character and physical strength necessary to succeed are acquired by working with the forces of nature. Learning her unerring laws, which makes character, working under whole some influences in natural conditions thus developing the physique of the man by exercising and training the muscles. Such men have made the world and Prof. Williams wants to keep them in the South on the farm and make our great section truly a land of sunshine and prosperity. Where will you seek a more handsome illustration of the combination of nature and art than the educated farm boy of the South?

Every influence should be exerted to keep our boys at home. We should have schools that will educate them in their own community and thus endear the boy and the community. The boy will have binding pleasures and an ambition for his community. There is no limit to a man's achievements when his heart, his ambition and his energies are directed along the same line. Let us encourage our youths, keep them home and they will make our country great. Other communities will then not grow at our expense.

A travelling man who is acquainted with the conditions and knew what he was saying tells us that the president of every bank in Norfolk, save one, is from North Carolina. He says further that the ferry boats, street cars and large business houses of that city are controlled and capitalized by men who sprang from the blood of and grew up in North Carolina. He knows where the homes of many of these men are, their parents and relatives and they are from the country. He has traveled this section for over thirty years.

This shows what these boys are doing and will do. Think of it, good people of Martin, how many of our boys are to be found in the large towns and cities. We must keep our youths at home by encouraging our young men. Let us not be young of saying "A prophet is not without honor save at home." This prejudice must be disproved. Is it true that we must not have business with them because we know them. We prefer to take chances with strangers. Horace Greeley's famous saying "Young men go West" should be changed to Prof. Williams' "Young men of the South stay home and work on the farm."

A bill has been passed at this session of the Legislature changing the Courts of Martin. Instead of two, two-week terms the bill provides for four, one week terms.

The position of the Enterprise is the same that it was two years ago when this was agitated by a few of the lawyers. The Enterprise believes that instead of being a benefit it will cause more litigation and besides be more expensive to the county than the old system.

The opinion of the people in this instance is divided, but we confidently believe that those in favor of it are a very small minority.

Time will tell whether or not the county has been burdened with an extra expense.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral certainly cures coughs, colds, bronchitis, consumption. And it certainly strengthens weak throats and weak lungs. There can be no mistake about this. You know it is true. And your own doctor will say so.

My little boy had a terrible cough. I tried everything I could hear of but in vain until I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. The first night he was better, and he steadily improved until he was perfectly well. —Mrs. B. J. STEWART, ALTON, Ill.

Notwithstanding the low price of cotton, it is not improbable that the present year will be one of general prosperity. It is an off year in politics; there are no campaigns, no general elections. From these sources no disturbances will come to business conditions. The business man, the professional man, the farmer, and the mechanic is each left to devote his time, talent, and attention to the business of bettering his own condition in the world, and it would indeed be surprising if individual effort did not have a wholesome effect upon the conditions of prosperity this year.—Gastonia Gazette.

THOUGHTS FOR FARMERS

Give The Girls a Chance

The daughters of well-to-do farmers do not have full work. They cannot do ordinary farm work with their father and brothers. Those living in the cotton sections may pick cotton a few weeks, but they are not fully employed the balance of the year. Why not turn over the poultry to the girls? It is a pleasant and interesting business. Besides The Progressive Farmer, take some first class poultry paper. Let the girls charge the family with all the eggs and fowls used at home and keep an account of sales. In this way the father will get a valuable lesson as to value of poultry as well as of girls. Bear in mind that two dozen turkeys averaging 12 pounds each are now worth as much as a bale of cotton. Another suitable business for girls is raising bees and handy. That is light work and quite remunerative in good honey years. A girl might have a liking for cattle and then she should have charge of the milk and butter. That would be an excellent training for girls and would be worth much to them when settled in homes of their own. It is a great step forward to know how to do things that have to be done in every family. Give the girls the best chance possible.—Progressive Farmer.

That Tickling in the Throat

One minute after taking One Minute Cough Cure that tickling in the throat is gone. It acts in the throat—not the stomach. Harmless—good for children. A. L. Spofford, postmaster at Chester, Mich; says: "Our little girl was unconscious from strangulation during a sudden and terrible attack of croup. Three doses of One Minute Cough Cure half an hour apart speedily cured her. I cannot praise One Minute Cough Cure too much for what it has done in our family." It always gives relief. Sold by Anderson, Crawford & Co.
