Death of Rev. Henry Wingate.

We regret to announce the death of Rev. Henry Wingate at Plymouth on Sunday morning, the 18th. instant. 'Twas fitting that while the church bells were calling to worship, his faithful soul should be called to praise in the Church Triumphant.

For several years he had fought against the advance of consumption in his system and had been taking special treatment since last summer. He, with his family, went to Plymouth just one week before his death—he having expressed a desire to die and to be buried there beside his boy.

He is best known in Williamston as the Rector of the Church of the Advent, in whose chancel he preached his last sermon here on the second Sunday in June, 1902. Perhaps, no man ever served here who so easily won and held the hearts of his congregation as did this man of God. From his very presence arose the increase of godliness that made one feel that he was indeed one of God's anointed.

HOBGOOD.

W. N. Herring is quite sick with pneumonia.

Some of our farmers have right much of their last year's crop of tobacco on hand yet, and it is nice too.

Miss Mary Hobbs, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Armstrong, returned to her home in Williamston Saturday.

Ed. and Arthur Ruffin, two of our genial and clever townsmen, left to-day for Buie's Creek, where they will take a course at that worthy institution.

Jack Frost is hurling some sharp daggers at us just now, but we are not inconvenienced by the high price of coal; we use heaters and pine wood and have a plenty of it close by.

Ask a farmer in this section the condition of his corn crib and the usual reply is "I will have a plenty to make another crop with, but am sorry to say the meat supply is not quite so good."

W. P. White, our able and efficient representative, is at home on a two-day's leave of absence. Speaking of the Senatorial contest, he says, there is no felling who will be the lucky man.

From the number of horses and mules that are being sold here and that pass here for other points this season, it looks like all of the old ones died last year. If they are all for the farmers it looks like farming is keeping pace with other industries fairly well.

The farmers of this section are not so enthusiastic about an increase in tobacco acreage as they were before the decline in price. There will be a small increase in the crop with us, and a few new beginners, though nothing like it would have been, but for the decline in price.

"SOJOURNER."

An Indian Territory editor has this to say of his work:

"Editing a newspaper is a pleasant business—if you can stand it."

"If it contains many advertisements a subscriber complains that they take up too much space. If there is a lack of advertising it is unpopular and the people won't give it."

"If we attend church regularly they say we go for effect. If we stay from church they say we are monstrously healthful."

"If we accept an invitation to a wedding they say we are only invited to write it up."

"If we go to the opera house they say we go on free tickets. If we are seen upon the streets too often they say we neglect our business. Is we avoid going on the street they say we don't hustle around after the news."

"If we publish a man who has brought disgrace upon his family, the friends of the family never forgive us. If we, out of goodness of heart, decline to say anything on the subject, the man's enemies are disappointed and we are branded as white-livered cowards."

Polonius' Advice to His Son.

Give thy thoughts no tongue. Nor any unproportion'd thought his act.

Be thou familiar, but by no means vulgar:

The friends thou hast, and their adoption tried,

Grapple them to thy soul with hoops of steel;

But do not dull thy palm with entertainment

Of each new-hatched, unfledged comrade. Beware

Of entrance to a quarrel; but being in,

Bear't that the oppressor may beware of thee.

Give every man thine ear, but few thy voice;

Take each man's censure, but reserve thy judgment.

Costly thy habit as thy purse can buy,

But not express'd in fancy; rich, not gaudy;

For the apparel oft proclaims the man.

Neither a borrower nor a lender be; For loan oft loses both itself and friend,

And borrowing dulls the edge of husbandry.

This above all,—to thine own self be true;

And it must follow, 'as the night the day.

Thou shalt not then be false to any man,—Shakespeare.

The Dubble Reputation.

The Governor—Colonel, don't you know Judge Blank? Shake hands with him.

The Colonel—Ah, you are Judge Blank of Blankville?

The Judge—Yes; Blankville is my home.

The Colonel—Of course I know you by reputation then.

The Governor—Colonel, don't you know it always makes me feel mighty uncomfortable when a man says that about me—that he knows me by reputation?

The Colonel—How is that, governor? Why should it make you feel uncomfortable?

The Governor—Because, by Jingo, I always wonder which reputation he means.

Mrs. Johanna Soderlohm, of Fergus Falls, Minn., fell and dislocated her shoulder. She had a surgeon get it back in place as soon as possible, but it was quite sore and pained her very much.

Her son mentioned that he had seen Chamberlain's Pain Balm advertised for sprains and soreness, and she asked him to buy her a bottle of it, which he did. It quickly relieved her and enabled her to sleep which she had not done for several days. The son was so much pleased with the relief it gave his mother that he has since recommended it to many others. For sale by N. S. Peel & Co.
