Temperature for Plants and Humans.

What does a plant need in the way of air and heat? By this, of course, house plants, not greenhouse varieties, are meant. The common run of house plants—geraniums, ferns, palms, etc.—ask only for a temperature of 70 by day and 60 by night. This is a very suitable temperature for human beings, too. There must be fresh air for a plant every day, although they cannot stand a freezing draft any better than the housewife can. A door or window as far away from them as possible should be opened and the air be allowed to change gradually. A light cloth thrown over them will enable them to stand a good deal of cold air coming in. Forty-five Fahrenheit will not injure most plants.

Tickling Trout.

Tickling trout is an ancient & not exactly honorable way of catching them. The hand is inserted in the water very cautiously under the fish when he is resting quietly with his head upstream and if the touch of the finger is light he will sometimes allow himself to be tickled slightly. When the hand is well under the fish he is flung out of the water over the "tickle's" shoulder.

Body Feeds on Sunlight.

In reporting to the Academie des Sciences the results of some observations in Southern Algeria on the relation between diet and sunlight. Major Miramond de la Roquette of the French army medical corps gave it as his opinion that the tissues of the human body directly utilize the radiant energy of the sunshine. The normal diet of the natives of hot and sunny climes is far lower both in quantity and in nutritive quality than that of inhabitants of less favored regions, the sunlight seeming to make up the difference.

Labels Ready.

While many women carefully write out labels on pieces of paper and glue to the jelly glass, it gives a neater appearance to use a manufactured label. These are put on the market so cheap that 25 cents buys a book of several hundred, which come in different sizes in perforated sheets. Some books are filled with assorted labels, others come in separate books of each kind, such as apple jelly, canned peaches, etc. It takes but a moment to put such a label on the jars and they add much to the neat appearance of well-filled shelves.

Removing Foreign Bodies in the Eye.

Usually the eye can take care of itself as the lid is very quick to close and protect it from foreign substances. But there are times when a tiny bit will get embedded and if you are far from a doctor, home-made helps must be applied. Occasionally you find a family medicine which contains an eye-stone, but its use by an amateur is never recommended by an oculist. It has been discovered that the most comforting thing in the case of something in the eye, is to have a friend apply his or her tongue to the eyeball. It gives immediate relief; the foreign body is found at once and taken out, the warmth of the tongue is very grateful to the inflamed surface, and the secretions of the tongue are very healing, as is well known. This safe suggestion is generally available and is worth remembering.

No Use to Him.

Goodheart—"I've got you down for a couple of tickets; we're getting up a raffle for a poor man of our neighborhood." Joakley—"None for me, thank you. I wouldn't know what to do with a poor man if I won him."—Christian Register.

Stage Money.

It has been observed that stage money must sometimes figure in the salaries that stage performers receive. In a breach of promise case, recently tried at New York, it was shown that an actress who was understood to be receiving $1,000 a week, was actually getting $300, out of which $80 was deducted for booking and press agent fees. Still, as the press agent was giving her a salary of $1,000, she could hardly have begrudged the money she paid him.—Springfield Republican.

When Elsie Goes Shopping.

Elsie has been to the city on her first shopping expedition, and at the first store had successfully emptied the contents of her small purse. Coming home on the trolley she hastily slipped a brush into her empty purse, with an intention of giving his daughter's hair a good brushing when behind the shelter of her father he watched his daughter until she chanced to open her pocketbook. Deeply perplexed, the generous parent drew a sobbing little daughter into the shelter of his arms, until at length she howled heartbreakingly: "By oh, fy, didn't I 'pend it!"
