The meeting of the citizens at the Court House Monday night was all that could be expected.

MR. S. J. EVERETT ON THE SUBSIDY BILL.

Subsidy is a governmental aid to any social or economic institution. The commercial independence of a nation rests upon the proper development of the three great branches of economic activity—agriculture, manufactures and commerce.

Our trade with Africa and South America was recently destroyed by a combination of European ship owners. All the cotton goods exported by the Southern mills to Chicago, to Canadian ports to be shipped aboard English subsidized ships.

government was forced to buy forty ships from England and Germany, regardless of neutrality laws. We pay Europe annually $300,000,000 for freight and passenger transportation.

It is evident from the conditions described that the lack of ships in foreign trade affects every phase of our industrial life. Our industries produce one-third more than we consume and upon the proper distribution of this surplus rests the prosperity of the nation.

This difference can be overcome only by some governmental aid. Subsidies or direct bounties, constitute the only direct and immediate means of providing for this difference.

The struggle in the world today in all the conflicting interests is for commercial supremacy; to be commercially supreme, we must have a merchant marine.

Mr. S. J. Everett well merits our praise in so ably, so successfully defending the unpopular side of this most, unpopular question. The synopsis given above shows the line of argument pursued, but does not do justice to the many well turned oratorical expressions used by him in the debate.

Mr. Everett, with his assistant, won the President's Prize. This is one of the highest honors to which the debater may aspire. With the exception of the Wiley P. Mangum Medal, which is open only to seniors, the President's Prize is the highest reward conferred on a commencement speaker at the University. F. S. H.

"Something New Under The Sun. All Doctors have tried to cure CATARRH by the use of powders, acid gases, inhalers and drugs in paste form. Their powders dry up the mucous membranes causing them to crack open and bleed. The powerful acid used in the inhalers have entirely eaten away the same membranes that their makers have aimed to cure."

That was nine years ago and I am still in good health. Since then that medicine has always been in my house and always will be. It is the best on earth." For sale by N. S. Peel & Co.
