We acknowledge the receipt o an invitation to attend the reception at the North Carolina State Building, Jamestown Exposition. next Thursday evening, to be tendered His Excellency Robert B. Glenn. We regret very much that we will be unable to attend the reception.

Preparations are being made for 'Old Home Week'' in Maryland, October 12 to 19. This will be a great week for all Marylanders. The editor of this paper has been placed on the publicity committee and will from time to time keep his Maryland readers posted as to the progress being made and features of the "Home Week."

HISTORIC NORTH CAROLINA.

eia Burr's Portrait and the Mys-tery of Her Death.

The North Carolina state historical exhibit, but recently installed in the building at the Jamestown exposition, forms one of the most intersting and valuable collections of its kind at the Tercentennial and reflects credit upon the state and those individuals who are responsible for its ence. The exhibit, which is partly under the auspices of the Wachovia Historic society, a Moravian organization of Winston-Salem, N. C., is under the direction of Miss Lindsay Patterson, chairman of the committee; Miss Schenck of Greensboro, Miss Mary Hinton of Raleigh and J. A. Linback of the Wachovia Historic society.

The Moravian exhibit is a most in teresting collection of the handicraft and genius of the people of that de-nomination who settled in North Carolina in the early part of the eighteenth century and demonstrates their won derful ingenuity. Among the relics of this exhibit is the first fire engine imfirst printing presses, which was cap-tured later by Cornwallis and used in the printing of his orders. Pottery, beadwork and pewter ware form an important part of the collection, which is exhibited for the first time outside of the city of Winston-Salem.

The state exhibit, which covers the entire early history of North Carolina from its beginning through the war of 1812, is replete with portraits of pres idents, governors and statesmen who have been produced from within her borders; also famous documents, letters and silverware from many of the old families of the state.

Relics from the famous battles of Guilford Court House and Morse Creek bridge also form part of the exhibit. The portraits are among the most in-teresting of the exhibit, consisting of the noted John White collection of Indian pictures presented by Colonel B. H. Cameron, the portraits of President Jackson, Pope and Johnson, two of Reynolds' portraits and a famous ortrait of Theodosia Burr by an unnown artist.

The portrait of Theodosia Burr, daughter of Aaron Burr, the saddest and most romantic character in American history, has a history too remark-able to pass over without some men-tion. Theodosia Burr (Mrs. Alston, wife of Governor Alston of North Carolina) set sall from Georgetown, N. C., to meet her father, Aaron Burr, in New York upon his arrival from Europe The ship she sailed in was lost at sea and nothing was ever known of the fate of this beautiful woman until recently, when the picture which now forms part of the history exhibit at the exposition was found in the posses-sion of an old woman whose remark-able story proves without a doubt that Theodosia came to her death at the hands of pirates. The portrait was found in the shanty of a very old woman at Nags Head, N. C., who told the crowd attended and the breaks were large. About 40,000 pounds were sold, which, considering the quality, which was mostly lugs, brought good prices. One pleasing feature of the occassion was the presence of quite a number of beautiful ladies, many of whom came from a distance to witness the opening sales. Their varied colored costumes and lovely faces and pleasing manners, reminded the close observer of a beautiful bed of lillies with a dew-drop nestling in each cup, and reflecting the Sun's bright rays like diamonds of translucent glory. The proprie tors of our warehouses, Messrs. Adkins & Bailey of the Taylor Warehouse, and Messrs, Young Thornburg & Morton, of the Car olina Warehouse are very worthy gentlemen and we think these houses will sell large quanities of the leaf this season. The buyers are fine business men, and being good judges of tobacco will always pay the highest prices the market can afford.

the value of the collection. The ex-hibit in its entirety is one of the handst and best chosen which have been installed at the exposition and must be seen to be appreciated.

We are pleased to know that our little city is comparatively healthy though there is one or two cases, which require the physician's attention.

Mrs. Thornburg has returned from a visit to friends and relatives in Forsythe County. We hope her trip was beneficial to her health and pleasant in the association of friends and loved ones.

The neices of Mrs. W. S. Adkins, Misses Madaline, Mary and Pattie Knight of Washington are visiting their grandma and aunt. Their cheerful and happy dispositious add much to the social enjoyments of the young people who visit them.

The Limit of Life

The most eminent medical scientists are unanimous in the conclusion that the generally accepted limitation of human life is many years below the attainment possible with the advanced know-ledge of which the race is now possessed. The critical period, that determines its duration, seems to be between 50 and 60; the pro-per care of the body during this decade cannot be too strongly-urged, carelessness then being fatal to longevity. Nature's best helper after 50 is Electric Bitters, the scientific tonic medicine that revitour town, the time for opening of the tobacco market. A very large gist. 5°c.

THE SIXTH OPENING

65,000 Pounds of Tobacco Sold On Williamston Market Last Priday.

The sixth opening of the Williamston Tobacco Market came off last Friday as advertised. There was an immense crowd in attendance, and one was reminded of the first opening five years ago, not only by the size of the crowd pres ent, but also by the quantity of tobacco sold. There was nearly 70,ooo pounds of the golden weed on the three floors, and the average price paid was as high as that of any previous opening, except last year, and there was only a slight difference in that.

Other markets that have already pened did not pay as much on the pening day as did Williamston. or did they have as large breaks.

There was not a single tag turned on this sale, and that is evidence that the farmers were all satisfied The outlook for a good season is very promising. The buyers all want tobacco, and they are going to pay for it.
