One of the most enjoyable events of the season was a birthday party given by Miss Geneva James to her many friends at the hospitable home on Second Street Friday evening, September 23rd., in honor of her fourteenth birthday. The guests were received in the hall by the hostess assisted by Miss Marjorie Barnhill, and ushered into the large and beautifully decorated parlor, where many games were played. They were then ushered into the dining room where delicious cake and cream were served. The dining room was beautiful with cut flowers ferns and ivy. The many handsome presents proved the popularity and many friends of the young hostess. When the hour of adjournment arrived, the happy party of boys and girls each declared Miss James a most charming hostess.

Surprise Marriage

The marriage of Mr. Albert Perry and Miss Maggie Wilson on Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock was a surprise even to their most intimate friends. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's brother, Mr. Marshall Wilson, in East Williamston, Rev. G. J. Dowell officiating. After the ceremony they drove to the station and boarded the cars for Baltimore, where they will probably make their home for some time.

The bride is the daughter of the late W. H. Wilson and a most estimable young woman. For years she has been the companion of her brother. Mr. Perry is the eldest son of Mr. N. T. Perry and has lived for some years in Baltimore and Roanoke Rapids. The wedded pair have the congratulations of a large number of friends and acquaintances.

For OCTOBER

(Copyright 1910, by C. H. Rieth.)

O. T. Roosevelt has come back to the West!

Of all the Rough Riders his luck was the best.

He rode from Dakota to San Juan Hill,

And he found him the Spaniards he wanted to kill,

Shouting, "Into 'em, Teddy, An' into 'em deep!"

And the men of Granada Went down in a heap.

He rested his broncho and fed him his fill, and then he rode yelling up Capitol Hill. -He wasn't expecting or asking a thing, but he landed right in the political ring, shouting "Into 'em, Teddy, and into 'em plump!" and the poor politicians went down in a lump.

He watered his pinto and fed him some oats,

And then he remounted and hunted for goats.

He found him some people who didn't agree

With all of his notions, and gave a whoop-pee,

Yelling, "Into 'em, Teddy, An' into 'em hot!"

And he knocked them all into The pittoomess bot.

He hobbled his charger and gave him some grass, and then he went after someone in his class. He put up a lion with blood in its eye, and he clapped on the spurs with a terrible cry, saying "Into 'im, Teddy, an' into 'im hard!" and the lion passed on to his final reward.

He breathed his good mustang and looked him around,

But further adventure was not to be found.

So he pulled up his trousers and pulled down his vest,

And slowly rode back to his olden-time West,

Shouting, "Back to 'em, Teddy, An' back to 'em proud!"

And they gathered about him And solemnly bowed.

He rode in his saddle, and on his head, and he put all the tenderfeet under the bed. He dashed to the East, and he dashed to the West, and he halted before them, expanding his chest, saying, "Three cheers for Teddy, the pride of the West!" and they took a great pleasure in doing the rest.

October is from the Latin octo, meaning eight, and it was formerly the eighth month of the year. This brought the football season around at a time when there was grave danger of being suffocated before the ball was even put into play, and there was a great deal of dissatisfaction at the old Greek and Roman universities. A change was frequently talked of, but it remained for Numa Pompilius, who was one of the early friends of education, to do anything about it. In 713 B. C. he moved October along to its present place in the calendar, and now the quarterback on a football team always says before snapping the ball,

Numa, Numa,
B. C.
Come seven,
One, three!

After which the rooters, who reached a very high state of proficiency in the latter days of Numa, recite,

Numa, Numa,
Boomalooma,
Come seven,

Fashionable Millinery

The delightful Autumn weather gave every woman an opportunity to visit the stores of Harrison Bros & Co., and Carstarphen & Co., on Wednesday and Thursday. It was a bit warm, and there was no need to buy in a hurry for fear that the other woman would purchase first, so selections were made carefully. Mrs. L. C. Harrison and Miss Keistler had carefully selected their stocks and the "very latest" in French and Domestic Patterns were on display.

The size and the superior quality of the shapes, which range from turbans to the hat immense, placed the highest priced creations on the market that have been known in the history of millinery here. They ranged from the cheap to $40.00. There was something to please every taste and purse. The handsome beavers trimmed only with willow plumes caught the eyes of those who want the exquisite in everything. The display is the most attractive shown here for several years.

Embroidery Club

(Reported)

The following young ladies met with Mrs. A. S. Coffield on Monday evening and organized The Young Ladies' Embroidery Club: Mrs. A. S. Coffield, Misses Katie Blount, Penelope Biggs, Lettie Critcher, Hannah Vic Fowden, Bertie Gardner, Eva Gainor, Susie Purvis, Irene Smith, Annie Kate Thrower, Eva Wolfe and Harriet Louise Ward. Officers were chosen as follows: Miss Lettie Critcher, President, Mrs. A. S. Coffield, Directress, Miss Harriet Louise Ward, Secretary, Miss Susie Purvis, Treasurer. The purpose of the club: Fine Needlework.

The meetings will be held with the different members from 8 to 10 o'clock each Monday evening. The next meeting will be held with Miss Katie Blount.

The first meeting was rendered more pleasant by the charming hospitality of Mrs. Coffield who with Miss Susie Purvis served delightful refreshments.

Unveiling of Monument

The Roanoke Camp of the Woodmen of the World unveiled a monument to the late Sovereign J. D. Johnson, on Sunday at 3:30 o'clock p. m. A large number of Woodmen participated and Council Commander S. S. Brown, assisted by other officers, conducted the ceremony in a very impressive manner. Mr. R. J. Peel delivered an oration which charmed his hearers by its beauty of language and loving tribute to him who was in all things the ideal Woodmen. Rev. Mr. Outlaw, pastor of the Disciple Church, offered prayer and the music was rendered more attractive by a number of female voices. This is the second stone erected to the memory of Woodmen here.

Short Term of Court

Judge R. B. Peebles, whose illness prevented the convening of the regular term of September Court on the 19th, was able to open Court Monday morning. The Grand Jury was empanelled and business proceeded with the usual dispatch characteristic of all terms presided over by Judge Peebles. It was deemed advisable to only attempt the disposal of the Criminal Docket, which was not long. This was disposed of by noon Tuesday and Court adjourned on that day. Cases were disposed of as follows:

WOMEN DISCUSS MISSION METHODS

Missionary Union Opened by Mrs. S. J. Everett--Many Prominent Workers in Attendance--Miss Fannie Heck Delivers Strong Address.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Williamston Baptist Church entertained the delegates from the Chowan, West Chowan, Roanoke, Flat and Tar River Associations this week, beginning Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Mrs. S. J. Everett, president of the Roanoke Association, presided over the deliberations. Mrs. Everett is easily the foremost woman in the work of her church in the Eastern section of the State, and is thoroughly equipped for any duty that the work demands. She made an excellent presiding officer.

The program which appeared in these columns last week was carried out in detail and proved a most interesting one. The two most instructive papers read during the Conference were those by Mrs. J. D. Biggs, Jr., of Williamston, and Mrs. A. V. Joyner, of Tarboro, on Home and State Missions. Tuesday evening an open session was held at which hour Dr. Mercer, of Rocky Mount, delivered a discourse on Missions, taking for his theme: "Missions, the great thought in the mind of God." Dr. Mercer is regarded as one of the ablest Baptist Divines in the State and is a man of earnestness and deepest conviction.

Wednesday night, Miss Fannie Heck, who is regarded as one of the strongest women workers in the entire world, addressed a large audience. Her address was replete with facts concerning the needs and the answers to them by the women of the Church. It was a great privilege to have her present at the Union. Mrs. Killian and Miss Briggs, of Raleigh, gave most helpful talks on Bible Study, Ideal Programs and other features of Missionary Societies. Every phase of the work was discussed and an added impetus will be given missionary labors by this meeting together of these earnest women.

The following women were present as delegates: Mrs. S. J. Everett, Miss Sophia Jarvis and Mrs. C. W. Wilson, of Greenville; Mrs. J. A. Pittman and Miss Kate Boyette, of Scotland Neck; Mrs. W. L. Deans, Mrs. M. C. Trueblood, of Elizabeth City; Misses Lettie and Elizabeth Parker, Mrs. R. C. Benthall, of Woodland; Mrs. M. C. Cobb, Miss Mary Austin, of Tarboro; Mrs. C. W. Blanchard, Mrs. Sallie Harrison, of Wilson; Mrs. P. V. Randolph, Mrs. W. L. Britt, of Enfield; Mrs. R. J. Nelson, Mrs. W. H. Adkins, Mrs. Richard Jenkins, of Robersonville; Mrs. Killian, of Newton; Miss Briggs, Miss Fannie Heck, of Raleigh; Mrs. W. P. Willis, Mrs. T. C. Edwards, Mrs. J. A. Sullivan, of Washington.
