The Wood Question Again.

Like Banquo's ghost, the fuel question bobs up frequently, for it is a question which makes cold chills chase each other down the spine of the public. The winter is almost here, and still there has been nothing done to settle the all-important question of supplying the town with enough wood to keep from freezing when it turns cold. Keeping pace with the bloated mine owners, those people who have wood to sell are demanding exorbitant prices for it, and even at that rate, the need is so much greater than any hope of a supply. Coal dealers are asking $15.00 per ton despite the government's ruling in the matter, and even fuel from that source is scarce. What is the ordinary citizen to do about it? What will the poorer classes do when the winter's snows and hard freezes come? Are they to have to endure suffering in this land where millions of cords of wood are within a mile of the town? why not have a municipal wood yard and save the people from suffering in this community? It is a time of all others for a show of sympathy; it is a time for patriotism, and that means unselfishness.

MAKE HAY WHILE THE SUN SHINES

MORE BALES LESS WORK

INTERNATIONAL PULL-POWER HAY PRESS

You can do much more work and work longer when your task is easy. You can bale much more hay in a given time, because you keep your horses fresher, with an INTERNATIONAL PULL-POWER HAY PRESS than with others. We should like to show you just why this is.

You will see first that the step-over is the lowest made. Then, the horses are pulling no load at all while crossing the step-over. The draft is also reduced to a minimum by a sturdy compound leverage principle on the sweep, which makes the load uniform and reasonably light at all times. You will bale many extra bales because of the International power arrangement. The two-horse press is made in three sizes and the one-horse press in one size.

The International Press itself is a marvel of correct design and durable construction. Come in and let us show you why your bales will all weigh the same and will never look ragged; why you will not need to stoop to tie bales; etc., etc.
