TALKING ABOUT TOBACCO.

The Richmond News predicts that "the price of tobacco will go "sky high." It says that there are over twenty promient tobacco men in Richmond to see Mr. Reed, the newly appointed representative of the Imperial Tobacco Company, of Great Britain and Ireland, in regard to his plans for the purchase and shipment of tobacco to England. It quotes Mr. Dibbrell, editor of the Richmond Tobacco Journal, as saying that the competition between the gigantic American and Imperial companies will keep the price of tobacco up. The News says that opinion is divided as to the effect of the establishment of cruder kind which is used for headquarters at Richmond by the fuel and light This has open-Imperial Tobacco Company, and ed up a new industry in the adds Tazewell M. Carrington, the president of the United States Tobacco Association, said today that he believed it would lead to a rate war in the tobacco field that would be very favorable to the farmer but disastrous to the small dealer. The American Tobacco Company will, he thinks. resent the intrusion of the British trust into this market, and primaries. They gained cominasmuch as Mr. Duke and his con-plete control of the nominaferes virtually control this market tions and now they are wonthey will send the prices of tobacco far beyond their present limit. It would have been easier, Mr. Carrington thinks, for the Imperial Tobacco Company to have fought the American trust through the dealers, because then the trust land, Africa, where graduates would not have known who to hit and would have found it harder to fight a lot of dealers than one representative. This sentiment is teaching the natives to raise ish WesiIndies, which he says is voiced very generally, but there are cotton, has just made a ship- to be used to pay for bribing Amerothers who believe that the effect of the establishment of a branch office here will make things, very interesting for the dealers generally.

passed, and it will not be surpris-ing if the vote should be unanimous. But, true to human nature, the victors are not satisfied. Hav-will get it, and the talk of individual Senators seems to give the claim substantial basis. The plan now contemplated is to have the Senate make the reduction in the tariff 40 or 50 per cent. so as to leave a wide margin for compromise when the bill gets in conference, and they hope that it will not be less than 30 per cent when it passes and goes to the President. Now that the corresp ence between the President, the Secretary of War, and the General in command of the army, concerning the latter's plan for pacifying the Philippines is before the House, in resposne to a resolution adopted last week, it is plain enough to any unprejudiced person that it would have served a better purpose to have left it in the archives of the War Eepartment, The Senate Military committee i
