North Carolina Agricultural Train

As previously published in these columns, the Atlantic Coast Line will operate an Agricultural Train over its lines in North Carolina this summer, under the direction of the Agricultural and Mechanical College, West Raleigh, N. C., and the United States Agricultural Department.

Our farmers should be deeply interested in the three features that will be demonstrated at each stop made by this train, viz., Live stock, Drainage and Improved Farm Implementations.

This is a day of progress and the country that is content with the old methods will have to take a back seat. People in other walks of life have realized that they must apply the latest methods or fail. There is as much, or more, room for improved methods on the farms as in other lines of business, and we are sure that our farmers will take advantage of every opportunity that is offered them.

This train will arrive in Williamston on July 26th. at 2:30 p. m., and remain until 7:30 the following morning. Williamston is the only town entered by the train in this immediate section, Scotland Neck being the nearest point.

The farmers in the County should make it convenient to be here that day and examine the improved breeds of stock, etc., which the train will exhibit. It is a splendid opportunity and the people should take advantage of it.

Miss Meadows Hostess

On Wednesday evening Miss Billie Meadows entertained a number of her young friends at her home on West Main Street. There were music, song and contests to make the hour pass merrily away. The contest was most interesting, the answer to each question being the name of some plant. Those scoring highest in this were: Miss Bettie Watson, of Smithfield, and Maurice Watts. At a late hour delicious refreshment were served in the dining room.

Those enjoying the gracious hospitality of the hostess were: Misses Bettie Watson and Bettie Ward, of Smithfield, Mary Dare and Jessie Brown, Martha Ward, Myrtle Woolard, Hilda Crawford and Eloise Meadows; Messrs. Julian Anderson, J. B. Hopkins, Maurice Watts, Eugene Bethea, W. H. Harrell, Elbert Peel, Bruce Whitley, F. M. Shute.

An increasing number of people report regularly of the satisfactory results from taking Foley Kidney Pills and commend their healing and curative qualities. Foley Kidney Pills are a carefully prepared medicine, guaranteed to contain no harmful or habit forming drugs. They can have only a beneficial effect when used for kidney and bladder troubles, for backache, rheumatism, weak back or lumbago. Saunders & Fowden.

In Honor of Miss Ellington

On last Friday evening Miss Sallie Hadley delightfully entertained a few of her friends in honor of her house guest, Miss Glenwood Ellington, of Kinston. Upon the arrival of the invited guests a most interesting contest was engaged in, Maurice Watts being the successful contestant. At 10:30 the guests were ushered into the dining room and served with fruit, pickles, crackers, pepper sandwiches, deviled crabs, cream and cake.

At a late hour the guests reluctantly made their departure declaring Miss Hadley a charming hostess.

A Sunday Disaster

The waters of the Roanoke River claimed two more victims on Sunday. There was to be a funeral service at Cedar Landing conducted by the colored Odd Fellows and a party of twenty arranged to go from here. Fernie Howard with a couple of gas boats to which a raft was tied, this being made on two small flats, carried the party down.

The return trip was made with safety until about opposite the old railroad wharf. The night was dark and rainy and the flats leaky. About half-past eight o'clock one of the flats suddenly sank and the entire party was thrown into the rushing waters. There were cries for help which were heard in the town. The men clung desperately to the sides of the gas boats. Those who could swim reached the shore in safety and others were brought out except two, Thad Woolard and Ben Baker. The former has been in the employ of J. L. Woolard for years and was one of the chief workmen in Woolard's shop. Baker was employed by Anderson Bros on their farm. Both men were industrious and had families. The disaster brought sadness into the hearts of many relatives and friends. Richard Smith and N. S. Godard, who were with Howard on the boat, reached home in safety.

Dynamite was used to try to raise the bodies on Monday, but without avail. Crowds of people stood on the banks all through the day looking for the dead men.

Tuesday the bodies were recovered near the scene of the disaster.

Monday Night Dance

An impromptu dance was given in the Masonic Hall on Monday night which proved very enjoyable. The weather was cool and Alexander's Band furnished selections suitable to each of the favorite dances and those participating found the hours pleasant until one o'clock.

Those dancing were: Miss Della Lanier and Dillon Simpson, Miss Irene Smith and Clayton Moore, Miss Annie Fagan and Harry M. Stubbs, Miss Hannah Vic Fowden and Bruce Whitley, Miss Elizabeth Ross, of Seaford, Del., and Harry A. Biggs, Miss Clara Jones and Wheeler Martin, Jr., Miss Beth Purvis and Grover Godwin, Miss Hattie Lou Ward and Maurice Watts, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Dunning.

Stags: W. H. Gurkin, J. W. Watts, Jr., Leslie Fowden, Julius Peel.

N. J. Gorham, Cashier Bank of Woodville, Woodville, Ga., had a very severe attack of kidney trouble and the pains in his kidneys and back were terrible. "I got a bottle of Foley Kidney Pills from our druggist and they entirely relieved me, I have more benefit from them than any other medicine." Saunders & Fowden.

Tarboro vs Locals

In a game of eight innings, Tarboro and Williamston teams broke even here on Monday. The visitors had to take the 5 o'clock train for home and so the game was not fought out. It was a battle between pitcher Arnheim for the visitors and Brown for the locals. The latter, however, had imperfect support at several critical points and so the score tied. Brown pitched a steady game throughout the hour and forty-five minutes.

Score: R H E
Williamston 4 8 3
Tarboro 4 7 4
Batteries: Locals, Brown and Stubbs; Tarboro, Arnheim and DeBerry, Umpire Martin.

To the Democratic Voters of Martin County:—

Permit me to thank you very kindly for the consideration and confidence so generously manifested by your support and cooperation during my continuance in office as Sheriff of your county, and to assure you that I most heartily and keenly appreciate the same.

Not being aware of any complaint and not having heard anything derogatory to my performance of the duties pertaining to the office, and thinking that my services and experience might probably merit your further consideration, confidence and support, and assuring you that the best and all that is, of and in me, are at your command, I take the liberty of seeking further consideration at your hands, and hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Martin County, subject, however, to the wishes of the County Democratic Convention.

This 20th. day of June, 1912.
J. C. CRAWFORD.

R Oyster Ever-it

Attorney Reuben Oscar Everett, whose administration as blind tiger prosecutor won him the sobriquet of Reuben Oyster Ever-It, several years ago, was here yesterday on his way to Martin county, his old home, to spend a few days before setting sail for Columbia University, New York.

Mr. Everett will study law up there. He means to spend the summer term at Columbia, while his senior partner, Judge James S. Manning, holds down the office in Durham. He takes occasional summer courses between practice and brushes up on his Blackstone while the partner is figuring per cent or making out a mortgage.

Fresh from college, not to fresh to be sure, in 1903 he taught at Durham, took the usual college grad's circuitous course to a career, and landed in the law. From an early Bryanese figure in his lean years to Taftian tremendousness, he has grown until it is necessary for him to go home every thirty days in order to reintroduce himself to his family. In Durham he keeps a big touring car for his friends and paddles a bike to reduce his corporation. He bachelorizes in a house big enough for forty and courts women as the sands of the seashore, innumerable. He isn't married, never has been.

He declares that he has an ambition now to learn more law, to practice more law, to fill up on wise laws and modern instances. "I am wedded to my profession," he said yesterday. And it is the hope of his Raleigh friends that he will never have to get a divorce from it on the ground of incompatibility and non-support.—News & Observer.

For Representative

At the request of a number of my friends, I hereby announce myself a candidate for the House of Representatives subject to the action of the Democratic Convention of Martin County.

This May 28th, 1912.
A. Corey.

In these days of high cost of living, a medicine that gets a man up out of bed and able to work in a few days is a valuable and welcome remedy. John Heath, Michigan Bar, Cal., had kidney and bladder trouble, was confined to his bed, unable to turn without help. "I commenced using Foley Kidney Pills and can truly say I was relieved at once." His example is worth following. Saunders & Fowden.

Ends Pain in Surgery

Dr. F. W. Forbes Ross, an M. D. of Edinburgh University, a fellow of the Royal College of Surgeons of England, and a well-known London surgeon, claims to have made a discovery which, if established, will mark another wonderful epoch in the history of surgery. Briefly, it almost means the end of human pain, for by the injection of a simple non-poisonous combination of two drugs the most awful accident or the most dreadful surgical operation can immediately after its occurrence be rendered painless.

Dr. Ross calls the attention of the medical world to his achievement in a letter printed in this week's issue of the Lancet. He says:

"I have discovered that wide application of a local anesthetic can kill the pain which follows the most severe bodily accident or during and after the most severe surgical operation. I have found an absolutely harmless, nonpoisonous antidote to pain and shock which may be used without the slightest fear of local or general detriment to the sufferer.

"It is a preparation of a 1 per cent solution of quinine and urea hydrochloride. Experiments for some time past have always been successful. The method is simple, and be used by any intelligent persons. The preparation is very cheap; 12 cents will cover it. There is an injection into the patient of anesthetized chloroform or ether in the ordinary way, and then five to ten cubic centimeters of the preparation distributed in the nerve supply of the part concerned, which will produce a total loss of the sensation of pain.

"After the operation effects there should be a single application by multiple injection of the parts at periods varying from 24 hours to a fortnight, when the operation or injury will have been recovered from to such an extent that pain will not be normally present."—Sel.

"How did the doctor persuade you to stop smoking?"

"Made his bill so big I couldn't afford to buy more tobacco."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Notice

There will be a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at the City Hall, Thursday night at 8:30. The meeting is called to discuss the proposed enterprises and extension of the track to the river, and also to discuss some important new business which means larger things for the community. All citizens interested in the good of town should attend.

Summer colds are hard to get rid of, and frequently lead to asthma, bronchitis, and hay fever. Do not let your cold get a hold on you, but use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound for quick relief. W. H. Allen, Chelsea, Wis., says: "We prefer Foley's Honey and Tar Compound to other cough medicines because it quickly cures coughs and colds. It will ward off a cold if taken in time." Contains no opiates. Saunders & Fowden.

Inspected Sites

Messrs. Charles and Robert Baker, of the Hamilton Pants Mfg. Company, were in town Tuesday looking for a suitable site to locate the factory if the company decides to come here. The lot adjoining the Farmers Warehouse received more favorable comment from the Messrs. Baker and can probably be secured should the plant be moved. It will not be definitely decided what will be done until some time during the following week.
