Rapidly Assuming Serious Propor-

Washington, D. C., Special.-At the equest of the State Department, the Navy Department has instructed the at once from Laguayra to Guanoco ola, to protect American interests, upon reports that the revolutionary movement there is increasing, and the attempt is making o take possession of the arms of the New York and Bermudez Company. The news came to the State Department from a private, but perfectly reliable source, and was made the basis of immediate representations to the Navy Departont. Secretary Long responded very promptly. Captain Cowles, acting as hief of the Navigation Bureau, conferred with Acting Secretary of State Hill respecting the movements of the naval vessels and the character of the instructions to be sent to Lieutenant Commander Sargent, of the Scorpion, which happens to be the only vessel available for immediate service, and adjacent to the scene of trouble. Commander Sargent has been instructed to avoid bloodshed, and the destruction of property if possible. Still, taken in connection with what has gone before, there is little doubt that if the disturb ing forces in Venezuela, whether gov ernmental or revolutionary, are seeking to take action toward disposing of the incumbents in the asphalt conces sion, in defiance of the tacit agree ment that there should first be an inquiry, the United States warship will prevent that action peaceably, if possible, forcibly if necessary, Guanoco, is not to be found on the ordinary charts, but is said to be the nearest point to the asphalt concessions accessible to the Scorpion, lying up the Orinoco river about two days run from Laguira, so that the warship should be at the seat of the trouble before the end of the present week. The State Department also is in receipt of private, but trustworthy advices that the Orinoco Shipping and Trading Company, two or whose vessels were seized yesterday by the Venezuelan government, is an English corporation. The vessels are under the British registry but fly the Venezuelan flag. The State Department is unable to intervene directly to com pel restitution, but as American capital is invested in the company it has directed Minister Looms to use his good offices as far as possible to pro tect the American interests.

FOR JANUARY 27.

Subject: Christ Silences the Pharisces, Matt. xxii., 34-46-Gelden Text: Matt. xxii., 48-Memory Verses, 37-40-Commentary on the Day's Lesson.

34. "The Pharisces." In order to entangle Christ the Pharisces joined themselves to their religious and political opponents, the Sadducees and Herodians. In Christ's time the Pharisces were a strong party of the Jews. While they esteemed the Scriptures, yet they placed equal authority upon their traditions. They were outwardly exacting, but inwardly very corrupt. Christ at different times rebuked their pride, covetousness and hypocrisy in most scathing terms. The Pharisces were leaders in the movement which resulted in our Lord's death. "To silence." Our Lord silenced the opposition, and He still, in many ways, does the same thing. When God moves opposing influences must give way. "Were gathered together." For the purpose of ensuaring Him in His talk.

35. "A lawyer." A scribe. A professional interpreter of the law of Moses. Usually such a noted scribe was a teacher and had a company of disciples about him. "Tempting Him." Or testing Him. He laid a theological trap, but the hoped-for prey walked through it and left him in it.

36. "Which." Of what nature is the great commandment in the law? "The for prey walked through it and sept main it.

36. "Which." Of what nature is the great commandment in the law? "The great commandment." This was a disputed question among their doctors of the law. Some ascribed first place to the law of sacrifices, others to the law of circumcision, others to the law of circumcision, others to the law of the Sabbath, while some gave this distinction to the law of meats. But Jesus, with much better reason, decided in favor of a commandment inclusive of the whole of piety, and leading to every holy temper, word and work." ("Links makes this a new contraction of the same of the sa law of meats. But Jesus, with much better reason, decided in favor of a commandment inclusive of the whole of piety, and leading to every holy temper, word and work.

37. "Thou." Christ makes this a personal matter; He does not speak in a general way; but He brings the truth home to His questioner. "Shalt." There is no chance for cavil here; no ambiguous expressiors. "Bove the Lord thy God." The religion of the Bible does not consist in good external acts, in prayers, in our yeal for onrist, in performing the deeds of the law, or in being midde happy, but is over to God and man. "With all the least." The heart is the seat of the affections, the desires, the motives and the will. "All thy soul." He loves God with all his soul, or rather, with all his life, who is ready to give up his life for His sake—to endure and suffer rather than to dishonor God. Soul is the individual existence, the person himself. "All thy mind." Ine intellect belongs to God and we are to love Him to the extent of giving all our mental powers in His service.

38. "This is the first." In (1) antiquity, (2) dignty, (3) excellence, (4) justice, (5) sufficiency, (6) fruitfulness, (7) virtue and efficacy, (8) extent, (9) necessity, (10) duration. "And great." This love is also the best, the noblest, the most elevating, purifying, enlarging act of the soul. This is the greatest commandment. 1. Because it is the fountain of the obedience of all the commandments. 2. Because the commandments are not obeyed except the obedience spring from love. 3. Hecause it is the fountain of the obedience of all the commandments. 2. Because the commandments are not obeyed except the whole man, with all his powers of soul and body, obey in all things.

39. "The second. The first table of the law defines our duty to God; the second, our duty to our neighbor. Is like." Of a like nature, embracing the whole of his soul.

40. "Hang all the law." These, two commandments which refer to our duties to our leighbor should be especially directed to the good of his soul.

11 Cor. 12: 31; 13: 1-13); the fulfilling of the law (Rom. 13: 10); the end of the law, 1 Tim. 1: 5.

41. "Were—together." During this interview, while Jesus was still teaching in the temple. "Jesus saked them." They had been asking Him many question and had tried to entangle Him in His talk, and now He, in turn, asks them a question. 42. "What think ye of Christ? Whose Son is He?" This was an easy question, and was answered very readily. The question is still pertinent: What think "ye" of Christ?—As to His claims to divinit? Was He the ideal, sinless Manthe battern of the race? Was He the embodiment of the divine perfections? Was rie, and is He our Prophet, Priest and King; our Teacher, Saviour, Sanctifier, Henler? Any answer to these questions is, Yes, He is. But what think "ye" of Christ? To them that "believe," He is precious. "The Son of David." It was a fact well known and universally acknowledged among the Jews that the Messiah was to spring from the family of David. 43. "How, then, doth David?" He saks another question which is not so easily explained. "In spirit." Under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit David had called Christ Lord.—The question was (v. 45), If the Messiah is to be David's Son.

explained. "In spirit." Under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit David had called Christ Lord. The question was (v. 45), If the Messiah is to be David's Son, as you say, how can He be David's Lord! Jesus did not desire to ensmare them, but His purpose was to instruct them.

44. "The Lord saith." Jesus quotes from Psa. 110: 1. That is, Jehovah saith. "Unto my Lord." Unto David's Lord, or Christ. "Sit Thou." Jehovah kiere gives Christ the place of the greatest eminence and authority, at His own right hand. "Thine enemies Thy footstool." God proposes to subdue the emeiles of Christ, both Jews and Gentiles, and cause them to acknowledge their Sovereign and Lord. How is it possible for those who disbelieve in the divinity of Christ to explain this Scripture? Christ is Lord, scated at the right hand of the Father, and before Him the nations of the world must bow; willingly if they will, willingly or unwillingly, bow they must.

45. "How is He his Son?" He is Lord in His divine relation to David, and a Son as to his humanity.

46. "To answer Him a word." Not a man was able to reply; they simply had nothing to say; neither durst they ask Him any more questions.

orrible Fate Of a Negro In Kansas.

ACCUSED OF CRIMINAL ASSAULT.

Taken From the Officers. Tied to State, Saturated With Oil and Leavenworth, Kan., Special.—Fred Alexander, the negro who on Saturday evening attempted to assault Miss Eva Roth, and who was supposed to have assaulted and killed Miss Forbes in November last, was taken from the sheriff's guerd by a mob and burned at the stake at the scene of his crimes, half a dozen blocks from the centre of the city. Probably 8,000 people witnessed the lynching.

The negro was taken from his cell at the State penitentiary at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, placed in a back and brought to wait. Fifty deputy mar-shals surrounded him and Deputy Sheatffs Stance, Myers and Thomas Brown sat in the hack on either sidof him. Fifty buggies and wagons fol-lowed the back. At Fourth and Oliver streets the police in the back followed the one in which Alexander was concealed, jumped out and chased several negroes. In the incitement the prisoner's hack was frantically driven to the county jail, where he was locked in a cell just as the mob reached the doors.

The crowd first attempted to gain admission by peaceful means, but admission by peacerul means, put Sheriff Everhardty refused to deliver the negro. Then the crowd-pushed its way to the side door and using one man as a battering ram, the door was forced from its hinges. Then the crowd surged into the corridor by the narrow doorway. A huge iron door led to the cell rooms. The door was finally bont sufficiently for the men to climb over it. Several gained an entrance in this manner. Meantime the crowd had pushed down the sate gate of the stockade, and a yelling puck appeared in the jail yard. The hinges of the side door, made of heavy iron, were cut off with siedge hammers and chiesis and the door of the cell room broken down. A man with sharp eyes spied a shappiese man crouched down in one corner of the dark cell. Five minutes work and the heavy lock on the cell had been broken off. A yell of torror issued from the cell. Strong men filled the corridors with hysterical laughter. Outside the crowd was yelling itself houses. Then into the cell rushed those who were nearest the door.

him. "Confess before we hang you," said they.
"I am innocent," cried the negro. "I am innocent," cried the negro. "I am dying for what amother man did. I see lots of friends here; they know I did not do it. If I had been guilty I would have said so at the pentientiar; and would have stayed there for life. The warden told me so. The policemen told me so. Would not I have told them if I was guilty?"
"You lie," they cried, and one huge fellow struck Alexander in the forehead with his fist three times. He spoke with the resignation of a man who sees before him only certain death. A move was made for a large cottonwood tree in a corner of the court house yard.
"My God men," cried the negro in his agony. "I have told you that I am isnocent. I can't tell you any more. I did not do it."
"He lies, hum him!" cried the means.

"Take him where he committed the murder," suggested one.

Immediately the crowd carrying the pagro, who was thrown into a wagon, pushed towards Fourth street. At 5:15 o'clock Alexander was brought to the exact spot where Pearl Forbes, the murdered girl, was found and a semi-direle was formed. Alexander was brought up the a wagon with a dozen men. The leared called for stlemes. The toar caused and Alexander was shoved forward into full view of the crowd. A ard into full view of the crowd. A men. The leared called for silence. The tour ceased and Alexander was shoved forward into full view of the crowd. A howl went up, which was quickly husbed as the prisoner reised has shackled hands and began to speak. Twice the crowd drowned his trembling vorce.

Coal off was applied for the settime while Alexander called to acqueintances in the crowd and said good-bye to them. He talked retionally until John Fobes, the fasher of the murdered girl, lighted the match. Again Alexander was asked to make a confession, but he replied that he had nothing to eay.

As the flames leaped about him Alexander turned a ghastly hue, and classing his hands together, began to sway to and tro while the crowd railed. In five minutes the negro was hanging liron and lifeless by the chains that bound him. As soon as the crowd saw that life was extind, it began to slowly disperse. Hundreds, however, stayed to the last. Men kept pilling on wood all the time until about 7 o'clock, when the flames were allowed to die down. From 6 to 8 o'clock there was a continuous stream of people going from and to the scene of the burning and letter there was a wild scramble to obtain relica.

After Alexander's arrest he was taken before Miss Roth, who identified him. Since then a mob has surrounded the penitentiary day and night. Many mothers hesitate to take their daughters to a physician for examination; but no mother need hesitate to write freely about her daughter or herself to Mrs. Pinkham and secure the most efficient advice without charge. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

Mrs. August Pfalzgraf, of South Byron, Wis., mother of the young lady whose portrait we here publish, wrote Mrs. Pinkham in January, 1899, saying her daughter had suffered for two years with irregular menstruation—had headache all the time, and pain in her side, feet swell, and was generally miserable. Mrs. Pinkham promptly replied with advice, and under date of March, 1899, the mother writes again that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her daughter of all pains and irregularity.

Nothing in the world equals Mrs. Pinkham's great medicine for regulating woman's peculiar monthly troubles.
