

What You Possess TODAY is Evidence of What You Did Without YESTERDAY

And in the years to come—in accordance with what you are saving now—you will be financially independent or financially "broke."

WHICH WILL IT BE WITH YOU?

Are you not better able to breast the storms of life now than you will be twenty-five or fifty years now hence? Do without the luxuries now that you may have them later in life.

Mrs. Staton Hostess

Mrs. J. G. Staton, who had as her house guest, Mrs. Gilbert Chase, entertained in her honor on December 27th. The spirit of the Christmas season was evident in the decorations and arrangement of the elegantly furnished rooms of the home on Main and Houghton Streets. The entertainment provided for the occasion was Progressive Hearts and Auction—three tables being arranged for the former and one for the latter. The guests entered into the spirit of the occasion and thoroughly enjoyed the hours, music adding much to their pleasure. A carefully prepared menu was served consisting of grape fruit, salad, sandwiches, olives, ice cream, cake and coffee. The guests were: Mesdames Gilbert Chase, A. R. Dunning, J. Paul Simpson, John Cook, Henry Cook, Francis Barnes, Robert Baker, Henry Crawford, K. B. Crawford, J. H. Saunders; Misses Anna Pope, Essie Peel, Della Lanier, Nannie Biggs, Mary Hassell.

CHRISTMAS FESTIVITIES

The Christmas season always brings around the regular festivities of the Lotus Club—the organization which has and is making for the higher standard of social life in the town and community. At this season, the elegantly appointed rooms of the Club were open on the evening of the 29th. of December. The Club colors together with red berries, green boughs and Christmas bells, gave the rooms a newer and more beautiful charm, which was enhanced greatly by the elegant costumes of the large number of guests crowding the reception room during the hours. The Washington Orchestra rendered pleasing and popular selections throughout the evening.

The guests were received by Dr. J. H. Saunders, President of the Club, and Mrs. Saunders, who with the other officers gave every one a hearty greeting. Miss Irene Smith with Mr. A. D. Mizell and Miss Hannah Vic Fowden with Mr. Robert Everett served fruit punch to the guests. Misses Delha Lanier and Mildred Purvis conducted the guests from the cloak rooms to the reception room. Before the guests retired, a salad course, turkey, ice cream, cake and coffee were served. The evening marked the most successful event in the life of the Club, and the most brilliant assemblage filled the rooms. The out-of-town people present were: Misses May Belle and Katherine Small, Fannie Lamb Houghton, Mae Blount, Eliza Branch and Mrs. S. R. Clary of Washington; Miss Christine McIntosh, of Chapel Hill; Miss Emma Critcher, of Lamar, S. C.; Lieut. and Mrs. Gilbert Chase, of New York; Mrs. B. P. Badham, of Edenton; Miss Isabelle Morton, of Robersonville; Miss Charlotte Fagan, of Norfolk; Miss Velmo Blount, of Bethel; Messrs. David Carter, Charlie Moore, Enoch Simmons, of Washington; Julius Peel, Julian Wood, Urquhart Norfleet, of Kelfork; Newson Riddick, Henry Clark, of Scotland Neck; John W. Hassell, of Memphis, Tenn.

After the reception, the guests repaired to the Masonic Hall where the annual dance was enjoyed by a large number of those who delight in the modern dances. For hours under the spell of entrancing music, the couples engaged in pleasant figures and the more recent dances which are popular everywhere. The pleasure of this ending of the series of Christmas festivities among the social set, was pronounced to be of a greater degree than any formerly had. The exquisite gowns of the women, who carried lovely owners, made a beautiful scene on the floor, as the men in evening dress guided the steps of their partners through the different position. In the early hours of the morning, the dancers departed to homes where elegant luncheons were served just before dawn.

For years past Mrs. A. R. Dunning in the regular order of entertainment, has been hostess to the Club at Christmas time; this year owing to the addition of new members her "at home" comes later in the Club year. Yet, on Tuesday afternoon, December 23rd., she followed her usual custom and from three to five entertained in honor of the Club, who deeply appreciated this courtesy and hospitality on her part.

"Progressive Travel" was the game of the afternoon, and most heartily did all participate. The double parlors artistically decorated with Christmas bells, holly and flowers, were thrown open, and five tables arranged therein. The score cards were large Poinsettias, typical of the Christmas season, and the cards declaring the rules of the game were very appropriate, being pictures of men carrying suit cases and hurrying to catch the next aeroplane. As the game proceeded, delicious punch was served to quench the thirst of the travellers. At the close an elegant salad course was served, followed by ice cream in suit case form, and cake. The first prize, a Travelling Case, was awarded to Mrs. S. F. Williams, the consolation, a drinking cup, to Mrs. Morrison Bethea. Mrs. Dunning was assisted in receiving by Miss Irene Smith, and those enjoying her hospitality were: Mesdames Robert Baker, Francis U. Barnes, Morrison Bethea, John D. Biggs, Jr., Henry D. Cook, Asa T. Crawford, Kader B. Crawford, W. H. Crawford, Gilbert Chase, of New York; Claude Keith, Wheeler Martin, J. H. Saunders, J. P. Simpson, J. G. Staton, Misses Nannie Biggs, Deborah Fleming, Mary Hassell, Essie Peel and Irene Smith.

Tuesday afternoon, December the 30th., in rooms with the added beauty of Christmas greens, bells expressive of the joy that was to come with the New Year, Mrs. Henry Crawford entertained the Embroidery Club in East Williamston. Besides the members of the Club, several other ladies were there as honor guests. As it was at the festive season, little attention was paid to business and all entered into the enjoyment of "A Summer Picnic" the recital of which was found on attractive folders ornamented in two colors—red and green. After the blanks had been filled, it was found that six contestants had tied for the score, and the prize was won in the draw by Miss Deborah Fleming. After the awarding of the prize, ham and turkey sandwiches Waldorf salad, pickles and saltines were served; this course was followed by ice cream bells with cakes. The dining room table was tastily decorated and the guests were served coffee there. With this meeting the Club year closed, and each member will cherish it as the most delightful of its history.

It was fitting that Mrs. Craw-
