of Matthews county, but served his apprenticeship and has since resided in this town. Mrs. Gilbert, we learn, was on a visit to her friends in Matthews at the time, whither the corpse was yesterday sent in the packet for interment. It is a remarkable coincidence that this bloody deed was committed in the same house and in the very room in which Lagaudette was butchered by the ruffians, Castellano and Garcia, in 1821.

FOREIGN.

Late From France.—The packet ship Fredonia, has arrived at New York, bringing Paris papers to the 21st May. The following items are given. From England the dates are not as late as those received direct, nor is there any thing worth extracting from Belgium or Oporto. The following in relation to the affairs of Turkey and Egypt, is the only article we have found worth inserting:

Paris, May 16.—The rumors which have been in circulation for two days past, of a rupture of the negotiations between Ibrahim Pacha and the Porte, is confirmed to day by the Augsburg Gazette, which contains the following article:

Constantinople, April 23.—(By express.)—I hasten to inform you, that the negotiations with Ibrahim are still interrupted, and that we expect here that hostilities will be resumed. Ibrahim has received orders from his father, not to give up the district of Adana, and he will not evacuate Anatolia before the Sultan has ceded that district. But the Sultan will no longer listen to this cession; he has declared on the contrary, that having given sufficient proofs of condescension, he now retracts all his concessions. The Sultan, therefore, considers all the proposals hitherto made, null and void, now that a Russian army is arrived to protect him. He has an entire confidence in Russia, and Admiral Roussin has been completely deceived. I have told you repeatedly in my previous letters, that the Porte only negotiated to gain time, and this, it appears, has not been believed either at head quarters at Koniah, nor by the French Embassy, where they now reproach themselves with not having foreseen the real intentions of the Ottoman Porte, for Ibrahim will not dare attack the Russian camp, and if he loses time, it will be difficult for him to keep the field. The principal corps of the Russian army will arrive on the 15th May at Constantinople, and immediately assume the offensive. The most perfect understanding reigns between the Russian troops and the Turkish authorities; each party overwhelms the other with politeness, and the Sultan pays particular attention to the supply of the army of his auxiliary. At present there are 14,000 Russians in the camp near Scutari, and to-morrow 400 Turkish artillery men will join them. Russian officers have been sent to the Dardanelles, to put the castles in a state of defence. The war thus now appears about to commence seriously.—What events shall we witness. The most perfect tranquility reigns in the capital, and no doubt the presence of the Russians has greatly contributed to preserve it."

It will be seen from this article, that matters in the East were never so far from a pacific termination as they are at the present moment; and notwithstanding the French Government has allowed itself to be lulled into security by the favorable accounts it lately received, and has neglected to take these measures which the new situation of affairs rendered necessary. However, a great number of French vessels must now be united in the Eastern waters, and an English fleet is on the point of sailing thither. From the turn which the negotiations of France have taken at Constantinople, it is difficult to form an opinion on the part she will act in the contest between the Russians and the Egyptians, but the course of conduct hitherto followed by the French ministry, renders it probable that she will remain neutral. And thus all their boastings of the firmness of their measures will vanish.

The Estafetta du Havre observes, on this intelligence, that they do more than suspect its correctness. That it is not the first time the Augsburg Gazette has been imposed upon; and that besides in this instance, there are other circumstances which render the account highly improbable. That a ship la Fleche arrived at Toulon from Alexandria on the 11th of May, which brought the official account of the conclusion of a peace; and that although the government has not yet given publicity to this news, it is probably owing to their only having had time to receive a telegraphic despatch on the subject. They conclude by expressing a total disbelief in the article in the Augsburg paper.

The markets for American produce remained unaltered.

It is said that the last accounts from Holland indicate an approach towards a satisfactory arrangement.

The situation of the contending parties in Portugal remain without any material change.

Mexico.—The value of the ornaments in gold and silver, belonging to the churches in Mexico, is computed at thirty millions of dollars.
