BEAUTIFUL MARRIAGE CEREMONY.

Brilliant Reception—Society En Masse.

(Communicated.)

On Tuesday evening at nine thirty o'clock in the Church of the Advent the marriage of Miss Emma Hassell to Frederick William Hoyt took place, which was one of the prettiest ceremonies ever seen in Williamston. The church was tastefully decorated, and the soft glow of the many candles made the effect beautiful. The crowd was as large as the church could accommodate, most all the seats were reserved for friends; on the right were seated the friends of the bride, and on the left those of the bridegroom. Miss Carrie A. Biggs played the Bridal March from Wagner's "Tannhauser" and the party entered as follows: Mess. Kader B. Crawford and Ed. Clark, Jr., of Washington; Mess. C. B. Hassell and Carl Richardson, of Washington, ushers; then came Misses Anna Crawford and Mary Hassell, the attendants, next Mrs. Dennis S. Biggs, Matron of Honor, followed by Miss Helen B. Moore, of Washington, Maid of Honor. The bride came with her father, Mr. Walter Hassell, who gave her away. She was met at the altar by the bridegroom and his best man, his brother, Dr. Colburn Hoyt, of Roanoke Rapids. Rev. Nathaniel Harding, rector of Saint Peter's Church Washington, and brother-in-law of the bridegroom, read the ritual of the English Church. After the ceremony the party was driven to the Hassell mansion, which in by gone days has seen brilliant assemblies, but none so delightful as the occasion of the marriage of the only daughter of the present household, where a reception was held from ten to twelve. The guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hassell, the bride and bridegroom and the members of the party. The ladies wore gowns of beautiful designs. The bride wore a gown of white lousine silk trimmed with pearls and real lace, adorned with ornaments of diamonds and wore the bridal veil. She carried a bouquet of lillies of the valley. Mrs. Walter Hassell wore a gown of black with white trimmings. Miss Helen Moore wore pink crepe de chine and carried La France roses. Mrs. Dennis S. Biggs wore white crepe de chine trimmed with pearls and lace, Miss Carrie Biggs wore black Brussels net. Miss Mary Hassell wore white silk trimmed with pearls and carried white chrysanthemums, Miss Anna Crawford wore white India silk trimmed with lace and carried white roses. Mrs. Clarence A. Jeffrey, who had charge of the marriage book, wore a gown of lavender and around her neck a white feather boa from Nice. During the reception refreshments were served by Misses Henrietta Peele, Annie Lamb, Victoria Martin and Ella Station.
