WILLIAMSTON, N. C., FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1907

WHOLE NO. 395

"WHY do I take Cardui?" writes Mrs. Jemma Mullins of Odessa, W. Va. "Because, after suffering for several years with female trouble, and trying different doctors and medicines without obtaining relief, I at last found, in Wine of Cardui, a golden medicine for all my ills, and can recommend it above all others for female complaints."

Cardui furnishes safe relief for backache, headache, periodical pains, irregular, painful or unhealthy catamenial flow, and all ailments from which sick women suffer. A perfect tonic for delicate women. A pure vegetable medicine for girls and women who are subject to the complaints peculiar to their sex. Has benefited over a million who used to suffer as you do.

At every drug store, in $1.00 bottles.

WRITE US A LETTER describing fully all your symptoms and we will send you Free Advice in plain sealed envelope. Ladies Advisory Dept., The Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn.

Circus Folk Hard Workers.
The amount of physical work done by the performers of the circus is scarcely believable. These people make the care of their bodies their religion, and they will do nothing that militates against their strength or their health. When the performers rise in the morning they hurry to the cook tent for breakfast. Then they must get into their trappings for the parade, failure to report at 10:30 involving a fine of $5. If the big tent is up early the chances are that the arena will be filled with performers practicing for an hour before the parade. After the street display the performers have their dinner, and then they must dress for the grand entrance, from which none is excused. Only a very few of the circus folk escape with a single act. Nearly all of them do two and most of them three acts, for each of which they must change their costume. A woman performer often works in a gymnastic act on the ground, another in the air, rises in a menage act or two and in the fat races at the end of the performance. In addition she will very probably "do a turn" in a concert after the show, and she must change her costume for each appearance.—Everybody's Magazine.

A Trick That Won.
"Once, when 'Long John' Wentworth was mayor of Chicago," said an old time resident of that city, "a hot campaign was in progress. The rough element was showing signs of turbulence, and 'Long John' knew that the police force was totally unable to cope with it if there should be a riot. There wasn't much of any police force in those days. The few officers that there were didn't have any uniform outside of a blue hat. On the front of this was a number of the with the man's number on it. There was no money to pay for additional officers, so 'Long John' betwought himself of a bright scheme. He had a figure '9' added to the number on every one of those hats. On election day the different members of the force were stationed conspicuously where the trouble was most likely to break out. The roughs saw the numbers, '250,' '290,' '350,' etc., where they had before seen only '25,' '29' and '35.' The word went around that 'Long John' had added several hundred men to the police force, and the tough crowd were so intimidated that they never dared to do a thing."

Stomach troubles, Heart and Kidney ailments, can be quickly corrected with a prescription known to druggist everywhere as Dr. Shoop's Restorative. The prompt and surprising relief which this remedy immediately brings is entirely due to its Restorative action upon the controlling nerves of the Stomach, etc. A weak Stomach, causing dyspepsia, a weak Heart with palpitation or intermittent pulse always means weak Stomach nerves or weak Heart nerves. Strengthen these inside or controlling nerves with Dr. Shoop's Restorative and see how quickly these ailments disappear. Dr. Shoop of Racine, Wis., will mail samples free. Write for them. A test will tell. Your health is certainly worth this simple trial. Sold by S. R. Biggs

Picture Forgeries.
It has been computed by a leading authority that one in every ten pictures in the National gallery is a forgery. Near Paris is a factory where these replicas are turned out in large numbers, mostly for the benefit of tourists. They are sold chiefly in back streets in Italian towns, where the visitors have the satisfaction of "discovering" them. Some artists have a perverted genius for copying other men's work, and so successful are they that frequently even the painters of the originals cannot swear that the faked pictures are not their own handwork. It has now been established that a certain picture which Landseer on being consulted believed to be his own is really a forgery.—Stray Stories.

Occasional headache, belching, bad taste in the mouth, lack of appetite and slight nervousness are symptoms of indigestion which, when allowed to go uncared for, will develop into a case of dyspepsia that will take a long time to get rid of. Don't neglect your stomach. At the first indication of trouble take something that will help it along in its work of digesting the food you eat. Kodol For Indigestion and Dyspepsia will do this. Kodol will make your food do you good and will enable you to enjoy what you eat. Sold by S. R. Biggs.

The Peking Gazette is the oldest periodical in the world, and its circulation is estimated to be over 100,000 copies. This paper in the city of Canton alone has ten publishers, who in turn employ about ten distributors, thus making about the distributors in the city and suburbs alone.

Attack of Diarrhoea Cured by One Dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

I was so weak from an attack of diarrhoea that I could scarcely attend to my duties, when I took a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy it cured me entirely and I had been taking other medicine for nine days without relief. I heartily recommend this remedy as being the best to my knowledge for bowel complaints.—R. G. Stewart of the firm of Stewart & Bro., Greenville, Ala. For sale by S. R. Biggs

How to Avoid Appendicitis

Most victims of appendicitis are those who are habitually constipated, Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup cures chronic constipation by stimulating the liver and bowels, and restores the natural action of the bowels. Orino Laxative Fruit Syrup does not nauseate or gripe and is mild and pleasant to take. Refuse substitutes. C. C. Chase; S. R. Biggs

Broadly speaking the essential difference between merchant ships and warships is that the former are designed to carry their loads or principal portions thereof low down in the hold, whereas warships have to carry their heavy burdens of armor and armament high up on their sides.

Lame Back

This is an ailment for which Chamberlain's Pain Balm has proven especially valuable. In almost every instance it affords prompt and permanent relief. Mr. Luke LaGrange of Orange, Mich., says of it: "After using a plaster and other remedies for three weeks for a bad lame back, I purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and two applications effected a cure." For sale by S. R. Biggs.

WHICH DID IT?

When they were building the Colorado Midland railway Smoke Russell was proprietor of the "saloon and hotel" that hung over the edge of a rock close to Windy Point, some miles west of Leadville.

Smoke's abode was the rendezvous for the contractors, bosses and workmen, especially on Saturday nights. Wages were high, but hands were scarce, and there was bad blood among the contractors on account of some alleged sharp practice on the part of those toward Leadville, who were accused of cutting off the men contracted for farther up the mountain. This was particularly the case with Donovan and O'Malley, who had adjoining contracts for blasting a roadbed out of the solid rock on the side of old Sugar Loaf. O'Malley, who had the upper section, accused Donovan of stealing hobo's intended for him. Donovan denied the charge and coupled the denial with some strong reflections on O'Malley's personal character, antecedents and general characteristics. The result was the usual feud, with dire threats on the part of each principal to exterminate the other at the first good opportunity.

The opportunity came sooner than either expected or wished, for they were both cowards when it came to a sure enough fight. Both men were peaceable enough when sober, but there was no telling what they would do when drunk if they should chance to meet. That very thing happened one Saturday night. Donovan had come down to Russell's dive for his usual recreation and commenced filling his tank early in the evening, so that by 10 o'clock he was pretty drunk. The boys got him started on O'Malley and egged him on until he was red headed. He kept on getting madder and drunker, threatening his enemy with all kinds of sudden deaths if it were ever his good luck to run the coward into a corner where he would have to stand and fight. Just at this juncture the door opened and in walked O'Malley, catching Donovan's last words. The boys were pretty badly frightened and tried to joke about the matter and laugh it over, but Donovan was drunk and O'Malley was mad, and there was trouble in the camp. The latter seemed to pay no attention to his drunken foe, but walked up to the bar and called for his poison. Several of the crowd joined him, and the drinks began to go down in a rapid and reassuring manner. Everybody seemed satisfied but Russell, who kept a watchful eye on the crowd and stood close to the end of the bar by the lamp, so that he couldouse the light in case of trouble.

After a bit O'Malley turned suddenly, facing Donovan, and began in a most offensive and aggravating manner. "How are you, Mister Donovan?" "Bad luck to you!" roared the other. "What the devil do you mean by talking to me?"

"Oh—oh! That's it, is it, you low down, lying thief of a dago? Stand up and take your medicine!" Donovan sprang to his feet and before his friends could interfere had his gun out and let drive for O'Malley, who was scarce an instant behind him, for the two shots sounded like one. Almost before the first shot sounded Smoke Russell had put out the light, and there was a general scramble of noncombatants to get out of the line of fire. The two maddened contractors kept on firing until each had let off the five rounds in his gun. After a dead silence of about five minutes Russell crawled out of the bombproof under the counter and reit the lamp.

As soon as Donovan had fired his last shot he rushed out of the shanty to get his horse. He was still pretty drunk, but mounted with the assistance of the greaser stable boy and started down the mountain for Leadville. The greaser tried to tell him something, but Donovan was too excited to listen. He only muttered in a broken voice:

"Holy saints! Five shots in poor O'Malley and every shot one of 'em through the heart!"

He took the long trail around the mountain and had considerable trouble in finding the temporary bridge across the Arkansas river, so that it was just breaking day when he pulled up in front of the sheriff's house in Leadville and gave himself up.

A couple of hours later O'Malley appeared before the sheriff's house. O'Malley shouted several times, and finally an upper window was raised and a bushy head stuck out of it.

"Hello, O'Malley!" cried the sheriff, with considerable astonishment. "Where did you come from?"

"I've come down from Smoke Russell's to give myself up for shooting Donovan."

"Oh, you shot Donovan, did you? Now, that beats me all hollow. Say, did you hurt him much, do you think?"

"Hurt 'im!" exclaimed O'Malley indignantly. "Does it hurt a man to have five bullets in his heart, do you think?"

"I reckon it do, Mr. O'Malley. Now, what do you want me to do?"

"I want you to take me to jail for killing Donovan."

"Now, I'll tell you what, Mr. O'Malley, you just go round to the calaboose yourself. You'll find Donovan there. He got here about two hours ago and gave himself up for killing you. Just go around there and settle among yourselves which of you is dead, and I'll come around later and arrest the other one."

O'Malley went to the jail, where he found Donovan. What transpired there was never known up the mountain, but that the two men afterward were close friends and finally became partners was a fact no one cares to dispute.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

ALL HAIL PE-RU-NA. A Case of STOMACH CATARRH.

Miss Mary O'Brien, 206 Myrtle Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "Peruna cured me in five weeks of catarrh of the stomach, after suffering for four years and doctoring without effect. In common with other grateful ones who have been benefited by your discovery, I say, All hail to Peruna."

Mr. H. J. Henneman, Oakland, Neb., writes: "I waited before writing to you about my sickness, catarrh of the stomach, which I had over a year ago. There were people who told me it would not stay cured, but I am sure that I am cured, for I do not feel any more ill effects, have a good appetite and am getting fat. So I am, and will say to all, I am cured for good. I thank you for your kindness. Peruna will be our house medicine hereafter."

Catarrh of the stomach is also known in common parlance as dyspepsia, gastritis and indigestion. No medicine will be of any permanent benefit except it removes the catarrhal condition.

Nervous Debility.
Miss Irene Smith, 10 Minnesota Ave., Randle Highlands, Washington, D. C., writes: "Peruna cured me of catarrh of the head and stomach and nervous debility from which I suffered for two years."

Pigs as Jewelers.
The bracelet was apparently of ivory—a tiny tusk that by some freak of nature had grown into a circle. "But, no," said the dealer; "this is no freak. It is a designed thing. It is one of those bracelets that the pigs of the New Hebrides are made to grow."

"Yes, in the New Hebrides they make their pigs their jewelers. They do this simply by removing the animals' upper canine teeth. Then the lower ones, having nothing to grind against, grow into a spiral. These spirals as soon as they are complete are removed with a pincher-like instrument and are worn upon the wrist. Sometimes a pig's tooth will grow into a perfect circle, that is, the point curves round and grows directly into the root. Such a bracelet as that is highly prized. In fact, it is worth twenty of the ordinary spiral ones."—Los Angeles Times.

Weak Kidneys

Weak Kidneys, surely point to weak kidney nerves. The kidney, like the heart, and the stomach, find their weakness, not in the organ itself, but in the nerves that control and guide and strengthen them. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach these controlling nerves. To doctor the kidneys alone, is futile. It is a waste of time, and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine is acid, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative month—Tablets or Liquid—and see what it can and will do for you. Druggists recommend and sell.
