An Infant Dead.

Carrie Louise, infant child of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Williams, died on Thursday afternoon of last week. Its life was only five days and a few hours long, when the death Angel bore the sweet little bud to Heaven's gardens to bloom in beauty eternally.

The friends and acquaintances of the family sympathize deeply with them in their loss.

An Aged Woman Dead.

The death of Mrs. Prudence Roberson, which occurred at her home in Martin County, November 11th, 1913, removed one of the oldest women in this section. She was born eighty-four years ago in Griffins Township, and there married Alfred Roberson, who served in the Mexican War and gave his life for the South in the war between the States. Four children were born to them—two of whom survive, Messrs. Alfred J. and W. R. Roberson. She was a member of the Primitive Baptist Church, and was the last Mexican War pensioner in the County.

Wednesday afternoon after services by Elder J. N. Rodgerson, her body was laid to rest in the family cemetery. A large crowd of friends and relatives were present.

The Baker—Slade Wedding

There has been no lovelier girl in Columbus than Miss Penelope Slade, the petite brunette daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Williams Slade, so Trinity Episcopal church was thronged Tuesday evening with friends to witness her marriage to Mr. Robert Weathersbee Baker, of Williams-ton, N. C., who is quite popular and successful in the manufacturing business of that city.

It seemed to be the consensus of opinion that Trinity church had never been more beautifully or artistically decorated than on this occasion. White crash covered the floor from the door to the altar, where an aisle had been formed of palms, ferns and white chrysanthemums. The electric lights were shaded with these handsome flowers and ferns and the candles were burning, making altogether an exquisite setting for the bridal party and the impressive ceremony which was performed by Rev. S. A. Wragg, the rector.

Mr. Bradley, the organist, delighted the assembled friends with musical selections before the arrival of the bridal party, after which he played the wedding march, and the ushers, Messrs. Richard and William Slade, brothers of the bride, and Messrs. Owen Edge and G. T. Powers, came up the aisle and stood in front of the chancel. They were followed by the maid of honor, Miss Slade, the sister of the bride, wearing a beautiful dress of white lace and a short bride's maid veil, carrying pink carnations.

The groom with his brother, Mr. C. B. Baker, as best man, entered from the vestry room and awaited the bride, who came down the aisle with her father, who gave her away.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the of the bride's parents on upper Second avenue. This, too, was beautifully decorated with a wealth of palms, ferns and chrysanthemum, green and white, in parlor and dining room, and yellow in the other apartments. An elegant two-course supper was served. The punch bowl, which was in the hall, was prettily garnished with pink and green grapes.

The bride's gown was an exquisite creation of heavy white satin, lace and seed pearls. Her bouquet was of bride's roses, showered with valley lilies. Her going-away gown was a tailored suit of dark blue with touches of green. Her hat was of the same tone of green, and she wore handsome mink furs.

The bridal pair left on the Seminoles at 10 o'clock for a wedding journey before going to their future home in Williamston, N. C., which city, by the way, was named in honor of the great-grandfather of the bride. Her father's mother was a Miss Williams.

Numerous and elegant presents from friends were showered upon the popular young couple.

There were many beautiful and elegant toilets at the wedding.

Mrs. Slade wore black lace over white charmeuse, and carried white roses and valley lilies.

Mrs. Hunter, the bride's grandmother, wore black crepe de chine and lace.

Mrs. Joseph Pou, the aunt of the bride, was elegantly attired in black and white striped chiffon over green charmeuse trimmed with white lace and jet.

Mrs. William Hunter, of Savannah, wore a handsome gown

New Appointment.

Collector J. W. Bailey has appointed Edward James, of Robersonville, Deputy in the place of C. C. Fagan. Mr. James has been taking the ginner's report for Martin County, which position has been given to H. H. Pope, of Robersonville, who is busily engaged in securing exact figures as to the number of bales ginned. Mr. James' report for the period to November 1st, 1913, shows 2,524 bales ginned as compared with 4,948 bales for the same period in 1912.

Card Of Thanks.

We desire publicly to express our heartfelt thanks for the many acts of kindness done by neighbors and friends during the illness and at the death of our dear little babe. There is comfort in the knowledge that though afflictions may come, sympathy is ever around and about us.
