FRIDAY, OCTOBER 26, 1917

If you had the money and failed to buy a Liberty Bond, your Americanism lacks something.

Oak City is the first place in the county to have a Community Fair, and that, too, in connection with a first class Chautauqua. Hats off to those enterprising people.

If Germany starts to overrun Holland, they should be given a sufficient amount of water to drown them. The bloody Teutons will not hesitate to violate the neutrality of the Dutch, if it suits their diabolical purposes.

Food Administrator Hoover will advise that Thanksgiving be a day of fasting instead of feasting. It will take more than merely advising to get these American people to emulate the manner of the puritans on that Autumn day in 1621. But Hoover is on the right line.

The Red Cross Auxiliary here were given more than two hundred dollars worth of tobacco last month, while other markets have far exceeded that sum. Every farmer should be willing to donate several pounds each day or week to this cause. These farmers have plenty and to spare in a majority of cases, for this year, they are surely on top. Mr. Farmer, why not help the women in Red Cross work?

A Good Time For The Dollar.

With the upward swing of prices in everything, The Enterprise has clung to the old price of $1.00 per annum; this, too, when the cost of labor, and material has advanced greatly. There is no question that our subscribers appreciate this fact, but many are forgetting to exhibit the least sign of that feeling. No statements have been sent out yet, as it is a more satisfactory thing for the subscriber to either come in and pay up or mail a check.

Considering the condition of the farmers among whom are the great number of our friends, we confidently expect that it will not be necessary to mail statements this fall. Cotton is assuming the usual war-time price, tobacco has brought wealth to its producers, peanuts are high-in fact everything that the farmer produces is soaring. And so now is the time to send along the good American dollar, which today is the standard of the world. Send us a renewal if you are already a subscriber, or if not become one at once. The county paper is always a faithful friend, for it rejoices when you marry and sorrows when death comes. It stands for you and Martin County, and will continue to visit you weekly for ONE DOLLAR PER ANNUM.

Mrs. B. O. Cowin
 Emily, the wife of B. O. Cowin, died October 15th, 1917, in the 32nd year of her age. She was the loving daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rogerson, and had been a great sufferer for the past three years, but bore her afflictions with great patience as though reconciled to her lot.

She leaves behind a bereaved husband, and five small children, father, mother, five brothers, two sisters, and a host of friends and relatives to mourn their loss. She was a true, affectionate wife, kind and loving mother, a devoted child and a good neighbor.

Though for a long time she had been unable to do but little for her family, still her departure has left them with bleeding hearts for her companionship is no more, and a vacancy is left which cannot be filled.

May God in His mercy reconcile all the dear ones left behind to His most holy will, enabling them to realize that He does all things well and makes no mistakes.

The funeral services were conducted by Elder J. N. Rogerson and writer. The interment was in the family burying ground.

MAKE HAY WHILE THE SUN SHINES

INTERNATIONAL PULL-POWER HAY PRESS

You can do much more work and work longer when your task is easy. You can bale much more hay in a given time because you keep your horses fresher, with an INTERNATIONAL PULL-POWER HAY PRESS than with others. We should like to show you just why this is.

You will see first that the step-over is the lowest made. Then, the horses are pulling no load at all while crossing the step-over. The draft is also reduced to a minimum by a sturdy compound leverage principle on the sweep, which makes the load uniform and reasonably light at all times. You will bale many extra bales because of the International power arrangement. The two-horse press is made in three sizes and the one-horse press in one size.

The International Press itself is a marvel of correct design and durable construction. Come in and let us show you why your bales will all weigh the same and will never look ragged; why you will not need to stoop to tie bales; etc., etc.
